INTRODUCTION.

The City has annually since 1821 issued a volume containing, until 1829, a register of the City Council and a list of the officers. In 1829 the City Charter, in 1830 the Acts relating to Boston and the ordinances, and in 1832 an index, were added. The volume for 1822 contains fifteen pages, and for 1840 eighty-five pages, and three pages of index. The volumes up to and including 1840 bear the title of The Rules and Orders of the Common Council and since that year the title of THE MUNICIPAL REGISTER. THE MUNICIPAL REGISTER for 1841 contains the Rules and Orders of the Common Council, joint rules, ordinances of the City, statutes of the Commonwealth relating to the City, a list of the public schools, the City Government of 1841, the committees and departments (consisting at that time of the treasury, law, police, health, public land and buildings, lamps and bridges, fire, and public charitable institutions), and a list of the ward officers; from 1842 to 1864 it also contains a list of the members of preceding City Governments, a necrological record of those members, the latest ordinances and the special statutes relating to the City; in 1851 a list of the annual orators was added, and in 1853 a map of the City and the Rules of the Board of Aldermen were inserted; in 1876 statistics of registration and voting were included, and, since 1879, in tabulated form; in 1883 portraits of the Mayor and presiding officers of the two branches of the City Council were included, and in 1888 a list of the members of the past City Governments of Roxbury and Charlestown was added and continued to 1890. From 1889 to 1896, inclusive, THE MUNICIPAL REGISTER contained a compilation of the Charter and Acts subsequently passed, in the place of which an index of the same appeared in 1897. The Amended Charter of 1909 was added in 1910, while the alphabetical list of Aldermen and Councilmen since 1822 was dropped.

By order of the City Council, April 7, 1919, and under the direction of the Committee on Rules, THE MUNICIPAL REGISTER for 1919 has been compiled and edited by the Statistics Department.

ORIGIN AND GROWTH OF BOSTON.

THE Royal Patent incorporating the Governor and Company of Massachusetts Bay in New England passed the seals March *4, 1628-29. At a General Court, or Meeting of the Company, on August *29 of that year it was voted "that the Government and patent should be settled in New England." To that end Governor Winthrop led the Puritan Exodus in 1630. Soon after his arrival at Salem on June *12, 1630, he proceeded with a large following to Charlestown, where a plantation had been established the summer before. The Assistants held three Courts at Charlestown in the interval, August *23 to September *28, inclusive. At their meeting on September *7, they "ordered that Trimountaine shalbe called Boston; Mattapan, Dorchester; and the towne upon Charles River, Waterton." Thus Shawmut of the Indians was named Boston, probably out of gratitude to the Merchants of Boston in Lincolnshire, who had subscribed generously to the stock of the Company.

In the course of the summer, Governor Winthrop with the patent chose Boston as his abiding place. The first "Court" held in Boston was a "General Court" on October *19, "for establishing of the government." On October *3, 1632, Boston was formally declared to be "the fittest place for publike meetings of any place in the Bay."

Boston was the first town in Massachusetts to become a city. It was incorporated February 23, 1822, by St. 1821, c. 110, adopted March 4, 1822. This act was revised by St. 1854, c. 448, commonly called the City Charter, adopted November 13, 1854.

The neck of land called Boston, still called Boston Proper, contained perhaps 700 acres of land, judging from the 783 acres shown by the official survey of 1794. In the interval 1630-37, Boston acquired jurisdiction over most of the territory now included in Chelsea, Winthrop, Revere, East Boston, Brookline, Quincy, Braintree, Randolph and Holbrook, besides certain islands in the harbor. From 1637 till May 13, 1640, when "Mount Woollaston" was set off as Braintree, Boston exercised jurisdiction over a territory of at least 40,000 acres. Within its present limits there are 30,598 acres, including flats and water.

Since 1640, grants of land have been made to Boston by the General Court as follows: (1) October *16, 1660, 1,000 acres "for the use of a free schoole, layd out in the wilderness or North of the Merimake River" (in Haverhill), in 1664. (2) June *27, 1735, in abatement of Province Tax, three townships, each six miles square, or 69,120 acres in all. These townships later became the Towns of Charlemont, Colrain, and Pittsfield. Boston sold its interest in them on June *30, 1737, for £3,660. (3) June 26, 1794, a township of land in Maine (23,040 acres) "to build a public hospital." This tract was sold by the City April 6, 1833, for $4,200.

Muddy River was set off as the Town of Brookline on November *13, 1705, and Rumney Marsh was set off as the Town of Chelsea January *8, 1739.

The principal annexations of territory included within the present limits of the City of Boston have been made as follows:

(1) Noddle's Island, by order of Court of Assistants, March *9, 1636-37. (2) South Boston set off from Dorchester March 6, 1804, by St. 1803, c. 111. (3) Washington Village set off from Dorchester May 21, 1855, by St. 1855, c. 468. (4) Roxbury January 6, 1868, by St. 1867, c. 359, accepted September 9, 1867. Roxbury received its name by order of the Court of Assistants October *8, 1630. It was incorporated a City March 12, 1846, by St. 1846, c. 95, accepted March 25, 1846. (5) Dorchester January 3, 1870, by St. 1869, c. 349, accepted June 22, 1869. It received its name September *7, 1630, by order of the Court of Assistants. (6) Brighton January 5, 1874, by St. 1873, c. 303, accepted October 7, 1873. Set off from Cambridge as the Town of Brighton February 24, 1807, by St. 1806, c. 65. (7) Charlestown January 5, 1874, by St. 1873, c. 286, accepted October 7, 1873. Settled July *4, 1629. It was incorporated a City February 22, 1847, by St. 1847, c. 29, accepted March 10, 1847. (8) West Roxbury January 5, 1874, by St. 1873, c. 314, accepted October 7, 1873. It was set off from Roxbury and incorporated a Town May 24, 1851, by St. 1851, c. 250. (9) Hyde Park January 1, 1912, by St. 1911, c. 469, and 583, accepted November 7, 1911. Incorporated a Town April 22, 1868.

THE CITY SEAL

As it appeared prior to 1827.

The City Seal was adopted by "An Ordinance to Establish the City Seal," passed January 2, 1823, which provides "That the design hereto annexed, as sketched by John R. Penniman, giving a view of the City, be the device of the City Seal; that the motto be as follows, to wit: 'Sicut patribus sit Deus nobis'; and that the inscription be as follows:—'Bostonia condita, A.D. 1630. Civitatis regimine donata, A.D. 1822.'" The motto is taken from 1 Kings, viii., 57, i. e. "God be with us as He was with our fathers."

The seal as it then appeared is shown above.

The seal as it was afterwards changed, and has ever since continued to be used, first appeared on page 221 of the volume of laws and ordinances, commonly known as the "First Revision," published in 1827, and is continued as the City Seal at the present time by Revised Ordinances of 1914, Chapter 1, Section 5, which provides that "The seal of the City shall be circular in form; shall bear a view of the City; the motto 'SICUT PATRIBUS SIT DEUS NOBIS,' and the inscription, 'BOSTONIA CONDITA, A.D. 1630. CIVITATIS REGIMINE DONATA, A.D. 1822,' as herewith set forth."

The seal as changed in 1827, and as it has ever since appeared, is shown on the second page.

RULES OF THE CITY COUNCIL.*

DAY OF MEETING.

RULE 1. Unless otherwise ordered from time to time the regular meeting of the city council shall be held on every Monday at two o'clock p. m. Special meetings may be called by the president at his discretion, and by the city clerk for the purpose only of drawing jurors.

PRESIDENT.

RULE 2. The president of the council shall take the chair at the hour to which the council shall have adjourned and shall call the members to order, and, a quorum being present, shall proceed with the regular order of business. In the absence of the president the senior member by age present shall preside as temporary president or until a presiding officer is chosen.

RULE 3. The president shall preserve decorum and order, may speak to points of order in preference to other members, and shall decide all questions of order, subject to an appeal. Any member may appeal from the decision of the chair, and, when properly seconded, no other business, except a motion to adjourn or to lay on the table, shall be in order until the question on appeal has been decided. The question shall be put as follows:

"Shall the decision of the chair stand as the judgment of the council?" The vote shall be by a roll call, and it shall be decided in the affirmative unless a majority of the votes are to the contrary.

RULE 4. The president shall propound all motions in the order in which they are moved, unless the subsequent motion shall be previous in its nature, except that, in naming sums and fixing times, the largest sum and the longest time shall be put first.

RULE 5. The president shall, at the request of any member, make a division of a question when the sense will admit.

RULE 6. The president shall, without debate, decide all questions relating to priority of business to be acted upon.

RULE 7. The president shall declare all votes; but if any member doubts a vote, the president shall cause a rising vote to be taken, and, when any member so requests, shall cause the vote to be taken or verified by yeas and nays.

RULE 8. The president shall appoint all committees, fill all vacancies therein, and designate the rank of the members thereof.

* At the first meeting of the City Council on February 3, 1919, the rules of the City Council of 1918 were adopted as the rules of the City Council of 1919.

RULE 9. When the president of the council or the president pro tempore shall desire to vacate the chair he may call any member to it; but such substitution shall not continue beyond an adjournment.

MOTIONS.

RULE 10. Every motion shall be reduced to writing if the president shall so direct.

RULE 11. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible; but a motion to strike out being lost shall not preclude amendment, or a motion to strike out and insert.

RULE 12. No motion or proposition of a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment.

RULE 13. When an order or resolution relates to a subject which may properly be examined and reported upon by an existing committee of the city council, such order or resolution shall, upon presentation, be referred to such committee. When a motion is made to refer any subject, and different committees are proposed, the motion shall be put in the following order:

1. To a standing committee of the council.
2. To a special committee of the council.

Any member offering a motion, order or resolution, which is referred to a committee, shall be given a hearing on the same by the committee before a report is made thereon, provided he so requests at the time of offering the order or before final action by the committee.

RULE 14. After a motion has been put by the president it shall not be withdrawn except by unanimous consent.

RULE 15. When a question is under debate the following motions only shall be entertained, and shall have precedence in the order in which they stand arranged:

1. To adjourn.
2. To lay on the table.
3. The previous question.
4. To close debate at a specified time.
5. To postpone to a day certain.
6. To commit.
7. To amend.
8. To postpone indefinitely.

RULE 16. A motion to adjourn shall be in order at any time, except on an immediate repetition, or pending a verification of a vote; and that motion, the motion to lay on the table, the motion to take from the table, and the motion for the previous question, shall be decided without debate.

READINGS.

RULE 17. Every ordinance, order and resolution shall, unless rejected, have two several readings, both of which may take place at the same session, unless objection is made; provided, however, that all orders for the expenditure of money presented to, or reported upon by a committee of, the council, shall lie over for one week before final action thereon. Whenever the second reading immediately follows the first reading, the document may be read by its title only; provided, that all orders releasing rights or easements in or restrictions on land, all orders for the sale of land other than school lands, all appropriations for the purchase of land other than for school purposes, and all loans voted by the city council shall require a vote of two-thirds of all the members of the city council, and shall be passed only after two separate readings and by two separate votes, the second of said readings and votes to be had not less than fourteen days after the first.

RECONSIDERATION.

RULE 18. When a vote has been passed, any member may move a reconsideration thereof at the same meeting, or he may give notice to the clerk, within twenty-four hours of the adjournment of any meeting except the final meeting, of his intention to move a reconsideration at the next regular meeting; in which case the clerk shall retain possession of the papers until the next regular meeting. No member shall speak for more than ten minutes on a motion to reconsider.

RULE 19. When a motion to reconsider has been decided, that decision shall not be reconsidered, and no question shall be twice reconsidered unless it has been amended after the reconsideration; nor shall any reconsideration be had upon the following motions:

To adjourn.

The previous question.

To lay on the table.

To take from the table.

To close debate at a specified time.

A motion to reconsider may be laid on the table or postponed indefinitely, and the effect of such action in either case shall be to defeat the motion to reconsider.

CONDUCT OF MEMBERS.

RULE 20. Every member when about to speak shall rise, address the chair, and wait until he is recognized, and in speaking shall refrain from mentioning any other member by name, shall confine himself to the question and avoid personalities. Any member who, in debate or otherwise, indulges in personalities or makes charges reflecting upon the character of another member shall make an apology in open session at the meeting when the offence is committed or at the next succeeding regular meeting, and, failing to do so, shall be named by the president, or held in contempt and suspended from further participation in debate until said apology is made.

RULE 21. No member shall speak more than once on a question when another member who has not spoken claims the floor, and no member speaking shall, without his consent, be interrupted by another, except upon a point of order.

RULE 22. No member shall be permitted to vote on any question, or serve on any committee, where his private right is immediately concerned, distinct from the public interest.

RULE 23. Every member who shall be present when a question is put, where he is not excluded by interest, shall give his vote, unless the council for special reason shall excuse him. Application to be so excused on any question must be made before the council is divided, or before the calling of the yeas and nays; and such application shall be accompanied by a brief statement of the reasons, and shall be decided without debate.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

RULE 24. The following standing committees of the council, and all other committees, unless specially directed by the council, shall be appointed by the president:

city council, and shall not, unless directed so to do by the city council oppose any legislation petitioned for by the preceding city council.

AMENDED CITY CHARTER OF 1909.

THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL.

SECTION 1. The terms of office of the mayor and the members of both branches of the present city council of the city of Boston and of the street commissioner whose term would expire on the first Monday of January, nineteen hundred and ten, are hereby extended to ten o'clock A.M. on the first Monday of February, nineteen hundred and ten, and at that time the said city council and both branches thereof and the positions of city messenger, clerk of the common council, clerk of committees, assistant clerk of committees, and their subordinates shall be abolished. The officials whose terms of office are hereby extended shall, for the extended term, receive a compensation equal to one-twelfth of the annual salaries now paid to them respectively. The mayor and city council elected in accordance with the provisions of this act, and their successors, shall thereafter have all the powers and privileges conferred, and be subject to all the duties and obligations imposed by law upon the city council or the board of aldermen, acting as such or as county commissioners or in any capacity, except as herein otherwise provided. Wherever in this act the phrase "mayor and city council" appears, it shall be understood as meaning the mayor and city council acting on and after the first Monday of February, nineteen hundred and ten, under the provisions of this and the three following sections. The city council may, subject to the approval of the mayor, from time to time establish such offices, other than that of city clerk, as it may deem necessary for the conduct of its affairs and at such salaries as it may determine, and abolish such offices or alter such salaries; and without such approval may fill the offices thus established and remove the incumbents at pleasure.

SECT. 2. The mayor from time to time may make to the city council in the form of an ordinance or loan order filed with the city clerk such recommendations other than for school purposes as he may deem to be for the welfare of the city. The city council shall consider each ordinance or loan order presented by the mayor and shall either adopt or reject the same within sixty days after the date when it is filed as aforesaid. If the said ordinance or loan order is not rejected within said sixty days it shall be in force as if adopted by the city council unless previously withdrawn by the mayor. Nothing herein shall prevent the mayor from again presenting an ordinance or loan order which has been rejected or withdrawn. The city council may originate an ordinance or loan order and may reduce or reject any item in any loan and, subject to the approval of the mayor, may amend an ordinance. All sales of land other than school lands, all appropriations for the purchase of land other than for school purposes, and all loans voted by the city council shall require a vote of two thirds of all the members of the city council; and shall be passed only after two separate readings and by two separate votes, the second of said readings and votes to be had not less than fourteen days after the first. No amendment increasing the amount of land to be sold or the amount to be paid for the purchase of land, or the amount of loans, or altering the disposition of purchase money or of the proceeds of loans shall be made at the time of the second reading and vote.

NOTE.—The Amended City Charter is contained in Chap. 486, Acts of 1909, consisting of sixty-three sections. We have omitted §§ 35 to 44, inclusive, as these concern the alternative amendments which became inoperative on the adoption of Plan 2 by the voters at the State election, November 2, 1909.

SECT. 3. All appropriations, other than for school purposes, to be met from taxes, revenue, or any source other than loans shall originate with the mayor, who within thirty days after the beginning of the fiscal year shall submit to the city council the annual budget of the current expenses of the city and county, and may submit thereafter supplementary budgets until such time as the tax rate for the year shall have been fixed. The city council may reduce or reject any item, but without the approval of the mayor shall not increase any item in, nor the total of a budget, nor add any item thereto, nor shall it originate a budget. It shall be the duty of the city and county officials, when requested by the mayor, to submit forthwith in such detail as he may require estimates for the next fiscal year of the expenditures of the department or office under their charge, which estimates shall be transmitted to the city council.

The city auditor may, with the approval in each instance of the mayor, at any time make transfers from the appropriation for current expenses of one division of a department to the appropriation for current expenses of any other division of the same department, and from the reserve fund to any appropriation for the current expenses of a department; and may also, with the approval of the mayor, at any time between December first and February first, make transfers from any appropriation to any other appropriation: provided, however, that no money raised by loan shall be transferred to any appropriation from income or taxes. He may also with such approval apply any of the income and taxes not disposed of in closing the accounts for the financial year in such manner as he may determine.

SECT. 4. Every appropriation, ordinance, order, resolution and vote of the city council, except votes relating to its own internal affairs, shall be presented to the mayor, who shall make or cause to be made a written record of the time and place of presentation, and it shall be in force if he approves the same within fifteen days after it shall have been presented to him, or if the same is not returned by him with his objections thereto in writing within said period of fifteen days. If within said period said appropriation, ordinance, order, resolution, or vote is returned by the mayor to the city council by filing the same with the city clerk with his objections thereto the same shall be void. If the same involves the expenditure of money, the mayor may approve some of the items in whole or in part and disapprove other of the items in whole or in part; and such items or parts of items as he approves shall be in force, and such items or parts of items as he disapproves shall be void.

SECT. 5. Except as otherwise provided in this act, the organization, powers, and duties of the executive departments of the city shall remain as constituted at the time when this section takes effect; but the mayor and city council at any time may by ordinance reorganize, consolidate, or abolish departments in whole or in part; transfer the duties, powers, and appropriations of one department to another in whole or in part; and establish new departments; and may increase, reduce, establish or abolish salaries of heads of departments, or members of boards. Nothing in this act shall authorize the abolition or the taking away of any of the powers or duties as established by law of the assessing department, building department, board of appeal, children's institutions department, election department, fire department, Franklin Foundation, hospital department, library department, overseers of the poor, schoolhouse department, school committee, or any department in charge of an official or officials appointed by the governor, nor the abolition of the health department.

SECT. 6. No contract for lighting the public streets, parks, or alleys, or for the collection, removal, or disposal of refuse, extending over a period of more than one year from the date thereof, shall be valid without the approval of the mayor and the city council after a public hearing held by the city council, of which at least seven days' notice shall have been given in the City Record.

SECT. 7. The city council at any time may request from the mayor specific information on any municipal matter within its jurisdiction, and may request his presence to answer written questions relating thereto at a meeting to be held not earlier than one week from the date of the receipt of said questions, in which case the mayor shall personally, or through a head of a department or a member of a board, attend such meeting and publicly answer all such questions. The person so attending shall not be obliged to answer questions relating to any other matter. The mayor at any time may attend and address the city council in person or through the head of a department, or a member of a board, upon such subject as he may desire.

SECT. 8. Neither the city council, nor any member or committee, officer, or employee thereof shall, except as otherwise provided in this act, directly or indirectly on behalf of the city or of the county of Suffolk take part in the employment of labor, the making of contracts, the purchase of materials, supplies or real estate; nor in the construction, alteration, or repair of any public works, buildings, or other property; nor in the care, custody, and management of the same; nor in the conduct of the executive or administrative business of the city or county; nor in the appointment or removal of any municipal or county employee; nor in the expenditure of public money except such as may be necessary for the contingent and incidental expenses of the city council. The provisions of this section shall not affect the powers or duties of the city council as the successor of the present board of aldermen relative to state or military aid and soldiers' relief.

It shall be unlawful for the mayor or for a member of the city council or for any officer or employee of the city or of the county of Suffolk or for a member of the finance commission directly or indirectly to make a contract with the city or with the county of Suffolk, or to receive any commission, discount, bonus, gift, contribution or reward from or any share in the profits of any person or corporation making or performing such contract, unless such mayor, member of the city council, officer, or employee or member of the finance commission immediately upon learning of the existence of such contract or that such contract is proposed, shall notify in writing the mayor, city council, and finance commission of such contract and of the nature of his interest in such contract and shall abstain from doing any official act on behalf of the city in reference thereto. In case of such interest on the part of an officer whose duty it is to make such contract on behalf of the city, the contract may be made by any other officer of the city duly authorized thereto by the mayor, or if the mayor has such interest by the city clerk: provided, however, that when a contractor with the city or county is a corporation or voluntary association, the ownership of less than five per cent of the stock or shares actually issued shall not be considered as being an interest in the contract within the meaning of this act, and such ownership shall not affect the validity of the contract, unless the owner of such stock or shares is also an officer or agent of the corporation or association, or solicits or takes part in the making of the contract.

A violation of any provision of this section shall render the contract in respect to which such violation occurs voidable at the option of the city or county. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both. Chapter five hundred and twenty-two of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and eight is hereby repealed.

THE EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECT. 9. All heads of departments and members of municipal boards, including the board of street commissioners, as their present terms of office expire (but excluding the school committee and those officials by law appointed by the governor), shall be appointed by the mayor without confirmation by the city council. They shall be recognized experts in such work as may devolve upon the incumbents of said offices, or persons specially fitted by education, training or experience to perform the same, and (except the election commissioners, who shall remain subject to the provisions of existing laws) shall be appointed without regard to party affiliation or to residence at the time of appointment except as hereinafter provided.

SECT. 10. In making such appointments the mayor shall sign a certificate in the following form:

CERTIFICATE OF APPOINTMENT.

I appoint (Name of Appointee) to the position of (Name of Office) and I certify that in my opinion he is a recognized expert in the work which will devolve upon him, and that I make the appointment solely in the interest of the city. Mayor.

Or in the following form, as the case may be:

CERTIFICATE OF APPOINTMENT.

I appoint (Name of Appointee) to the position of (Name of Office) and I certify that in my opinion he is a person specially fitted by education, training, or experience to perform the duties of said office, and that I make the appointment solely in the interest of the city. Mayor.

The certificate shall be filed with the city clerk, who shall thereupon forward a certified copy to the civil service commission. The commission shall immediately make a careful inquiry into the qualifications of the nominee under such rules as they may, with the consent of the governor and council, establish, and, if they conclude that he is a competent person with the requisite qualifications, they shall file with the city clerk a certificate signed by at least a majority of the commission that they have made a careful inquiry into the qualifications of the appointee, and that in their opinion he is a recognized expert, or that he is qualified by education, training or experience for said office, as the case may be, and that they approve the appointment. Upon the filing of this certificate the appointment shall become operative, subject however to all provisions of law or ordinance in regard to acceptance of office, oath of office, and the filing of bonds. If the commission does not within thirty days after the receipt of such notice file said certificate with the city clerk the appointment shall be void.

SECT. 11. The civil service commission is authorized to incur in carrying out the foregoing provisions such reasonable expense as may be approved by the governor and council; the same to be paid by the commonwealth, which upon demand shall be reimbursed by the city of Boston.

SECT. 12. A vacancy in any office to which the provisions of section nine of this act apply, shall be filled by the mayor under the provisions of said section and pending a permanent appointment he shall designate some other head of a department or member of a board to discharge the duties of the office temporarily.

SECT. 13. Members of boards shall be appointed for the terms established by law or by ordinance. Heads of departments shall be appointed for terms of four years beginning with the first day of May of the year in which they are appointed and shall continue thereafter to hold office during the pleasure of the mayor.

SECT. 14. The mayor may remove any head of a department or member of a board (other than the election commissioners, who shall remain subject to the provisions of existing laws) by filing a written statement with the city clerk setting forth in detail the specific reasons for such removal, a copy of which shall be delivered or mailed to the person thus removed, who may make a reply in writing, which, if he desires, may be filed with the city clerk; but such reply shall not affect the action taken unless the mayor so determines. The provisions of this section shall not apply to the school committee or to any official by law appointed by the governor.

SECT. 15. The positions of assistants and secretary authorized by section twenty of chapter four hundred and forty-nine of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and ninety-five except those in the election department are hereby abolished, and except as aforesaid the said section is hereby repealed.

The civil service laws shall not apply to the appointment of the mayor's secretaries, nor of the stenographers, clerks, telephone operators and messengers connected with his office, and the mayor may remove such appointees without a hearing and without making a statement of the cause for their removal.

SECT. 16. No official of said city, except in case of extreme emergency involving the health or safety of the people or their property, shall expend intentionally in any fiscal year any sum in excess of the appropriations duly made in accordance with law, nor involve the city in any contract for the future payment of money in excess of such appropriation, except as provided in section six of this act. Any official who shall violate the provisions of this section shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or both.

THE FINANCE COMMISSION.

SECT. 17. Within sixty days after the passage of this act the governor with the advice and consent of the council shall appoint a finance commission to consist of five persons, inhabitants of and qualified voters in the city of Boston, who shall have been such for at least three years prior to the date of their appointment, one for the term of five years, one for four years, one for three years, one for two years, and one for one year, and thereafter as the terms of office expire in each year one member for a term of five years. Vacancies in the commission shall be filled for the unexpired term by the governor with the advice and consent of the council. The members of said commission may be removed by the governor with the advice and consent of the council for such cause as he shall deem sufficient. The chairman shall be designated by the governor. His annual salary shall be five thousand dollars, which shall be paid in monthly instalments by the city of Boston. The other members shall serve without pay.

SECT. 18. It shall be the duty of the finance commission from time to time to investigate any and all matters relating to appropriations, loans, expenditures, accounts, and methods of administration affecting the city of Boston or the county of Suffolk, or any department thereof, that may appear to the commission to require investigation, and to report thereon from time to time to the mayor, the city council, the governor, or the general court. The commission shall make an annual report in January of each year to the general court.

SECT. 19. Whenever any pay roll, bill, or other claim against the city is presented to the mayor, city auditor, or the city treasurer, he shall, if the same seems to him to be of doubtful validity, excessive in amount, or otherwise contrary to the city's interest, refer it to the finance commission, which shall immediately investigate the facts and report thereon; and pending said report payment shall be withheld.

SECT. 20. The said commission is authorized to employ such experts, counsel, and other assistants, and to incur such other expenses as it may deem necessary, and the same shall be paid by said city upon requisition by the commission, not exceeding in the aggregate in any year the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, or such additional sums as may be appropriated for the purpose by the city council, and approved by the mayor. A sum sufficient to cover the salary of the chairman of the commission and the further sum of at least twenty-five thousand dollars to meet the expenses as aforesaid shall be appropriated each year by said city. The commission shall have the same right to incur expenses in anticipation of its appropriation as if it were a regular department of said city.

SECT. 21. For the purpose of enabling the said commission to perform the duties and carry out the objects herein contemplated, and to enable the mayor, the city council, the governor or the general court to receive the reports and findings of said commission as a basis for such laws, ordinances, or administrative orders as may be deemed meet, the commission shall have all the powers and duties enumerated in chapter five hundred and sixty-two of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and eight and therein conferred upon the commission designated in said act; but counsel for any witness at any public hearing may ask him any pertinent question and may offer pertinent evidence through other witnesses subject to cross-examination by the commission and its counsel.

THE CITY CLERK.

SECT. 22. The present city clerk shall hold office for the term for which he has been elected, and thereafter until his successor is chosen and qualified. In the year nineteen hundred and eleven, and every third year thereafter, a city clerk shall be elected by a majority of the members of the city council, to hold office until the first Monday in February in the third year following his election, and thereafter until his successor has been duly chosen and qualified, unless sooner removed by due process of law. The city clerk shall act as clerk of the city council established by this act.

THE CITY AUDITOR.

SECT. 23. All accounts rendered to or kept in the departments of the city of Boston or county of Suffolk shall be subject to the inspection and revision of the city auditor, and shall be rendered and kept in such form as he shall prescribe. The auditor may require any person presenting for settlement an account or claim against the city or county to make oath before him in such form as he may prescribe as to the accuracy of such account or claim. The wilful making of a false oath shall be perjury and punishable as such. The auditor may disallow and refuse to pay, in whole or in part, any claim on the ground that it is fraudulent or unlawful and in that case he shall file a written statement of his reasons for the refusal.

SECT. 24. Whenever, in response to an advertisement by any officer or board of the city or county, a bid for a contract to do work or furnish materials is sent or delivered to said officer or board, a duplicate of the same shall be furnished by the bidder to the auditor, to be kept by him and not opened until after the original bids are opened. After the original bids are opened, the auditor shall open and examine the bids submitted to him, and shall compare the same with the original bids. In case any of the bids submitted to the auditor differ from the corresponding original bids, those submitted to the auditor shall be treated as the original bids. The contract shall not be awarded until after both sets of bids are opened.

SECT. 25. The auditor shall furnish monthly to each head of department a statement of the unexpended balance of the appropriation for that department, and he shall furnish to the mayor and city council a statement of the unexpended balances of all the departments. He shall furnish quarterly to the city council an itemized statement showing the amount of money expended by the mayor and the city council for contingent expenses.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

No sinking fund shall be established for said loan. All bonds shall be offered for sale in such a manner that the effect of the premiums, if any, shall be to reduce the total amount of bonds issued. No city or county money shall be deposited in any bank or trust company of which any member of the board of sinking fund commissioners of said city is an officer, director, or agent.

* Sect. 26 amended by Chap. 437, Acts of 1910, which exempts all loans issued for rapid transit construction from the prohibition as to sinking funds.

SECT. 27. Every officer and board in charge of a department of the city of Boston or county of Suffolk shall on or before the fifth day of May in each year prepare and furnish to the city auditor a list of the officials and employees under said officer or board and paid by the city or county on the thirtieth day of April preceeding. Such lists shall give the names, residence by street and ward, designation, compensation, and date of election or appointment of each of said officials and employees and the date when each first entered the employ of the city or county. It shall be the duty of the city auditor to verify said lists by the pay rolls; and when verified the said lists shall be printed by the superintendent of printing as a city document.

SECT. 28. The jurisdiction now exercised by the board of aldermen concerning the naming of streets, the planting and removal of trees in the public ways, the issue of permits or licenses for coasting, the storage of gasoline, oil, and other inflammable substances or explosive compounds and the use of the public ways for any permanent or temporary obstruction or projection in, under, or over the same, including the location of conduits, poles, and posts for telephone, telegraph, street railway, or illuminating purposes, is hereby vested in the board of street commissioners, to be exercised by said board with the approval in writing of the mayor; and the mayor and city council shall have authority to fix by ordinance the terms by way of cash payment, rent, or otherwise, upon which permits or licenses for the storage of gasoline or oil, or other inflammable substances or explosive compounds, and the construction or use of coal holes, vaults, bay windows, and marquises, in, under, or over the public ways shall be issued.

The proceedings of the city council and school committee together with all communications from the mayor, shall be published in the City Record.

SECT. 30. Every officer or board in charge of a department in said city, when authorized to erect a new building or to make structural changes in an existing building, shall make contracts therefor, not exceeding five, each contract to be subject to the approval of the mayor; and when about to do any work or to make any purchase, the estimated cost of which alone, or in conjunction with other similar work or purchase which might properly be included in the same contract, amounts to or exceeds one thousand dollars, shall, unless the mayor gives written authority to do otherwise, invite proposals therefor by advertisement in the City Record. Such advertisement shall state the time and place for opening the proposals in answer to said advertisement, and shall reserve the right to the officer or board to reject any or all proposals. No authority to dispense with advertising shall be given by the mayor unless the said officer or board furnishes him with a signed statement which shall be published in the City Record giving in detail the reasons for not inviting bids by advertisement.

SECT. 31. At the request of any department, and with the approval of the mayor the board of street commissioners, in the name of the city, may take in fee for any municipal purpose any land within the limits of the city, not already appropriated to public use. Whenever the price proposed to be paid for a lot of land for any municipal purpose is more than twenty-five per cent higher than its average assessed valuation during the previous three years, said land shall not be taken by purchase but shall be taken by right of eminent domain and paid for in the manner provided for the taking of and the payment of damages for land for highways in said city. No land shall be taken until an appropriation by loan or otherwise for the general purpose for which land is needed shall have been made by the mayor and city council by a two thirds vote of all its members; or in case of land for school purposes by the school committee and schoolhouse department in accordance with law; nor shall a price be paid in excess of the appropriation, unless a larger sum is awarded by a court of competent jurisdiction. All proceedings in the taking of land shall be under the advice of the law department, and a record thereof shall be kept by said department.

SECT. 32.* The first municipal election under this act shall take place on the first Tuesday after the second Monday in January in the year nineteen hundred and ten, and thereafter the regular municipal elections in each year in said city shall be held on the first Tuesday after the second Monday in January.

If a majority of the qualified voters registered in said city for said state election shall vote in the affirmative on said question, there shall be an election for mayor in said city at the municipal election held in January† next following said state election, and the same shall be conducted, and the result thereof declared in all respects as are other city elections for mayor, except that the board of election commissioners shall place on the official ballot for said election without nomination the name of the person then holding the office of mayor (other than an acting mayor), unless in writing he shall request otherwise. The mayor then elected shall hold office for four years, subject to recall at the end of two years as provided in this section. If said question is not answered in the affirmative by the vote aforesaid no election for mayor shall be held and the mayor shall continue to hold office for his unexpired term. If prior to October first in the said second year of his term the mayor shall file with the secretary of the commonwealth a written notice that he does not desire said question to appear upon the ballot at said state election it shall be omitted; his term of office shall expire on the first Monday of February following; and there shall be an election for mayor in said city at the municipal election held in January† next following said state election, and at such municipal election the mayor's name shall not be placed on the official ballot unless he is nominated in the manner provided in section fifty-three of this act.

SECT. 47. vacancy in the office from any cause, the president of the city council while said cause continues or until a mayor is elected shall perform the duties of mayor. If he is also absent or unable from any cause to perform such duties they shall be performed until the mayor or president of the city council returns or is able to attend to said duties by such member of the city council as that body may elect, and until such election by the city clerk. The person upon whom such duties shall devolve shall be called "acting mayor" and he shall possess the powers of mayor only in matters not admitting of delay, but shall have no power to make permanent appointments except on the decease of the mayor.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

SECT. 48. There shall be elected at large in said city a city council consisting of nine members. At the first election under this act there shall be elected nine members of said city council. No voter shall vote for more than nine. The three candidates receiving the largest number of votes at said election shall hold office for three years, the three receiving the next largest number of votes shall hold office for two years, the three receiving the next largest number of votes shall hold office for one year. In case two or more persons elected should receive an equal number of votes those who are the seniors by age shall for the division into classes hereby required be classified as if they had received the larger number of votes in the order of ages. Thereafter at each annual municipal election there shall be chosen at large three members of the city council to hold office for a term of three years. No voter shall vote for more than three. All said terms shall begin with the first Monday of February following the election.

SECT. 49. Each member of the city council shall be paid an annual salary of fifteen hundred dollars; and no other sum shall be paid from the city treasury for or on account of any personal expenses directly or indirectly incurred by or in behalf of any member of said council.

SECT. 50. The city council shall be the judge of the election and qualifications of its members; shall elect from its members by vote of a majority of all the members a president who when present shall preside at the meetings thereof; shall from time to time establish rules for its proceedings, and shall, when a vacancy occurs in the office of any member, elect by vote of a majority of all the members a registered voter of said city to fill the vacancy for the remainder of the municipal year. The vacancy for the remainder of the unexpired term shall be filled at the next annual municipal election, unless the vacancy occurs within two months prior to such municipal election, in which event the city council shall forthwith order a special election to fill the vacancy for the unexpired term. The member eldest in years shall preside until the president is chosen, and in case of the absence of the president, until a presiding officer is chosen.

SECT. 51. All elections by the city council under any provision of law shall be made by a viva voce vote, each member who is present answering to his name when it is called by the clerk or other proper officer, and stating the name of the person for whom he votes, or declining to vote as the case may be; and the clerk or other proper officer shall record every such vote. No such election shall be valid unless it is made as aforesaid.

SECT. 52. No primary election or caucus for municipal offices shall be held hereafter in the city of Boston, and all laws relating to primary elections and caucuses for such offices in said city are hereby repealed.

By Chap. 1, Ord. 1914, 2d Series, the department was placed in charge of one executive, the Health Commissioner, the latter to appoint the deputy commissioners. The Trustees of the Public Library of the City of Boston, who are five in number, are appointed by the Mayor, one each year, for a term of five years. They were incorporated by an act of the General Court passed April 4, 1878, and were authorized to receive and hold real and personal estate which may be given, granted, bequeathed or devised to the said corporation, to an amount not exceeding $1,000,000. This amount was changed to $10,000,000 by Chap. 116, Special Acts of 1919. The first Trustees were appointed under an ordinance of October 14, 1852. The old Library Building on Boylston street was opened to the public in September, 1858, and closed finally in January, 1895. The Central Library Building on Copley square was first opened on March 11, 1895. The Library is maintained by an annual appropriation voted out of the general funds of the City by the City Council. About $35,062 of this appropriation was used in 1918 for the purchase of books and periodicals. The 40 Library trust funds in the custody of the City Treasurer amounted to $572,732 on February 1, 1919, the annual interest on these being used for the purchase of books.

The annual reports, the first of which appeared in 1852, have been continued without interruption.

Of the Quarterly Bulletins begun in 1867, fourteen volumes have been published. The series closed in 1896.

A Quarterly Bulletin of a new series is now issued, and a weekly list of new books added to the Library. The Trustees have issued also general and special catalogues of the Central Library, and of its branches and special collections, as well as hand-books for readers, and other documents.

LIBRARY SYSTEM.

The Library system consists of the Central Library in Copley square; fourteen branch libraries with independent collections of books; sixteen reading-room stations (minor branches), all of which contain deposits of books from the Central Library, reference books and periodicals. There were, on February 1, 1919, in the Central Library, branch libraries and reading-rooms, about 540 employees.

Between the Central Library and these thirty stations, by library wagons, there is a daily exchange of books and cards, whereby persons living in outlying districts can draw books from the Central Library without the necessity of coming in person.

The delivery or deposit of books is also undertaken in one hundred and eighty-five public and parochial schools, thirty-two institutions and fifty-nine fire-company houses.

Cards allowing the use of four books for two weeks are issued to all residents of Boston with no further attendant delay than is involved in identification. No guaranty is asked except in case of a sojourner. Such cards are also issued to non-resident pupils attending Boston schools who furnish guaranties. For reading and reference the Library is open to all without formality. Special cards for more extended privileges are issued to clergymen officiating in the City, and to teachers giving instruction in Boston institutions of learning; a special card is also issued in certain cases by the Trustees. On February 1, 1919, there were 94,677 card-holders having the right to draw books for home use. The total number of volumes was 1,173,695, and of different newspapers and periodicals currently received at the Central Library and branches about 2,200. Books issued in 1918, for home use and for use through schools and institutions, numbered 2,028,053. Of reference use, on account of the freedom with which books may be consulted, no adequate statistics are kept.

The room for younger readers has about 10,000 volumes on open shelves for reading and circulation. A Teachers' Reference Room is maintained, with a pedagogical reference collection and files of current periodicals on educational subjects. Reference books are reserved for use in connection with University Extension courses. MARKET DEPARTMENT.

Office in Rotunda of Faneuil Hall Market.

[Rev. Ord. 1898, Chap. 1, § 4, tenth to twelfth; Chap. 25 and Chap. 47, §§ 60-65; Stat. 1895, Chap. 449, § 26.]

PATRICK J. MCGOURTHY, Superintendent of Markets. Salary, $3,000. Term ends in 1922.

PETER J. CONNOLLY, Clerk and Deputy Superintendent. Salary, $1,700.

Faneuil Hall Market, proposed in Mayor Quincy's message of July 31, 1823, and completed in 1826, was under the charge of a Clerk of the Market until an ordinance of September 9, 1852, established the office of Superintendent. According to the Revised Ordinances of 1898, Chap. 1, § 4, tenth, Faneuil Hall Market includes the lower floor, porches and cellar of the buildings called respectively Faneuil Hall and Quincy Market. The Superintendent has charge and control of these two buildings. He may assign stands within their limits; and it is his duty, from time to time, to lease the stalls in the market for five years at rents not less than those established by the City Council. The market police are appointed by the Police Commissioner and under his control.

As a municipal enterprise the Quincy Market has been steadily profitable, yielding a total net income in rentals, etc., of about $4,500,000 in the past 70 years. Faneuil Hall Market yields $15,000 to $16,000 net yearly income, or about one-sixth that of Quincy Market. The Overseers of the Poor in the Town of Boston, a corporation established in 1772 by act of the Legislature, were succeeded in 1864 by the corporation called "Overseers of the Poor in the City of Boston," consisting of twelve residents of Boston, four of whom are appointed annually to serve for the term of three years from the first day of May. The Board has issued annual reports since 1865.

The Overseers of the Poor are also incorporated as a Board of Trustees of John Boylston's and other charitable funds, left for the assistance of persons of good character and advanced age, "who have been reduced by misfortune to indigence and want."

In charge of the Overseers are the Wayfarers' Lodge on Hawkins street, opened in 1878, which gives free lodging to homeless men who are out of employment, but exacts work in its woodyard for meals furnished; and the Temporary Home on Chardon street for destitute women and children, opened in 1870. In the year ending January 31, 1919, the number of cases of aid given was 37,718, including 15,148 men in Wayfarers' Lodge, 3,704 women and 1,622 children in Temporary Home and 17,244, representing 4,311 families, aided in their own homes by money, provisions, etc., of which 1,692 families were in the class provided for by Chapter 763, Acts of 1913, i. e., mothers with dependent children under fourteen years of age. Payments to this class amounted to $480,601, of which 33.1 per cent was reimbursed by the State and by other municipalities for their proportional part, according to the legal settlement of the mother. The total amount of the seventeen permanent charity funds in the custody of the Overseers on February 1, 1919, was $893,757.

This act was accepted by a vote of the citizens on June 9, 1875; yeas, 3,706, nays, 2,311. The first Board of Park Commissioners was appointed on July 8, 1875, and confirmed on July 15, 1875. The Board consisted of three members who served without compensation. As thus constituted, the department continued up to 1913, when, by the provisions of Chapter 10, Ordinances of 1912, which went into effect in March, 1913, it was merged with the Public Grounds, Bath and Music Departments, under the name of Park and Recreation Department. The chairman of the new Board of Commissioners is a salaried official and is required to devote his entire time to the work, likewise the Deputy Commissioner.

FOUNTAINS BELONGING TO CITY, LOCATED ON PUBLIC GROUNDS.

Brewer Fountain, Boston Common; Copenhagen Memorial Fountain, Edward Everett Square; Johnson Memorial Fountain and Gateway, entrance to Back Bay Park, Westland Avenue; "Maid of the Mist" and three other fountains, Public Garden; one fountain each on Blackstone, Franklin, Central, Independence and Sullivan Squares, Meeting House Hill, Thomas Park, Madison Park, Union Park and Massachusetts Avenue; Lyman Fountain, Eaton Square; Taft Memorial Fountain, Chestnut Hill Park.

Since the City's park development began, in 1877, the total expenditure, to the close of 1918, for parks, parkways and playgrounds (exclusive of the annual maintenance appropriation) is $22,642,485, or $9,654,998 for the land and $12,987,487 for construction.

The Arnold Arboretum (the "tree museum" of Harvard University), containing originally 122.6 acres, was added with other lands, in 1882, to the City's park system, under a special contract with Harvard University, and in 1895 another tract of 75 acres (Peters' Hill), also belonging to the University, was included, the name Bussey Park being added to the title. All the land in these tracts not required for driveways and walks, a quarry reservation and traffic road is used, under the trusts created by the wills of Benjamin Bussey and James Arnold, for Harvard's extensive collection of specimens of such trees and shrubs as will live in this climate. The City maintains the roads and walks, also attends to policing the grounds. The Arboretum is open to visitors daily from 7 A. M. until sunset.

The new Franklin Park Zoological Garden on the northern side of the park, begun in 1911, now occupies about eighty acres. Up to February 1, 1918, the amount expended for construction, etc., was $329,485. In the summer of 1912, the group of bear dens, the aquatic flying cage, etc., were finished and put on exhibition, in 1913 the bird house with other attractions, and in 1914 the elephant house, were added. The latest improvement is the "Greeting" or main entrance and concourse leading from Blue Hill avenue, with massive stone gateway, ornamental fence, etc., completing the original artistic design. The new Marine Park Aquarium, costing $144,530 for construction, etc., was opened to the public on November 28, 1912. The entire outlay for both was appropriated from the George F. Parkman Fund income.

GEORGE F. PARKMAN FUND.

By the will of the late George F. Parkman, various real estate properties worth between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 were left to the City, the income therefrom to be expended for the maintenance and improvement of the Common and such parks as were in existence January 12, 1887, and no part of it to be used for the purchase of additional land for park purposes. The bequest was accepted by the City Council, March 9, 1909, since which date most of the realty has been sold and the proceeds invested in municipal and other bonds. On February 1, 1919, the principal of the fund in the custody of the City Treasurer amounted to $5,207,263. In the fiscal year 1918-19, the income from the fund was $197,460, i. e., nearly four per cent.

HIGH PRESSURE FIRE SERVICE.

By the provisions of Chapter 312, Acts of 1911, the Commissioner of Public Works was authorized to install an efficient system of high pressure fire service for the business center of the City, appropriations therefor, amounting to $1,000,000, to be voted by the City Council in sums of not less than $150,000 each year. The last loan for this purpose was $140,000, issued in 1918, and the total expenditure to Feb. 1, 1919, was $820,300. The work completed to 1919, including the old salt-water fireboat line, makes 7.99 miles of pipe with 233 hydrants ready for use and supplied by domestic high service at Tremont street, near West, from a 16-inch gated connection.

SEWER AND SANITARY DIVISION.

Main Office, 510 City Hall Annex.

EDWARD F. MURPHY, Division Engineer. Salary, $5,000.

THOMAS F. BOWES, Engineer in charge of Sewer Service. Salary, $3,500.

EDGAR S. DORR, Office Engineer, Sewer Service. Salary, $2,600.

WILLIAM P. WILLARD, Engineer of Special Work, Sewer Service. Salary, $2,700.

JOSEPH J. NORTON, Supervisor of Sanitary, Street Cleaning and Oiling Service. Salary, $3,500.

The Commissioner of Public Works who took charge of the department in April, 1918, merged the Sewer Service, Sanitary Service and Street Cleaning and Oiling Service, designating these three former branches of the Highway Division as the Sewer and Sanitary Division.

The Division Engineer of this division has charge of the preparation of plans for and the construction of new sewers, the repairing and cleaning of existing sewers and catch-basins, the granting of permits for sewer connections, and the investigation of complaints as to defective drainage; of the cleaning and oiling of streets, also the removal of house offal and refuse in the various districts of the city.

The total length of common and intercepting sewers on February 1, 1919, was 961.24 miles, 5.97 miles having been constructed in 1918, and the gross City debt outstanding for all sewer construction up to said date was $21,267,080.

Assessments upon the estates benefited by new sewers are not levied by the Public Works Department but by the Board of Street Commissioners (see Street Laying-Out Department), who also award damages to real estate owners having approved claims for such. The assessment upon an estate for a new sewer is limited to $4.00 per linear foot and it is a lien upon the property until paid, the law allowing payment in annual instalments of 10 per cent of total assessment with interest.

In 1889 the State Board of Health informed the Legislature as to the urgent necessity of having two main systems of sewage disposal for the cities and towns of the Metropolitan District, one for those north of the Charles River, the other for those south.

By chapter 439 of the Acts of that year, the plans of the said Board were adopted and, under State control and financing, the Metropolitan Sewerage Commission of three members undertook the construction of the North Metropolitan and South Metropolitan systems of trunk and intercepting sewers, the former to discharge into the sea at Deer Island and the latter at Moon Island. The City of Boston had already constructed, at a cost of \$4,250,000, pumping works and a trunk sewer from Huntington avenue and Gainsborough street to Moon Island, hence the South system was completed by building from Huntington avenue through Brighton and Newton to Waltham, $8\frac{1}{4}$ miles and the whole was put into operation in the spring of 1892, the State paying the City for pumping and discharging the sewage received from the territory west of Huntington avenue. The North Metropolitan system, with four pumping-plants and 41 miles of sewers, varying from a 9-foot brick sewer in East Boston to a 10-inch vitrified pipe at opposite ends, went into operation in 1896, costing \$5,116,696. A third system, the Neponset Valley, with a total length of 11.3 miles, was completed in 1898. It is an intercepting sewer, receiving the sewage from the local sewers of Hyde Park and parts of West Roxbury and Dorchester, also Milton and Dedham. In 1906 the High-level sewer was completed and into its 17 miles of tunnel extending from Parker Hill, Roxbury, through Jamaica Plain, West Roxbury, Hyde Park and Quincy to outlets off Nut Island, nearly all the sewage of the South District was diverted. Later, this sewer was extended to Brighton and Brookline. On January 1, 1918, there were 63.9 miles of Metropolitan sewer in the North District, of which 10.4 miles were in Boston, and 49.1 miles in the South District, 23.9 miles being in Boston. Tributary to the two Metropolitan systems there were 1,423 miles of local sewers in the 27 cities and towns belonging.

In the eleven Sanitary Districts of the City the refuse collected in the year 1918 amounted to 380,864 tons (of 2,000 lbs.), of which 316,482 tons were ashes, 56,836 tons garbage and 7,546 tons waste and rubbish (mostly paper). Contractors collected 140,052 tons and City employees, aided by hired teaming, collected 240,812 tons.

REMOVAL OF STORE REFUSE.

As provided by Chapters 1 and 10 of the Ordinances of 1911, the removal of refuse from shops, stores and warehouses, involving much extra labor, is attended to by the Sanitary Service and charged for at 11 cents a barrel or bundle (not larger than a flour barrel). No removals are made except on delivery of tickets obtainable at 504 City Hall Annex, or at the office of the Superintendent of Markets, Faneuil Hall Market.

WATER DIVISION.

Main Office, 606 City Hall Annex.

FRANK A. MCINNES, Division Engineer. Salary, $5,000.

CHRISTOPHER J. CARVEN, Engineer in Charge. Salary, $3,500.

ROBERT W. WILSON, Superintendent, Income Branch. Salary, $3,000.

GEORGE H. FINNERAN, General Foreman. Salary, $2,800.

In April, 1918, by order of the incoming Public Works Commissioner, that branch of the Highway Division called the Water Service was separated therefrom and became the Water Division.

Under the control of the Division Engineer of this division are the care and maintenance of all pipes and other fixtures and appliances held by the City for the purposes of its water supply, including the laying and relaying of pipes, the installation and testing of meters and the placing of public drinking fountains, also the assessing of water rates and issuing of the bills therefor.

The total length of supply and distributing water mains on February 1, 1919, was 873.32 miles; number of water meters in use, 63,187 (on January 1), making the service about 60 per cent metered; number of public fire hydrants, 9,669; number of public drinking fountains, 155, of which 87 are fitted with hygienic bubble fixtures and 68 are for animals only.

The first water document published by the City of Boston appeared in 1825. The public introduction of water from Lake Cochituate took place on October 25, 1848. The history of the Boston Water Works up to January 1, 1868, has been written by Nathaniel J. Bradley; from 1868 to 1876, by Desmond FitzGerald; of the "Additional Supply from Sudbury River," by A. Fteley. In addition to the annual reports on the Cochituate supply, from 1850, and of the Mystic supply, from 1866, there are numerous special reports. By chapter 449, Acts of 1895, the Boston Water Board, the Water Income Department and the Water Registrar were abolished and the Water Department created, a single commissioner being entrusted with all the powers previously exercised by the Boston Water Board and the Boston Water Registrar.

By Chapter 488, Acts of 1895, the State provided for a metropolitan water supply, Boston being included among the municipalities thus to be supplied. A State commission, the Metropolitan Water Board, in accordance with said act, took possession, in 1898, of all that part of the Boston water system lying westward of Chestnut Hill Reservoir, also the pumping station there, with adjacent lands. The sum paid to the City was $12,531,000. Payments to the State by the City for its supply of water have been regularly made since 1898. Total quantity of water in the ten storage reservoirs of the Metropolitan system on January 1, 1918, 66,466,000,000 gallons, of which 80 per cent was in the Wachusett Reservoir in Clinton, 32 miles west of Boston, an artificial lake 4,135 acres in surface area and added to the system in 1905. There are also twelve distribution reservoirs with capacity of 2,399,230,000 gallons, six pumping-stations being connected with these. In the existing Metropolitan Water District are nine cities, besides Boston, and nine towns. Boston took 74.6 per cent of the entire water supply of the District in 1917.

The total number of water services in use in Boston on January 1, 1918, was, 105,352, and the daily average amount of water used in 1918 was 94,657,833 gallons, or 120 gallons per capita.

A member of the Board of Street Commissioners is appointed each year by the Mayor to serve for three years from the first Monday in January. The Board has power to lay out, relocate, alter or discontinue highways in the City, and to order specific repairs thereon, also to order, with the approval of the Mayor, the construction of sewers and to take for the City any lands, water courses and ways deemed necessary for such construction. It levies the betterment assessments on estates benefited by the construction of new sewers and new or improved highways (see Chapter 536, Acts of 1913), also awards damages for takings of land, and grants to landowners permission to open private streets. In 1895 the duties of the Board of Survey were transferred to the Street Commissioners; in 1907 they were charged with the licensing of street stands for the sale of merchandise, in 1908 with the regulation of street traffic, and in 1913 with the authority to grant or withhold permits for the erection of automobile garages.

By the Amended City Charter of 1909, the jurisdiction previously exercised by the Board of Aldermen is vested in the Street Commissioners, with the written approval of the Mayor, as to the naming of streets, as to trees in the streets, as to permits or licenses for special use of same, including the construction of coal holes, vaults, bay windows and marquees, in, under, or over the streets, also for the location of conduits, poles and posts and the storage of inflammables and explosives.

As authorized by Chapter 680, Acts of 1913, the Street Commissioners issued on April 9, 1914, their "Rules and Regulations Relating to Projections on or over Public Highways." These rules were amended in 1915, as authorized by Chapter 176, General Acts of that year, the changes taking effect July 20. The penalty for disregard of said rules is a fine not exceeding five dollars for each day of negligence after five days' notice.

Fees for permits and each annual renewal thereof are fixed as follows:

Illuminated signs	$1 00
Two-foot projecting signs (not illuminated)	50
Other projecting signs (not illuminated)	25
Lettering on awnings	50
Lamps, unlettered	25

TRAFFIC RULES.

As provided by Chapter 447, Acts of 1908, the Street Commissioners were authorized to make such regulations as they deemed needful to prevent the increasing congestion and delay of traffic in the streets. New traffic rules were promulgated in December, 1908, and went into effect January 1, 1909. They are enforced by the Police Commissioner, and the penalty for violation is a fine not exceeding twenty dollars for each offence.

By Stat. 1906, Chap. 213, the term of the Commission was further extended to July 1, 1909; by Stat. 1909, Chap. 455, to July 1, 1911; by Stat. 1911, Chap. 623, to July 1, 1914; by Stat. 1914, Chap. 644, to July 1, 1917, and by Stat. 1917, Chap. 368 (Special), to July 1, 1918.

* This commission's existence terminated July 1, 1918, as ordered by Chapter 368, Special Acts of 1917. The following brief review of its work is retained in the MUNICIPAL REGISTER because of the historical importance of Rapid Transit development.

The Commission had charge of the construction of the Tremont street subway, opened September 1, 1897 (costing $4,416,000, including alterations), of the Charlestown bridge (costing $1,570,198), of the tunnel to East Boston, opened December 30, 1904 (costing $3,309,000), and the Washington street tunnel. This two-track tunnel, which is used for elevated railway trains exclusively, was opened for traffic on November 30, 1908. It is 1.16 miles long and cost $8,496,700, of which the land damages amounted to $2,850,000.

The Commission began constructing in September, 1909, under the provisions of Chapter 520, Acts of 1906, a tunnel under Beacon Hill from the new Cambridge bridge to the Park street station of the Tremont street subway, as a connection with the Cambridge Main street subway built by the Boston Elevated Railway. This two-track subway for train service, called Cambridge Connection (length 2,486 feet), and costing $1,465,000, was opened for traffic March 23, 1912.

By Chapter 741, Acts of 1911, the Commission was further charged with the construction of the East Boston Tunnel Extension (about 2,300 feet in length), to connect Court street and Scollay square with Bowdoin square and Cambridge street. This two-track subway for surface cars was opened for traffic on March 18, 1916, its cost being $2,450,000. The same legislation provided for the Boylston street subway (about 1.9 miles in length, substituted for the Riverbank subway), and the Dorchester tunnel for train service (length about 2.27 miles), to connect with the Cambridge route at Park street station and extend under Winter and Summer streets to South Station, thence to Andrew square, Dorchester. The Boylston street subway (for surface cars only), extending from Tremont street subway near Park square to Commonwealth avenue near Kenmore street, was opened for traffic October 3, 1914, and the total expenditure therefor, to February 1, 1919, was $5,234,471. That part of the Dorchester tunnel between Park street station and South Station was opened to public use on December 4, 1916; as far as Broadway, South Boston, on December 15, 1917, and to Andrew Square terminal on June 29, 1918. The loans issued for Dorchester tunnel construction up to February 1, 1919, amounted to $10,738,000. Total approximate cost of subways and tunnels, $36,000,000, all payable ultimately from revenue. Gross Rapid Transit debt outstanding, Feb. 1, 1919, $35,899,700; sinking fund, $5,037,586; net debt, $30,862,114.

FRANKLIN UNION, corner Appleton and Berkeley streets.

WALTER B. RUSSELL, Director.

The Franklin Foundation is incorporated under Chapter 569 of the Acts of 1908, and has sole charge of the Franklin Union, as well as the management of the Franklin Fund.

The Franklin Fund is the proceeds of a bequest of one thousand pounds to "the Inhabitants of the Town of Boston in Massachusetts" made by Benjamin Franklin, in a codicil to his will dated June 23, 1789. The codicil provided that the fund "if accepted by the inhabitants of the Town of Boston" be managed "under the direction of the Selectmen, united with the Minister of the oldest Episcopalian, Congregational, and Presbyterian Churches in that Town," who were to make loans on certain conditions to "young married artificers under the age of twenty-five years."

* The Managers serve without compensation.

Dr. Franklin, who died April 17, 1790, calculated that, in one hundred years, the thousand pounds would grow to £131,000, "of which," he says, "I would have the managers then lay out at their discretion £100,000 in Public Works which may be judged of most general utility to the Inhabitants. The remaining £31,000, I would have continued to be let out on interest for another hundred years. At the end of this second term, if no unfortunate accident has prevented the operation, the sum will be £4,061,000, of which I leave £1,061,000 to the Town of Boston, and £3,000,000 to the disposition of the Government of the State, not presuming to carry my views farther." The Town accepted the donation at a Town Meeting held June 1, 1790.

A futile suit brought by the Franklin heirs in 1891 prevented the division of the fund at the expiration of one hundred years; but on January 17, 1894, by direction of the three ministers and the Board of Aldermen of the City, which board claimed to be the successors of the "Selectmen," \$329,300.48 ($\frac{1}{31}$ of the fund) was paid to the City Treasurer, for "the purchase of land and the erection thereon of the Franklin Trades School and for the equipment of the same." Owing to a series of complications the money remained in the custody of the Treasurer. Mayor Collins, in 1902, caused a petition of the City to be filed in the Supreme Court, praying for instructions as to the authority of the persons then acting as Managers of the fund. The Court rendered an opinion November 25, 1903 (184 Mass. 373, page 43), to the effect that the three ministers were Managers of the fund under Franklin's will, but that the Aldermen did not succeed the "Selectmen" as Managers and had no powers with reference to it. The Court, under its general power to care for public charitable funds, appointed, on March 16, 1904, a Board of Managers to take the place of the "Selectmen," and provided in the decree of the Court that the Mayor of Boston should be one, ex officio. On October 20, 1904, the City Treasurer, ex officio, was appointed by the Board of Managers as treasurer of the fund.

On December 2, 1905, the City Treasurer received from Mr. Andrew Carnegie $408,396.48, said sum being equal to the amount of the Franklin Fund in August, 1904, which Mr. Carnegie agreed to duplicate. Only the annual income from this fund is used.

On January 31, 1907, the amount of the "accumulated" fund available for expenditure by the Managers was $438,741.89, and in that year the Franklin Union Building was erected at the corner of Appleton and Berkeley streets. It was opened for the use of the Franklin Trades School, or Franklin Union as it is now called, in September, 1908. This is maintained partly by the nominal registration fees, by rentals, and by the income (about $22,500 yearly) from the above mentioned Franklin Fund (i. e., the Andrew Carnegie Donation), which amounted to $460,478 on January 31, 1919. The building contains 24 classrooms and 6 draughting rooms, where about 1,600 students receive instruction, the fees ranging from $4 to $15, according to length of course. There is also a technical and scientific library, and a large hall with a seating capacity of 1,000 for lectures, concerts, discussions and similar purposes. The building with equipment cost $402,718. The site was purchased in 1906 for $100,000.

The Franklin Accumulating Fund, which will become available in 1991, amounted, on January 31, 1919, to $279,851.

The Board of Police for the City of Boston was established by Chapter 323 of the Acts of 1885, and was composed of three citizens of Boston, appointed for five years from the two principal political parties by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Executive Council. The Board assumed office on July 23, 1885. By Chapter 291 of the Acts of 1906, the department was placed in charge of a single head, to be known as the Police Commissioner.

* Term ends in 1924.

The powers of the Board of Police, except those relating to the granting of intelligence office, billiard and pool, skating rink, picnic grove, bowling alley, common victualers' and liquor licenses, which were transferred to the newly created Licensing Board, devolve upon the Police Commissioner.

The City is divided into nineteen Police Districts, in each of which is a station-house, the headquarters of a captain and force of men. The Commissioner appoints a Harbor Master and assistants from the police force, and they receive pay in accordance with their rank in the force. The police steamer "Guardian" and the gasoline boats "Ferret," "Watchman" and "Alert" are employed in this service.

By Chapter 91, General Acts of 1915, the duties devolving upon the Police Commissioner as to the annual listing of resident men, 20 years of age or over, and verifying the names of women voters, were transferred to the Board of Assessors. This did not prove to be satisfactory, and in 1917, by Chapter 29, General Acts, the Police Commissioner was again entrusted with this annual listing.

On December 1, 1918, the police force numbered 1,763 men, including 26 captains, 26 inspectors, 41 lieutenants, 126 sergeants, 1,446 patrolmen, and 95 reservemen. There were 19 men in the signal service, whose director has charge of 504 signal boxes. In the calendar year 1918 the number of persons arrested was 90,380, or 17,600 less than in 1917. Of said total, 54,845 (i. e. 60.68 per cent) were for drunkenness; non-residents arrested, 38,176, or 42.24 per cent; foreign-born persons, 37,139 (67.6 of these for drunkenness); women and girls, all ages, 8,278; boys under 15 years of age, 2,791. In year ending November 30, 1918, persons imprisoned, 4,782; persons fined, 12,059, the fines amounting to $106,998; stolen property recovered, $578,891; licenses granted, 22,478 (including 8,488 for dogs and 8,910 for vehicles and drivers), for which $40,328 was received. Prosecutions for violation of automobile laws, 5,108; for larceny and robbery, 4,066; assault, etc., 2,305; gambling, etc., 2,112; violation of street traffic regulations, etc., 1,614; burglary, 628. Reports of accidents in streets and parks show 143 killed and 3,190 injured. There were 6,290 sick and injured persons assisted, 447 insane persons taken in charge and 2,000 lost children restored to their homes.

Salaries: Captains, $3,000 per annum; inspectors and lieutenants, $2,000 per annum. On May 30, 1919, salaries below the position of lieutenant were increased as follows: Sergeants to $1,800 per year; all classes of patrolmen raised $200 per year, making first year's salary $1,100 and advancing $100 each year until the maximum of $1,600 is reached.

The reserve force was abolished by Chap. 23, Special Acts of 1919, and its 95 members became a part of the regular force.

The sum available for this branch of education is four cents on each $1,000 of the City's assessed valuation, which in the year 1918-19 was $61,664. Besides this, a special appropriation of $29,682 was provided for playground activities.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS PARTLY MAINTAINED BY STATE.

By Chapter 471, Acts of 1911, and Chapter 106, Acts of 1912, the State especially encourages the establishing of Independent Industrial Schools, allowing financial aid for their maintenance proportionate to the amount raised by local taxation and expended for all public schools. Under this arrangement the School Committee is reimbursed by the State to the extent of one half the net maintenance cost of such industrial schools established in Boston thus far with the approval of the State Board of Education. By Chapter 805, Acts of 1913, Continuation Schools, for employed children between fourteen and sixteen years of age, were included under the same plan of State aid. The four schools thus maintained are the Boston Trade School (for Boys), day and evening, Trade School for Girls, day and evening, Voluntary Continuation School and Compulsory Continuation School. In 1918-19 the amount received from the State for this purpose was $86,850.

Of the elementary school pupils, 83.6 per cent won promotion in 1918.

USE OF SCHOOL PROPERTY FOR SOCIAL AND CIVIC PURPOSES.

By the provisions of Chapter 195, Acts of 1912, amended by Chapter 86, Special Acts of 1916, the School Committee may allow the school property under their control to be used by associations and individuals for social, recreative and civic purposes such as may be of benefit to the community, with the understanding that such use shall nowise interfere with the regular school work. The School Committee may annually appropriate for this purpose a sum equal to two cents on each $1,000 of the City's assessed valuation, which in the year 1918-19 amounted to $33,480. This plan was started by establishing four Evening Centers, each having a manager, in four high schoolhouses, viz.: Charlestown, East Boston, Roxbury and South Boston, beginning in October, 1912, and continuing five months. Three more have since been opened, viz., the North End, in Eliot schoolhouse; West End, in the Blackstone and Washington schoolhouses, and the Dorchester Center in the high schoolhouse there. A variety of study clubs, lectures, concerts and other entertainments are included in these activities, which engage the services of 86 paid leaders and other workers, also many volunteer assistants. The centers remain in session from the third Friday in October to June 30 on three evenings a week with some variation as to days. Their membership is limited to persons over 14 years of age who are not pupils in the regular day schools. Widening interest in the centers has extended their activities to one or more afternoons each week. Persons attending the various meetings and entertainments in nine months ending June 30, 1918, numbered 239,618. The appeal of the School Center that "every plus talent of a community be used through it" for mutual benefit is meeting with response. The basements of 123 schoolhouses are used by the Election Department as polling places. High school buildings were opened for the drilling of various companies of State Guards 43 times during July, 1917, and 10 times during June, 1918.

PENSION AND RETIREMENT FUNDS FOR TEACHERS.

As provided by Chapter 589, Acts of 1908, amended by Chapter 617, Acts of 1910, the School Committee, by a majority vote of all its members, may retire with a pension any member of the teaching or supervising staff of the public day schools who has reached the age of sixty-five years, also such other members as are incapacitated for further efficient service. If the teacher retired has been employed in the public day schools for a period of thirty years or more, ten years of which has been in Boston, the pension paid amounts to one-third of the annual salary received at time of retirement, but in no case is it less than $312 nor more than $600 annually. If the period of service is less than thirty years, the pension is proportionally less. The School Committee were authorized to provide for these pensions by appropriating annually an amount equal to five cents on each $1,000 of the City's assessed valuation. This allowance was increased by Chap. 304, Special Acts of 1915, to seven cents on each $1,000. The Permanent School Pension Fund amounted to $319,481 on February 1, 1919, and 318 retired teachers were receiving pensions therefrom.

The Boston Teachers' Retirement Fund Association, started in 1900, is paying $120 per year to 281 annuitants and smaller sums to three others, the total amount of its fund on February 1, 1919, being $574,280. At that date 2,913 teachers were each contributing $18 per year to this fund.

REGULATION OF THE HEIGHT OF BUILDINGS.

[Stat. 1904, Chap. 333; Stat. 1905, Chap. 383; Stat. 1907, Chap. 416; Stat. 1912, Chap. 582; Stat. 1914, Chap. 786; Spec. Stat. 1915, Chap. 333; Spec. Stat. 1919, Chap. 156.]

By Stat. 1904, Chap. 333, the Legislature provided that the City of Boston should be divided into two districts, designated as Districts A and B, and that if not repugnant to some other statute, buildings could be erected in District A to a height of 125 feet, but that except as to certain projections above the roof, no buildings could be erected in District B to a height greater than 80 feet. A commission consisting of Nathan Matthews, Joseph A. Conry, and Henry Parkman was appointed by Mayor Collins, June 7, 1904, to determine the limits of these districts, and it made a preliminary order on July 5, 1904, which was revised December 3, 1904. Under Stat. 1905, Chap. 383, the Legislature made certain minor changes in the law, and also authorized the erection of buildings to a height not exceeding 100 feet in such parts of District B, and on such conditions, as a commission should determine. The same commission was reappointed under this act and made a preliminary order July 21, 1905, which was revised November 20, 1905. [See Document 133, 1905.]

The Commission's order, filed in the Registry of Deeds in 1904, was to continue in force until 1919, but in 1915 conditions called for an extension of District A boundaries and this was provided for by chapter 333, Special Acts of 1915. A new commission was thereby constituted, consisting of the Chairman of the City Planning Board, the Fire Commissioner and the Building Commissioner, who filed their order in the Registry of Deeds on November 2, 1916, to remain in force for ten years, and superseding the order of 1904 as to the boundaries of Districts A and B. [See Document 114, 1916.]

DISTRICT A. The boundaries newly established begin at the intersection of Wauwatosa st. and Chelsea creek (Ward 1, East Boston), thence extend easterly through Wauwatosa and Boardman sts. to Saratoga st., thence southwesterly and westerly through Saratoga and Addison sts. to the B. & M. R.R., thence along said railroad to Saratoga st., thence through Saratoga st. to Neptune rd., Eagle sq., Eagle, Glendon and Condor sts. to Meridian st., thence southerly through Meridian, Gove, Orleans and Marginal sts. to Jeffries st. (Ward 2), thence northeasterly to Maverick st. and through same to the B., R. B. & L. R.R., thence along latter to the center of Porter st. extended, thence through Porter, Bremen and Prescott sts. to the B., R. B. & L. R.R., thence along said railroad to the northern boundary of Wood Island Park (Ward 1), thence easterly along same to the harbor line, thence along said line of Boston Harbor and Chelsea creek to the point of beginning. These are the East Boston boundaries of District A.

The boundaries in Charlestown begin at the Malden Bridge (Ward 3), thence extend southerly through Alford st. to Sullivan sq., thence southeasterly through Bunker Hill and Medford sts. to Chelsea st. (Ward 4), thence southerly through latter to Henley st., thence westerly through same, Harvard sq. and Harvard st. to Washington st., thence through latter and Rutherford ave. northwesterly to Sullivan sq. thence through Cambridge st. to the City line, thence along said line and the Charles river to Charlestown Bridge, thence along the harbor line and the Mystic river to the point of beginning.

In the City proper the boundaries begin at the intersection of the City line with the Charles river dam (Ward 5), thence extend along said dam and Leverett st. to Green st., thence through Green, Staniford and Cambridge sts. to Bowdoin st., thence southerly through same, Beacon, Park and Tremont sts. to Boylston st., thence through latter, Massachusetts ave. and the line of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R.R. (Providence Div.) to Tremont st. at Roxbury Crossing, thence through Columbus ave., Roxbury st., Guild row and Dudley st. to Columbia rd. (Upham's Corner), thence through same to Dorchester ave., thence southerly to Park st. (Ward 20), and through latter and Adams st. to Neponset ave., thence through said avenue to the N. Y., N. H. & H. R.R. (Milton Branch), thence along said railroad and through Granite ave. to the Neponset river, thence easterly and northerly along the shore of said river and the harbor lines of Dorchester bay and Old Harbor to the intersection of Old Colony ave. and Columbia rd., thence northerly along Old Colony ave. to E st. (South Boston), thence through latter, Broadway, Dorchester and East Second sts. to I st., thence northerly through I to East First st. and easterly through latter to Farragut rd., thence northerly through same and Farragut rd. extended across the reserved channel, thence along the harbor line of South Boston to Northern Avenue Bridge, thence westerly along said bridge to the harbor line of Boston Proper, thence northerly and westerly along said harbor line and Charles river to the point of beginning.

Wherever a boundary line of District A is described as following a certain street, the same is intended to include all property on that side of the street which lies within the described area, and also that portion of all lots on the opposite side of the street, abutting on the street, but extending to a depth of not more than 150 feet.

DISTRICT B comprises all territory in the City outside the boundaries above described. In this district buildings may in general be erected to a height of not more than 80 feet, but on streets exceeding 64 feet in width the height may be equal to one and a quarter times the width of the widest street upon which the building stands, said height to be measured from the mean grade of the curbs of all streets upon which the building is situated and not to exceed in any event 100 feet above such point of measurement. On all streets or portions of streets upon which buildings may be erected on one side only, the buildings may be erected to a height of 100 feet. No building may be erected to a height greater than 80 feet unless its width on each and every public street upon which it stands be at least one-half its height. Certain special exceptions to the general regulations affecting District B have been made as follows:

No building can be erected to a height greater than 70 feet, measured on its principal front, in the territory bounded by Beacon, Joy, Myrtle and Hancock sts. and Hancock ave.

So long as the property owned by the City of Boston on Dalton, Belvidere and Scotia sts. shall be used for a Mechanic Arts High School any building or buildings thereon may be erected to a height of 100 feet.

No building can be erected on a parkway, boulevard or public way on which a building line has been established by the Board of Park Commissioners or by the Board of Street Commissioners acting under any general or special statute, to a greater height than that allowed by the order of said Boards.

No building upon any land, any owner of which has received and retained compensation in damages for any limitation of height, or who retains any claim for such damages, can be erected to a height greater than that fixed by the limitation for which such damages were received or claimed.

No limitation of the height of buildings applies to churches, steeples, towers, domes, cupolas, belfries or statuary not used for purposes of habitation, nor to chimneys, gas holders, coal or grain elevators, open balustrades, skylights, ventilators, flagstuffs, railings, weather vanes, soil pipes, steam exhausts, signs, roof houses not exceeding 12 feet square and 12 feet high, nor to other similar constructions such as are usually erected above the roof line of buildings, nor to sugar refineries in District A.

By Chapter 416, Acts of 1907, the width of Rutherford ave. in the Charlestown district, between Chapman st. and the Mystic River tracks of the B. & M. R.R. crossing the northerly part of said avenue, was considered as 80 feet in respect to the height of buildings that might be erected on the southwesterly and westerly side of said avenue, between the points mentioned, so as to permit the erection of buildings to the height of 100 feet, as provided for buildings erected on streets of the width aforesaid in District B.

By Chapter 582, Acts of 1912, the height of City Hall Annex was permitted to be 133 feet above the grade of Court street, i. e., 8 feet in excess of the limit originally legalized for District A.

By Chapter 786, Acts of 1914, the parcel of land bounded by Washington st., Lovering place, Harrison ave. and Asylum st. was exempted from the laws relative to the height of buildings which might be erected thereon, except that the limit of 125 feet remained in force.

Certain parties being aggrieved by the order of November 2, 1916, and filing petitions for its revision, the Commission, after due consideration, revised the order on January 12, 1917, excluding from District A and including in District B a certain tract of land bounded by Boylston and Providence sts., St. James ave., Blagden st., etc., near Copley square. [See Document 45, 1917.]

By Chap. 156, Special Acts of 1919, section four of Chap. 383, Acts of 1905, was amended so as to allow roof houses, skylights, etc., above the roof line, used to enclose elevator shafts, an additional space of four feet on all sides (or 16 feet square in all), but not to exceed 12 feet in height. All such roof structures of first-class buildings may be constructed of angle iron and four-inch blocks, plastered inside and outside, or covered on both sides with metal or angle iron, and two-inch solid metal lath and plaster walls may be used, the door to be of metal frame and covered with metal.

CITY RECORD.

[Stat. 1909, Chap. 486, §§ 29, 30.]

In accordance with the Amended City Charter of 1909, the weekly publication of the City, with the title, City Record, was re-established in that year, the size of page, typography, etc., being similar to the form adopted by the Statistics Department, under whose management the first City Record was issued during the years, 1898, 1899 and to May 8, 1900, at which time it was discontinued. Its suspension was ordered by Mayor Hart, owing to the insufficiency of the appropriation for the year 1900. In March of that year, the Legislature had refused to enact a bill proposed by Mayor Hart, entitled "An Act relative to the Advertising of Legal Notices in the County of Suffolk and City of Boston." This bill was introduced with a view to making the City Record self-supporting. The cost of publication over and above the receipts was $4,863.92 for the year 1898 and $4,349.73 for 1899, the average edition being 979 copies in the latter year with 16 pages to each number, as averaged.

By the Act of 1909, the City Record was placed under the direction of the Mayor, the terms for the sale of the paper, i. e. per year's subscription and per single copy, to be fixed by the City Council. On July 26, 1909, an ordinance was passed in conformity with the said Act, amending Chap. 37, Revised Ord. of 1908. This fixed the yearly subscription price at $1.00 and the price per single copy five cents, the rate for advertising space to be fixed by the City Auditor. A transfer of $3,000 from the Reserve Fund was ordered to cover the expenses for the remainder of the year. The first issue appeared on August 14 following, publication being continued every week since, with some variation in quantity of contents.

In the fiscal year 1910-11 the revenue of the City Record was $10,271, or $3,123 in excess of the expenditures. In every year since, except 1912-13 (when a small revenue excess was shown) the expenditures have exceeded the revenue, the deficit in 1918-19 amounting to $4,654, mostly due to increased costs of production charged by the Printing Department, whose profits are really an offset to a part of such deficits and may be transferred to balance off deficits of other departments.

In 1919 the advertising rate was increased 20 per cent (i. e. to $1.80 per inch) and the paid subscriptions were coming in at about the same rate as in 1918, in which year 843 such were received, or 163 more than in 1917. The edition varies but slightly, or between 1,000 and 1,300 copies. By using its own official publication the City has had the benefit of cheaper advertising space, besides diverting to one of its departments about $12,000 a year that would otherwise be paid to outside publications.

BOUNDARIES
ESTABLISHED IN 1915.

THE WARDS OF BOSTON.

Wards with definite boundaries by streets were first established in 1715. There were eight wards, three in the North End and five in the South End, from that year until 1735, when the number was increased to twelve. The ward lines then fixed remained substantially unchanged for seventy years until the division made by the Selectmen in 1805. In 1822, when the town became a city, there was a redivision on the basis of the U. S. Census of 1820, the number still remaining twelve. Subsequent changes of ward boundaries were made in 1838, 1850, 1865, 1875, 1895 and lastly, that which was enacted December 28, 1914. In 1865 nine wards were added to provide for the annexed districts, in 1875* and 1876* the number was increased to 25 and in 1912 another annexation, viz.: Hyde Park, brought the total to 26. In 1885 an attempt was made by the City Council to make a new division of wards, and an ordinance to that effect was prepared by a special committee appointed for the purpose, passed by the City Council and approved by the Mayor.¹ Certain questions were raised, however, in the General Court of 1886, relative to establishing State, senatorial and representative districts, and as to whether such districts should be established according to the territorial boundaries of cities and towns and their wards as they existed on the first day of May, 1885, or whether new ward lines, as in the case of the City of Boston, should be followed. On May 21, 1886, the opinion of the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court was asked by the Legislature on this matter, and they decided that the district divisions referred to must be made according to territorial and other boundaries existing on the first day of May, 1885, and that the new ward divisions were illegal.² On account of this opinion of the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court, an act was passed by the Legislature in June, 1886,³ which provided that the several wards, precincts, and assessment districts of the several cities of the Commonwealth, existing May 1, 1885, should be established as the wards, precincts, and assessment districts of said cities, any acts or ordinances of the city councils of said cities to the contrary notwithstanding. The new division of wards was thus set aside and the ward lines established in 1875 remained in effect until they were changed in 1895 and established under the provisions of Chapter 417 of the Acts of 1893. According to this act, a city may be redivided into wards in every tenth year after 1895, but this is not mandatory. In 1905 a new division of the City was attempted by the City Council, but neither of the plans submitted was adopted.

* An ordinance providing for a new division of the City into wards passed Nov. 16, 1875. An ordinance to make Breed's Island, so called, part of Ward 1 passed Dec. 4, 1875. By Chap. 242 of the Acts of 1876 the City Council were directed to divide Ward Twenty-two into two wards, to be called Wards 22 and 25. The division was accordingly made by an ordinance passed May 27, 1876.

Acting under the authority of Chapter 630, Acts of 1914,* the City Council redivided the territory of the City, establishing the boundaries of 26 wards as below.

According to the State Bureau of Statistics, which had charge of the State Census of 1915. (as of April 1), the population of Boston on that date was 745,439 (i. e., 369,434 males and 376,005 females), an increase of 74,854, or 11.16 per cent. since April 15, 1910, when it was 670,585 (Federal census); and of 25.2 per cent. over that of May 1, 1905, viz., 595,380, enumerated also by the State Census.

This State Census of 1915 was taken according to the new ward and precinct boundaries, as established in 1914 and 1915. The complete figures for the 223 voting precincts with ward totals and per cent of each ward to whole city are shown on the next page.

Comparison with the census figures of earlier years cannot be made except by geographical districts, which remain unchanged. The two tables showing the population by districts, with increase and per cent of increase every five years from 1850 to 1915 inclusive, appear on pages 214 and 215. On page 216 are shown, by wards, the native-born (by states) and the foreign-born; on page 217 the foreign-born with country of birth and on page 218 the ward figures by sex.

Since 1875 the only considerable amount of territory annexed to Boston is Hyde Park, whose population on April 15, 1910, was 15,507, and estimated to be, at date of annexation, January 1, 1912, 15,936.

Among American cities, Boston has ranked fifth in population since 1890. It is now a close rival of St. Louis for fourth in rank.

* Net increase of population, 1,100+ per month from August 1, 1918, based upon actual rate from U. S. Census of April 15, 1910, to State Census of April 1, 1915.

*These figures are made up to cover the geographical area originally belonging to each subdivision, which had not been done in previous censuses. If the same territory be assigned to each division in 1900 as in 1895, the figures for 1900 would be South Boston, 70,161; Dorchester, 64,648; West Roxbury, 42,407, and Roxbury, 110,732, instead of those given in the table. * From the fiscal year 1895-86 to the fiscal year 1899-1900, inclusive, the City could make annual appropriations, to be met by the general revenue of the City and by taxes, to the amount of the interest and sinking-fund requirements, to the amount of the County expenses up to $425,000 and to the further amount of $9 on each $1,000 of the average of the assessed valuations for the preceding five years, the valuation for each year being decreased by all abatements allowed to, and including, December 31, of the year preceding.

During the fiscal year 1900-01, the Legislature passed an act (Stat. 1900, Chap. 399) repealing the laws of 1885 and 1887 (Stat. 1885, Chap. 178, and Stat. 1887, Chap. 281), and authorizing the City Council to make appropriations annually to the amount of the interest and sinking-fund requirements, to the total amount of County expenses, and to the further amount of $10.50 on each $1,000 of the average of the assessors' valuations for the preceding three years, reduced by all abatements allowed to December 31 of the year preceding. The law went into effect in June, 1900. By Chapter 521, Acts of 1910, the limit of $10.50 was raised to $10.56, by Chapter 184, Special Acts of 1915 to $10.57, by Chapter 267, Special Acts of 1916 to $11.02, and by Chaps. 120 and 132, Special Acts of 1918, to $14.02, and then to $14.59. † Hyde Park Water Debt assumed by annexation.

‡ Period of nine months instead of full year.

NOTE.—Of the remaining gross Water Debt (all outside the Debt Limit) on February 1, 1919, viz., $1,659,750, the amount of Sinking Fund Debt is $1,307,750, payable in 30 years from date of issue, and $352,000 is Serial Debt (i. e., Hyde Park Water Debt) payable in annual instalments ending in 1940. The said remainder of Sinking Fund Debt, i. e., Cochituate debt, is wholly covered by the sinking funds applying thereto, as shown in the above table, leaving but $352,000 of (serial) debt to be paid from revenue. The above table has, in the years prior to 1912, carried the title "Cochituate Water Debt."

NOTE.—The receipts from work undertaken under the acts authorizing loans for the "Laying-out and Construction of Highways," and for "Rapid Transit," are applied to the payment of interest on these loans respectively, and the balance, if any, paid to the Sinking Fund Commissioners. When such receipts are insufficient to meet these payments, the interest is met from receipts from sales of bonds. The amounts below stated have been paid for interest. Such payments (from extraordinary receipts) terminated with the fiscal year 1905-06, being thereafter included in the interest paid from the tax levy, with the exception of the Rapid Transit interest payments, for which see next page.

The foregoing interest payments are included in the Summary Table (debt of all kinds; see pages 242 and 243), but omitted from the "City Debt" table, in order to show in the latter the "City Debt Requirements only," that is, the amount of interest, sinking fund and serial debt payments from the tax levy.

In the above table, the amounts shown under "Sinking Funds, end of Year" are strictly sinking funds and do not include "other means of debt redemption," such as unpaid betterment assessments, etc.

† The yearly totals under "Sinking Funds" and "Gross Debt, less Sinking Funds," do not agree with those shown in the Auditor's table of the Gross Funded and Net Debt (see Auditor's Report), because the "other means of debt redemption," such as unpaid betterment assessments, are not included here.

‡ Includes $122,000 in each of the two years 1907 and 1908 issued by Commonwealth, for Suffolk County Courthouse enlargement, in 1910, $326,666.67 and in 1911, $300,666.67 for the same purpose. Includes also, in 1911-12, the Water Debt (i. e., $408,000) and Town Debt (i. e., $285,850) of Hyde Park, assumed by annexation.

NOTE.—The above Summary does not include Boston's share of the Metropolitan District debt (i. e., Contingent Debt of the State). See Index.

NOTE.—In accordance with chapter 279, Acts of 1903, amended by chapter 291, Acts of 1906, all male residents 20 years of age or more have been listed by the police annually on May 1. This date was changed to April 1 by chapter 440, Acts of 1909. In Boston only was the voting list prepared from a police canvass in the years 1903 to 1915, inclusive. Elsewhere in the state the Assessors' list of polls has been the basis of the voting list, as it was in Boston in 1916, the change having been ordered by chapter 91, General Acts of 1915.

In 1917, by chapter 29, General Acts, the listing was again entrusted to the Police.

ASSESSED VALUATION AND TAX RATE, 1919.

Total assessed valuation as of April 1, 1919, $1,528,153,778, or $1,329,-290,100 real estate and $198,863,678 personal.

Total tax rate, $23.60 per $1,000 of valuation, or $2.40 more than in 1918, divided thus: City tax, $17.15 ($5.02 of this for schools); County tax, $1.42; State tax, $5.03. Total tax warrant, $38,713,803.16 (i. e., $3,396,772.83 more than in 1918) or $28,433,875.92 City tax; $2,262,321.78 County tax and $8,017,605.46 State tax and Metropolitan assessments; Poll tax, $452,980, or $2 each on $226,490 polls.

The heavy increase in the tax for State purposes, or $3,108,135 more than in 1918, is chiefly due to the assessment for Boston's share (i. e., 71.9 per cent) of the Elevated Railway Company's deficit, as ordered by Special Acts of 1918, Chap. 159, providing for the public operation of said transportation system.

The real estate valuation shows a gain of $15,736,500 over the 1918 total; the personalty a gain of $14,285,474. The decrease in personalty valuation and tax since 1916 (as explained below) is offset by the State's distribution of the taxes collected on incomes from intangible property.

In the 10 years, 1906 to 1916, the assessed valuation increased 25 per cent, the population 26 per cent and the tax rate 12 per cent.

NEW INCOME TAX (STATE) ON INTANGIBLE PROPERTY.

In accordance with Chap. 269, §§ 2 and 11, General Acts of 1916, intangible personal property (except bank stock) ceased to be subject to assessment and taxation in 1917 and thereafter. In place of that tax an income tax was established, amounting to 6 per cent per year on income derived from such intangibles, subject to various specified exemptions.

Owing to the exemption from tax of intangible personal property, the total valuation of personalty in Boston decreased from $328,929,679 in 1916 to $162,541,443 in 1917, a loss representing $2,945,072 in taxes. By sec. 23 of said Chapter 269 it was provided that on or before Nov. 15 the State Treasurer should pay to each city or town an amount equal to the difference between the personal property levy in 1915 and that of 1917 computed at the 1915 tax rate. If the income taxes collected should exceed the amount required for such distribution, the excess was to be distributed in proportion to the State tax imposed on each city or town. The amount of income taxes paid to the City of Boston under said statute in 1918 was $4,085,175, or $380,320 more than in 1917. In 1919 the amount decreased to $2,864,908, largely due to the deduction of Boston's share of the new State Educational Fund.

TAX LIMIT RAISED FOR YEAR 1919.

As in 1918, the tax limit of $6.52 on each $1,000 of valuation for general City purposes was raised to $9.52 by authority of Chap. 172, Special Acts of 1919, applying only to the present financial year. Of this increase, $2.34 was for various municipal purposes and $0.66 for street repair and reconstruction. The additional amount thus made available for appropriations was $4,556,817.

The percentages paid by Boston are 75.2284 on water debt; 60.799 on most of the park debt; 42.17 on most of the sewer debt, and 60.799 on Charles River Basin debt.

Metropolitan assessments paid by Boston in 1918 amounted to $3,098,658, of which 66.3 per cent was for debt requirements and 33.7 per cent for maintenance.

INCREASE OF PUBLIC DEBT IN LEADING CITIES, 1903-1918 (RANKING FROM HIGHEST).

The net debt of the following cities increased in the 10-year period as follows: (1) San Francisco, $31,534,084 or 267.57 per cent; (2) Detroit, $11,561,738 or 118.10 per cent; (3) Baltimore, $32,797,853 or 98.40 per cent; (4) Cleveland, $23,673,565 or 72.59 per cent; (5) Buffalo, $13,026,177 or 61.14 per cent; (6) Pittsburgh, $20,912,039 or 58.76 per cent; (7) Philadelphia, $47,282,300 or 57.62 per cent; (8) New York, $348,840,074 or 50.97 per cent; (9) Boston, $12,596,050 or 17.11 per cent.

All of Boston's increase was Rapid Transit debt, representing a $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent investment. Omitting this, there was a decrease of \$3,849,927 or 5.23 per cent in Boston's net debt during the period stated.

MUCH LESS INCREASE OF ORDINARY EXPENDITURES THAN
OF INCOME, 1912 TO 1917.

In five-year period, Feb. 1, 1912, to Feb. 1, 1917, ordinary expenditures increased from $33,790,550 in first year to $35,417,727 in last, an increase of only 4.8 per cent, or an average of $406,794 for each of the four years after 1912. Ordinary income in same period increased from $32,564,342 in 1912 to $37,592,068 in 1916, an increase of 15.4 per cent or $1,256,931 for each year, showing less than one-third as much increase of expense as increase of income in the said period.

BUDGET INCREASES, 1906 TO 1916.

Total maintenance appropriations for City departments, excluding School departments and City Debt requirements, increased from $11,842,250 in 1906 to $13,003,426 in 1911 and to $14,848,090 in 1916, or 9.81 per cent in 5-year period, and 25.38 per cent in 10-year period. Total for School departments increased from $3,744,200 in 1906 to $4,759,000 in 1911 and to $6,189,000 in 1916, or 27.1 per cent in 5-year period and 65.3 per cent in 10-year period. Total for County increased from $1,317,705 in 1906 to $1,549,295 in 1911 and to $1,864,142 in 1916, or 17.58 per cent in 5-year period and 41.47 per cent in 10-year period. These figures show that School expenses increased more than two and a half times faster, and County expenses more than one and a half times faster, than all other department expenses (combined), while City Debt requirements increased only about three-fourths as fast, or from $4,487,515 in 1906 to $5,314,523 in 1916.

The records of the Vital Statistics Division of the United States Census Bureau show the number of deaths during the period stated in these cities and the rate per 1,000 of population (estimated): Philadelphia, 13,502 deaths or rate of 7.66; Pittsburgh, 4,526 deaths or 7.63; Baltimore, 4,069 deaths or 6.78; Boston, 4,989 deaths or 6.35; Washington, 2,512 deaths or 6.25; San Francisco, 2,683 deaths or 5.61; Cleveland, 3,531 deaths or 5.24; New York, 23,622 deaths or 4.53. CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS RATIFIED, 1918.

The 19 Articles of Amendment submitted by the State Constitutional Convention in 1918 to the voters, for decision, were all ratified by majorities ranging in Boston from 15,232 on the question of Compulsory Voting, to 31,442 on Regulation of Advertising in Public Places. The most important question referred to the Establishment of the Popular Initiative and Referendum, Etc., the vote on which was:—Yes, 40,633; No, 16,257; Blanks, 19,669. Boston's majority of 24,376 for this amendment saved it from rejection, the majority against it in State outside Boston being 15,833. Likewise, Boston's majority for Compulsory Voting overcame the adverse majority outside by 5,735 votes. The majority for Biennial Elections of State Officers was 16,731. The most notable result of this extraordinary demand upon the voters was that 40 per cent (average) of the 76,559 who cast ballots failed to express any opinion as to 18 of the 19 questions submitted. Furthermore, 59 per cent of the registered voters failed to take any action on these important matters.

SPECIAL COMMITTEES ON MARKET RENTALS.

In December, 1918, the Mayor appointed a committee of three real-estate experts, viz.: Richards M. Bradley, F. Murray Forbes and Francis R. Bangs to investigate the subject of rents for space in Fanueil Hall and Quincy Markets, the 10-year leases of the tenants expiring on December 31 of said year. On March 6, 1919, this committee issued its report, recommending increase of rental of 15 per cent for 10-year leases and 7 per cent for 5-year leases, a charge of 75 cents per square foot per year for the second floor of Quincy Market and not less than $1.00 per foot for space on same divided into offices, also 15 cents a foot for storage space on attic floor. It was deemed advisable to use a portion of the revenue from increased rents in constructing a sanitary pavement around the market buildings, furnishing hot water washing facilities and ratproofing.

After receiving the report of this committee, also another by the Finance Commission, the Mayor appointed a further committee consisting of George A. Flynn (Chairman of Finance Commission), Patrick J. McGourthy (Supt. of Markets) and Karl Adams (Assistant Corporation Counsel) to pass upon all recommendations. Under date of July 30, 1919, this committee submitted its conclusions, which were substantially in agreement with the original committee's report as to rental charges for the next ten years, and recommended further that a charge of 50 cents a square foot be established for sub-sidewalk space, except that excavated within five years, for which the charge should be 25 cents a foot per year for the first half and 50 cents for the second half of the 10-year term. City Document No. 80, 1919, contains full details of this subject, with a list of the market leases and estimate of additional revenue expected.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT OR "GREATER BOSTON."

Consists in the most inclusive sense of 40 municipalities, including Boston, or 14 cities and 26 towns, all within 15 miles of the State House. The 7 cities in the first zone, i. e., adjacent to Boston, are these, viz., Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, Newton, Quincy, Revere and Somerville; the 6 cities in the second zone, not adjacent, are: Lynn, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Waltham and Woburn. The 6 adjacent towns are: Brookline, Dedham, Milton, Needham, Watertown and Winthrop; the 20 other towns are: Arlington, Belmont, Braintree, Canton, Cohasset, Dover, Hingham, Hull, Lexington, Nahant, Reading, Saugus, Stoneham, Swampscott, Wakefield, Wellesley, Weston, Westwood, Weymouth and Winchester. North and northwest of Boston are situated 11 of the cities and 12 of the towns; south and southwest, 2 cities and 14 towns. Area of Northern Division in 1915, 149.18 sq. miles and population 647,675, or a density of 4,342 per sq. m.; Southern Division, 219.62 sq. miles and 193,979 population, or density of only 883 per sq. m.; in the whole Metropolitan District, 3,851 per sq. m. In percentages Boston shows 10.5 p. c. of District's area and 47 p. c. of population; Northern Division, 36.2 of area and 40.8 of population; Southern Division, 53.3 of area and 12.2 of population. In the period 1910-1915, increase of population 2.18 p. c. larger in Northern than in Southern Division.

Total area of District in 1918, 409.5 square miles; population by census of 1915, 1,593,898. Estimated population in 1918, 1,708,860. Of the total population of the State, "Greater Boston" has 43 per cent; of total valuation, 54.66 per cent; of total value of manufactures, 32.56 per cent.

Total valuation of taxable property in District on April 1, 1918, $2,543,-169,288, i. e., for realty and tangible personalty, including bank stock, intangible personalty being exempt from taxation (except income therefrom) in 1917 and thereafter. The said total exceeds the 1917 valuation by $66,078,893, a gain of 2.67 per cent. Of said total 58.90 per cent was in Boston and 41.10 per cent outside. The four organized Metropolitan Districts existing for the purpose of constructing and maintaining certain extensive systems of public works under State control are as follows: Metropolitan Park District, established by chapter 407, Acts of 1893, including all the cities and towns except Lexington, and managed by a State Board of five commissioners; Metropolitan Water District, established by chapter 488, Acts of 1895, including 10 cities and 9 towns, and covering an area of 175 square miles; Metropolitan Sewerage District, established by chapter 439, Acts of 1889, consisting of the North System and South System, including 17 cities and towns in the former system and 8 in the latter, and covering an area of 225 square miles; the last two Districts managed by a single State board of three commissioners; Charles River Basin District, established by chapter 465, Acts of 1903, including all the cities and towns except Cohasset and Lexington, and in charge of the Metropolitan Park Commission.

Another Metropolitan District, viz., the Fire Prevention District, was organized in 1914, by the enactment of chapter 795. In this District are the 14 cities of "Greater Boston," but only 10 of the towns, to which were added Reading, Rockland and Wilmington, a total of 27 municipalities. The District is in charge of a single commissioner, assisted by a deputy commissioner, both appointed for a term of three years. The number of fire alarms in the District decreased from 13,315 in 1915 to 11,436 in 1917, and the fire losses in 1917 in District outside of Boston were less than those of 1915 by $360,400.

Total gross Metropolitan debt for water, parks, sewers and Charles River Basin improvements on July 1, 1918, $77,064,406; sinking funds, $23,724,-311; net debt, $53,340,095 or $1,252,123 less than in 1917. The division of this net debt was: Water supply, $28,269,187; sewers, $12,973,168; parks, boulevards, etc., $8,632,354; Charles River Basin, $3,465,386. Of the latter, $1,129,322 is payable by Boston alone, i. e., $643,359 for Boston Embankment, and $485,963 for Charles River Bridge. Of 1918 tax rates, the highest among the cities was Revere's ($26.80) and the highest among the towns, Saugus's ($27.95); the lowest among the cities was Newton's ($18.40) and among the towns, Dover's ($5.30). Mean tax rate of the 13 cities in the District outside of Boston, $22.64, or $1.44 in excess of Boston's rate. Mean tax rate of the 26 towns, $18.43, or 68 cents less than in 1917. Mean tax rate in the 23 cities and towns of Northern Division, $22.99; in the 16 of Southern Division, $15.96. There were in the District in 1917, 4,409 manufacturing establishments, value of product, $947,853,776; capital invested, $616,023,935; value of stock and materials used, $564,318,619; total wages paid, $156,950,905; average number of wage earners, 200,106 (maximum number 244,228); increase over 1916 product, 23.9 per cent. The Northern Division produced 46.26 per cent of District's total manufactures in 1915; the Southern, 7.15 per cent, and Boston alone, 46.59 per cent.

RETIREMENT LAWS AND PENSIONS.*

By Chapter 619, Acts of 1910, amended by Chapter 338, Acts of 1911, cities and towns are authorized to establish the retirement and contributory pension system therein set forth and applying to all municipal employees alike. The system has not become law in Boston because the City Council rejected it as impracticable. The classes of retired employees now receiving pensions are the police (since 1878), firemen (since 1880), school teachers (since 1908), judges, prison officers, Civil War veterans (since 1911) and laborers, skilled and unskilled. The largest class, i. e., the laborers, were provided for by Chapter 413, Acts of 1911, accepted by the City Council on October 26, 1911. Any laborer sixty years of age or over, who has served the City for twenty-five years and is physically incapacitated shall, at his request, be retired from service, receiving for the remainder of his life an annual pension equal to one-half of his pay for his final year's service. All retirements are subject to the approval of the Retirement Board, viz., the Mayor, City Auditor and City Treasurer, who serve without compensation. Retirement is compulsory when any laborer reaches the age of seventy.

Chapter 367, Acts of 1913, specifies that the amount of the annual pension payable to such retired laborers, skilled laborers, mechanics, etc., is not to exceed $360.

Chapter 765, Acts of 1914, provides that the Retirement Board, upon request of the Mayor and City Council, may retire any laborer employed by the City who, owing to injury, physical incompetency, old age or infirmity may be incapable of further performance of his work.

Chapter 63, Special Acts of 1915, provides that the Retirement Board may, upon request of the Mayor and City Council, retire any laborer who has been in the City's service for not less than fifteen years continuously and who, owing to injury, physical incompetency, old age or infirmity, may be incapacitated for further service.

Chapter 55, Special Acts of 1919, amends Chapter 367, Acts of 1913, by striking out the pension limit of $360 and fixing the annual allowance at one-half the compensation due for the final year's service.

* Concerning pensions paid to school teachers, see pages 146 and 147.

Veterans of the Civil War in City service, if incapacitated for active duty, are retired, with the consent of the Mayor, at one-half pay, provided they have been in the City's service for at least ten years. This is in accordance with Chapter 113, Acts of 1911, which went into effect March 8, 1911, the date of its approval.

As provided by Chapter 459, Acts of 1910, veterans of the Civil War in the service of any county if incapacitated for active duty may be retired by the County Commissioners, with the consent of the Governor, on half pay, when they have been ten years in the county service, and have reached the age of sixty-five. When necessary for the good of the service a veteran may be retired before reaching that age.

On August 1, 1919, the total number of pensioners was 1,287, divided as follows: Laborers, 290; teachers, 317; firemen, 301; police, 239; veterans, 108; various others, 32. Of the laborers, 256 were from the Public Works Dept. and 26 from the Park and Recreation Dept.

The total of City and County pension payments in the fiscal year 1918-19 was $655,547, i. e. $23,003 more than in 1917-18, divided as follows: Fire Dept., $187,916; Police Dept., $160,394; Public Works Dept., $140,414; Dept. of School Committee, $118,221; Suffolk County, $17,534; Park and Recreation Dept., $14,459; other departments, $16,609.

SENATORIAL, REPRESENTATIVE AND COUNCILLOR DISTRICTS IN BOSTON.*

The decennial apportionment, based upon the 1915 census of legal voters, established new political districts as stated in Chapter 270, General Acts of 1916. Those including one or more of the new wards of Boston are as follows:

SENATORIAL DISTRICTS.

First Suffolk, Ward 1, with Chelsea, Revere and Winthrop.—Second Suffolk, Wards 3, 4 and 5, with first two wards of Cambridge.—Third Suffolk, Wards 9, 10 and 11.—Fourth Suffolk, Wards 2, 6 and 12.—Fifth Suffolk, Wards 7 and 8.—Sixth Suffolk, Wards 13, 14 and 15.—Seventh Suffolk, Wards 17, 18 and 20.—Eighth Suffolk, Wards 16, 22 and 23.—Ninth Suffolk, Wards 19, 21 and 24. The Brighton wards, 25 and 26, are in the Norfolk and Suffolk District, with Brookline and Watertown. Total Senatorial Districts, 10, instead of 9, as formerly.

REPRESENTATIVE DISTRICTS.

Each ward of Boston, from Ward 1 to Ward 18 inclusive, constitutes a Suffolk district numbered the same as the ward. District 19 includes Wards 19 and 20; District 22, Wards 22 and 23; District 24, Wards 21 and 24. Districts 25 and 26 are Wards 25 and 26. Districts 20, 21, 23 and 27 are in Chelsea, Winthrop and Revere. The Boston districts have two representatives each, except as follows: the 5th, 6th, 7th, 19th, 22nd and 24th three representatives each; the 25th and 26th one each. The average ratio for the 165 Representative districts of the State is 4,702 legal voters and 22,383 population to each. Of the 54 Suffolk County representatives, Boston has 50.

COUNCILLOR DISTRICTS.

The Second, Third and Fourth Councillor Districts of the State are constituted as follows from the Suffolk Senatorial Districts: Second, 8th and 9th Suffolk, with the Norfolk and Suffolk District and two districts outside.—Third, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 6th and 7th Suffolk.—Fourth, 1st and 5th Suffolk with three districts outside.

RECENT DEPARTMENT EVENTS, CHANGES, ETC.

FIRE DEPARTMENT (See page 50).—Readjustment of salaries of privates approved by Mayor, Sept. 22 and effective on Sept. 26, 1919, i. e., minimum for all classes increased from $1,100 to $1,400. Number affected by increase 111.

INSTITUTIONS CONSOLIDATION ORDINANCE REJECTED.—The Mayor's message and proposed ordinance, submitted to the City Council under date of July 16, for the consolidation of the Infirmary, Children's Inst., Penal Inst. and Institutions Registration Departments was referred to the Executive Committee on July 21. On September 15 the ordinance was rejected, yeas 3, nays 6.

MAYOR, DEPARTMENT OF (See page 36).—GEORGE R. CANTY appointed Assistant Secretary at $3,000 per year, succeeding EDWARD E. MOORE, resigned.

POLICE DEPARTMENT (See page 131).—On September 9, 1919, at 5.45 p. m., 1,151 patrolmen (out of a total force of about 1,540) abandoned their duties after Police Commissioner Curtis had issued General Order No. 122. This order named nineteen patrolmen, after full hearing and trial, as guilty of the violation of sec. 19 of Rule 35 of the Police Dept. and suspended them from duty, as provided by Rule 40 of the department. On September 13 following, these men were dismissed from the force by General Order No. 125. One month preceding this action the Commissioner had issued General Order No. 110, adding to Rule 35 this clause, viz.: "No member of the force shall join or belong to any organization, club or body . . . which is affiliated with or a part of any organization, club or body outside the department." Membership in societies of War Veterans was excepted.

The effect of the patrolmen's walkout, leaving the City largely unprotected, was speedily disastrous, considerable rioting and looting of stores occurring on Sept. 9 and 10, during which eight persons were killed and thirty-three injured (i. e. hospital cases). Order was soon restored by the State Guard, of which about 7,500 were eventually on duty, aided by the patrolmen who remained in the service, also by civilian volunteers. They continued to effectually police the City for some weeks after the disturbance. In General Order No. 124 the Police Commissioner stated that on the advice of the Attorney-General the positions formerly held by the deserting patrolmen were in fact and in law vacant and that he must proceed to fill these vacancies with new men in compliance with the civil service laws. The Mayor appointed a Citizens' Committee of thirty-four, with James J. Storrow as chairman, to investigate the whole matter and submit a report. By General Order No. 128 the minimum salary of patrolmen was fixed at $1,400 per year instead of $1,100, to date from Sept. 18.

As first enacted, Chapter 3, Ordinances of 1919 (see pp. 173-176) provided for the annual inspection and licensing of jitneys by the Police Commissioner. As this official was unwilling to assume the duties, the ordinance was amended on Sept. 2 by substituting the Building Commissioner. The latter also declined to serve and finally the business was placed in charge of the Street Commissioners. The City Record of Sept. 13 contains a list of new jitney routes, stopping places and termini, with fares charged.

RULES OF THE CITY COUNCIL FOR THE MUNICIPAL YEAR 1919.

RULE 1. Unless otherwise ordered from time to time the regular meeting of the city council shall be held on every Monday at two o'clock p. m. Special meetings may be called by the president at his discretion, and by the city clerk for the purpose only of drawing jurors.

PRESIDENT.

RULE 2. The president of the council shall take the chair at the hour to which the council shall have adjourned and shall call the members to order, and a quorum being present, shall proceed with the regular order of business. In the absence of the president the senior member by age present shall preside as temporary president or until a presiding officer is chosen.

RULE 3. The president shall preserve decorum and order, may speak to points of order in preference to other members, and shall decide all questions of order, subject to an appeal. Any member may appeal from the decision of the chair, and, when properly seconded, no other business, except a motion to adjourn or to lay on the table, shall be in order until the question on appeal has been decided. The question shall be put as follows:

"Shall the decision of the chair stand as the judgment of the council?" The vote shall be by a roll call, and it shall be decided in the affirmative unless a majority of the votes are to the contrary.

RULE 4. The president shall propound all motions in the order in which they are moved, unless the subsequent motion shall be previous in its nature, except that, in naming sums and fixing times, the largest sum and the longest time shall be put first.

RULE 5. The president shall, at the request of any member, make a division of a question when the sense will admit of it.

RULE 6. The president shall, without debate, decide all questions relating to priority of business to be acted upon.

RULE 7. The president shall declare all votes; but if any member doubts a vote, the president shall cause a rising vote to be taken, and, when any member so requests, shall cause the vote to be taken or verified by yeas and nays.

RULE 8. The president shall appoint all committees, fill all vacancies therein, and designate the rank of the members thereof.

RULE 9. When the president of the council or the president pro tempore shall desire to vacate the chair he may call any member to it; but such substitution shall not continue beyond an adjournment.

MOTIONS.

RULE 10. Every motion shall be reduced to writing if the president shall so direct.

RULE 11. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible; but a motion to strike out being lost shall not preclude amendment, or a motion to strike out and insert.

RULE 12. No motion or proposition of a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment.

RULE 13. When an order or resolution relates to a subject which may properly be examined and reported upon by an existing committee of the city council, such order or resolution shall, upon presentation, be referred to such committee. When a motion is made to refer any subject, and different committees are proposed, the motions shall be put in the following order:

1. To a standing committee of the council.
2. To a special committee of the council.

Any member offering a motion, order or resolution, which is referred to a committee, shall be given a hearing on the same by the committee before a report is made thereon, provided he so requests at the time of offering the order or before final action by the committee.

RULE 14. After a motion has been put by the president it shall not be withdrawn except by unanimous consent.

RULE 15. When a question is under debate the following motions only shall be entertained, and shall have precedence in the order in which they stand arranged:

1. To adjourn.
2. To lay on the table.
3. The previous question.
4. To close debate at a specified time.
5. To postpone to a day certain.
6. To commit.
7. To amend.
8. To postpone indefinitely.

RULE 16. A motion to adjourn shall be in order at any time, except on an immediate repetition, or pending a verification of a vote; and that motion, the motion to lay on the table, the motion to take from the table, and the motion for the previous question, shall be decided without debate.

READINGS.

RULE 17. Every ordinance, order and resolution shall, unless rejected, have two several readings, both of which may take place at the same session, unless objection is made, provided, however, that all orders for the expenditure of money presented to, or reported upon by a committee of, the council, shall lie over for one week before final action thereon. Whenever the second reading immediately follows the first reading the document may be read by its title only; provided, that all orders releasing rights or easements in or restrictions on land, all orders for the sale of land other than school lands, all appropriations for the purchase of land other than for school purposes, and all loans voted by the city council shall require a vote of two-thirds of all the members of the city council, and shall be passed only after two separate readings and by two separate votes, the second of said readings and votes to be had not less than fourteen days after the first.

RECONSIDERATION.

RULE 18. When a vote has been passed any member may move a reconsideration thereof at the same meeting, or he may give notice to the clerk, within twenty-four hours of the adjournment of any meeting except the final meeting, of his intention to move a reconsideration at the next regular meeting; in which case the clerk shall retain possession of the papers until the next regular meeting. No member shall speak for more than ten minutes on a motion to reconsider.

RULE 19. When a motion to reconsider has been decided, that decision shall not be reconsidered, and no question shall be twice reconsidered unless it has been amended after the reconsideration; nor shall any reconsideration be had upon the following motions:

To adjourn.

The previous question.

To lay on the table.

To take from the table.

To close debate at a specified time.

A motion to reconsider may be laid on the table or postponed indefinitely, and the effect of such action in either case shall be to defeat the motion to reconsider.

CONDUCT OF MEMBERS.

RULE 20. Every member when about to speak shall rise, address the chair, and wait until he is recognized, and in speaking shall refrain from mentioning any other member by name, shall confine himself to the question and avoid personalities. Any member who, in debate or otherwise, indulges in personalities or makes charges reflecting upon the character of another member shall make an apology in open session at the meeting when the offence is committed or at the next succeeding regular meeting, and, failing to do so, shall be named by the president or held in contempt and suspended from further participation in debate until said apology is made.

RULE 21. No member shall speak more than once on a question when another member who has not spoken claims the floor, and no member speaking shall, without his consent, be interrupted by another, except upon a point of order.

RULE 22. No member shall be permitted to vote on any question, or serve on any committee, where his private right is immediately concerned, distinct from the public interest.

RULE 23. Every member who shall be present when a question is put, where he is not excluded by interest, shall give his vote, unless the council for special reason shall excuse him. Application to be so excused on any question must be made before the council is divided, or before the calling of the yeas and nays; and such application shall be accompanied by a brief statement of the reasons, and shall be decided without debate.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

RULE 24. The following standing committees of the council, and all other committees, unless specially directed by the council, shall be appointed by the president:

1. A committee, to be known as the Executive Committee, to consist of all the members of the council.

2. A committee on Appropriations, to consist of all the members of the council, to whom shall be referred such appropriation orders as may be submitted to the council from time to time.

3. A committee on Branch Libraries, to consist of five members of the council.

4. A committee on Claims, to consist of five members of the council, to whom shall be referred all claims against the city arising from the act or neglect of any of its departments. They shall report annually a list of the claims awarded or approved by them, and the amount of money awarded or paid in settlement thereof.

5. A committee on County Accounts, to consist of five members of the council.

6. A committee on Finance, to consist of all the members of the council, to whom shall be referred all applications for expenditure which involve a loan.

7. A committee on Fire Hazard, to consist of five members of the council.

8. A committee on Inspection of Prisons, to consist of five members of the council.

9. A committee on Legislative Matters, to consist of five members of the council, who shall, unless otherwise ordered, appear before the committees of the General Court and represent the interests of the city; provided, said committee shall not appear unless authorized by vote of the city council, and shall not, unless directed so to do by the city council, oppose any legislation petitioned for by the preceding city council.

10. A committee on Ordinances, to consist of all the members of the council, to whom shall be referred all ordinances or orders concerning ordinances.

11. A committee on Parkman Fund, to consist of five members of the council, to whom shall be referred all matters concerning the Parkman property, or the expenditure of the income from the Parkman Fund.

12. A committee on Printing, to consist of five members of the council, who shall have the charge of all printing, advertising or publishing ordered by the city council, as one of its contingent or incidental expenses, and the supply of all stationery or binding for the same purpose. The committee shall fix the number of copies to be printed of any document printed as above, the minimum, however, to be four hundred; and they shall have the right to make rules and regulations for the care, custody and distribution of all documents, books, pamphlets and maps by the city messenger.

13. A committee on Public Lands, to consist of five members of the council, to whom shall be referred all matters relating to public lands.

14. A committee on Soldiers' Relief, to consist of five members of the council, who shall determine the amount of aid to be allowed to soldiers and sailors and their families and submit a schedule of the same to the city council monthly.

Spectators will be allowed in the gallery of the council chamber when the council is in session, and no one will be admitted to said gallery after the seats are occupied. The city messenger shall enforce this rule.

BURIAL GROUNDS.

RULE 28. No permission for the use of land for the purpose of burial shall be granted until a public hearing shall have been given by the city council, after due notice has been served upon abutters, on the application for such permission.

SMOKING IN THE COUNCIL CHAMBER.

RULE 29. No smoking shall be allowed in the council chamber when the council is in session.

MEETINGS.

RULE 30. No meeting of any committee shall, without the consent of all the members thereof, be called upon less notice than twenty-four hours from the time the clerk shall have mailed the notices or despatched them by special messenger. No committee, unless authorized by an order of the city council, shall incur any expense. No committee meeting shall be called later than one hour immediately preceding the time set for any regular meeting of the city council, nor shall any committee remain in session later than the hour named for any such regular meeting.

FORM OF VOTES.

RULE 31. In all votes the form of expression shall be "Ordered" for everything by way of command, and the form shall be "Resolved" for everything expressing opinions, principles, facts or purposes.

TRANSFERS.

RULE 32. Every application for an appropriation to be provided for by transfer shall be referred to the executive committee unless otherwise ordered, and no such appropriation shall be made until the said committee have reported thereon.

CONSIDERATION OF PETITIONS.

RULE 33. No petition, remonstrance, resolution or other communication submitted by any improvement association, civic society, club or other unincorporated organization, or its officers, shall be considered by the city council or printed in its proceedings unless such organization shall have filed with the city clerk a statement, sworn to by one of its officers, specifying the number of members in good standing, the time and place of meeting and a list of the officers for the current year.

AMENDMENT AND SUSPENSION.

RULE 34. The foregoing rules shall not be altered, amended, suspended or repealed at any time, except by the votes of two-thirds of the members of the city council present and voting thereon.

REPORT OF THE CITY PLANNING BOARD
BOSTON, MASS.

CITY OF BOSTON
PRINTING DEPARTMENT
1919

IN CITY COUNCIL, January 20, 1919.

Ordered, That an edition of fifteen hundred copies of the report of the City Planning Board, dated November 18, 1918, and entitled "The North End," be printed as a city document, and the expense of such edition be charged to the appropriation for City Documents.

Passed. Approved by the Mayor January 23, 1919.

Attest:

W. J. DOYLE,
Assistant City Clerk.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

BOSTON, November 20, 1918.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of the City of Boston:

DEAR SIR,— In accordance with the provisions of chapter 494 of the Acts of 1913, pursuant to which the members of this Board were appointed, we have made “careful studies of the resources, possibilities and needs” of the district known as the North End, “particularly with respect to conditions which may be injurious to the public health or otherwise injurious in and about rented dwellings,” and have prepared plans for the development of the district “with special reference to the proper housing of its people.” We have also studied the existing improvements and the amenities of the district, the public services that are now maintained in and for its benefit, and possible plans for extension or modification of those services.

The results of these investigations, studies and designs we present herewith as a report, together with a set of plans. In presenting these records and recommendations we realize that we may be criticised for suggesting improvements from which, under existing laws and customs, the direct financial return to the public treasury will not be sufficient to cover the cost. We believe, however, that some changes must be made, and will be made, in the district, and that such changes as are made will prove more efficient if executed in accordance with a definite and complete general plan; and we further believe that the entire plan, if adopted to be carried out as opportunity offers, will be justified by the improvement in living conditions over which the city is the official guardian, and upon which the welfare and prosperity of the municipality is absolutely dependent.

Certain of the improvements herein recommended should, we believe, be made at once; others may be postponed; but in order to make the plan effective, definite building lines should be at once laid down wherever practicable under existing laws. Other proposed extensions that cannot be established under existing laws should be adopted as definitely proposed streets, to be opened when demanded, or, better yet, should be established under special legislation.

Respectfully submitted,

THE CITY PLANNING BOARD,

R. A. CRAM, Chairman.

JOHN J. WALSH.

HENRY ABRAHAMS.

ELISABETH M. HERLIHY, Secretary.

I.—LOCATION, BOUNDARIES, SIZE, CHARACTER.

The area considered as the North End is a distinct community of practically one hundred acres, entirely cut off from all other residential districts in and about Boston, with waterfront activities on the north and east, and commercial industries on the south and west.

The area devoted to residences at the present time is nearly identical with that described by the original shore line. Although this area has been greatly extended by filling, thus allowing for the expansion of the residential district for a time, the boundaries of the housing section have been in recent years, and continue to be to a certain extent, forced back by the encroachment of commercial interests. How far this will continue cannot be determined, but the character of occupancy of the district at the present time, and the rate of change in the last half century, do not suggest any very material changes in the near future.

Originally the North End was a peninsula, but with the construction of the canal through the Neck, following the line of Blackstone street, an island was formed of about $63\frac{1}{2}$ acres. With the filling in of the canal and flats, this area was increased to practically 100 acres, of which nearly 70 acres are devoted to residential purposes. The remainder, on the south and east sides of the district, adjacent to the market and the business sections, especially along Fulton street, is largely devoted to industries and has never been used for residential purposes.

Bounding the entire area, the broad streets of Washington, Causeway, Blackstone, Clinton and Commercial were constructed. These arbitrary boundaries determine a definite area and this seems the most practical unit for purposes of study and comparison.

During the early history of the city, and up to the time of the Revolution, the North End was an important residential center, and on the slopes of Copp's Hill — the most important of the hills of the early colony — some of the fine old houses are still to be seen. A series of progressive changes have taken place, however, until now it is chiefly a tenement district, so congested that it has already necessitated much regulation and many costly improvements, but is still greatly in need of wholesale reformation if living conditions are to be made wholesome and agreeable.

II.— HISTORICAL.

The North End in the early days was divided into a number of large lots along a few lanes or roads. The map prepared by George Lamb from conditions recorded in the Book of Possessions of 1645 shows a settlement in Boston centering along Washington and State streets — now the business center — and the North End (Fig. 3), with Hanover street as the main artery, a causeway approach across the flats from the West End and a shore road around the greater part of the district.

Although the large irregularly shaped lots thus constituted have since been divided and subdivided, their original boundaries have been largely instrumental in determining the plan of the present day. A complete network of streets and alleys has developed with relatively large blocks between streets of reasonable width, and many back lots approached only by narrow and crooked passage-ways.

These changes have been gradual, to meet the demand of immediate necessity, with little thought for the ultimate results, which were not then foreseen, but are now most emphatically brought to the attention of the people as being detrimental to the welfare of the city. Fortunately the greater part of the filled areas to the east and west have been carefully planned and today are less in need of further public attention.

Justin Winsor in "The Memorial History of Boston" states that in 1676, following the great fire of that year, the first established street lines were staked out by the selectmen.

The same historian further says that "In 1692 a law was passed forbidding the erection of any wooden building over 8 ft. in length or breadth and 7 in ht., and in 1700 an act recites that this provision has been constantly set aside; and while it would be too severe a punishment to destroy all that had been erected, yet that such bold and open contempt might not pass wholly unpunished, and to deter others from doing the like in future, a fine was imposed not exceeding £50 for one offense on all who had so offended. But larger discretion was given to the governor and council to grant licenses."

In 1718 the first factory was built in Boston, at the corner of Tremont street and Hamilton place. This factory, Mr. Winsor states, to have been the memorable result of the "spinning craze" which took possession of the town shortly after the arrival of a number of Irish spinners and weavers, bringing the implements of their craft. Some time later factories were started along the waterfront in the North End, now North street, and a part of Commercial street.

The Bonner map of 1722 (Fig. 4) and the Burgiss map of 1728 (Fig. 5) show a very considerable change in the city. The Old State House was distinctly the center, with business buildings on Washington street running north and south, and on State street and Long Wharf to the east. The principal streets in the North End, which are nearly identical with the important streets in that portion of the city today, were largely built up. In the thirty-six blocks then comprised in that district there was ample back yard space, with no evidence of congestion of buildings. The canal through Blackstone street, a mill pond on the west, and piers extending out

About the time of the Revolution a marked change took place in the character of the North End. In 1784 there were 680 dwelling houses and tenements and 6 meeting houses. In 1786 the toll bridge to Charlestown was opened.

FIG. 5.—MAP MADE BY WILL BURGEISS IN 1728.

A survey by Osgood Carlton in 1795 shows continued filling toward the east, and soon after, in 1804, the filling of the mill pond, which covered a period of twenty-five years, was begun. Mr. Winsor states that between 1790 and 1800 there were three mills for meal, lumber and chocolate on the canal, now Blackstone street, and along the waterfront streets at the north side and along Commercial street there were factories for brass and iron, cannon and bells and earthenware, and on Charter street combs were made.

The plan of 1814 by J. G. Hales shows the boundaries of the solidly built-up blocks in the city, from Dock square, through Washington and Water streets, Liberty square and Broad street to India Wharf, with the Old State House and State street still the center. It shows the North End developed along the three main arteries, North street, Hanover street and Salem street, with the bridge to Charlestown from Prince street and the scheme for streets across the Mill Pond. Far out from the original shore line, east and north, a number of piers extend, containing many buildings, probably largely warehouses and stores.

In 1833 Blackstone street was laid out on the line of the old canal, as that waterway had been abandoned. The Mill Pond had been filled and the North End had again become a part of the main land of the city.

Mr. Winsor, in his history of Boston (Page 45, Vol. 4), further states:

. . . The aggregate amount expended in the widening and the extension of streets from 1822 to 1866, a period of forty-four years, was but $4,418,283 in the city proper, and in a footnote he adds:

The North End received much the largest share of the improvement funds, Blackstone, Commercial, Court, Friend, Hanover, North and Union streets, having had the sum of $1,142,234 expended upon them; and numerous other streets, small sums, amounting to very much in the aggregate.

In the same volume Mr. Winsor tells that the filling between wharves for the formation of Atlantic avenue, 1868 to 1870, cost $2,400,000, making it the most costly street in the city except Washington street, and but little less than that.

In 1874, when the first complete atlas was prepared by G. M. Hopkins, the North End was filled with crowded buildings, the land was cut up into many small holdings, rear yards had mostly disappeared and many interior lots had become occupied. Lots under 1,000 square feet in area, and even of only 200 or 300 square feet in area in various parts of the North End, were covered with small buildings, fronting on narrow courts and places, many only 6, 8 and 10 feet wide. Conditions were bad, and as these buildings became old and dilapidated the problem intensified.

The map of today, prepared from the recent atlases and from personal observation, shows a fairly definite line between the industrial and the residential areas, and from the records of the past and the present tendencies it seems fair to assume that this line will be but little changed in the near future. Opening of new streets would doubtless lead to increased land values, and possibly to commercial invasion, but the North End is isolated, is separated from the office district by the market district, and bids fair to retain its present character.

III.—CHANGES TAKING PLACE.

With the moving away of many of the old families a gradual change took place in the North End. The buildings were divided into smaller apartments to meet the demand for cheaper rents; tenements were built, and overcrowding resulted, both in buildings and on the land. The increased demand led to a spreading out over the newly filled area, west of Washington street, and even on to the piers along the water front. A few of these still remain at Battery street and at Eastern avenue, but most of them have given way to other uses.

The general tendency at the present time is toward concentrated habitations, covering all available space and extending to five or six stories in height; although, in many of the buildings, local retail business is claiming the ground floors.

Hanover street, through the center of the North End, leading directly from the heart of the city, is lined on both sides with local stores, but is still largely residential, and this fact suggests that other and less direct streets, even if greatly improved, would probably remain also largely residential in character.

In a few isolated cases, especially near the city center, entire buildings are being taken over for business purposes. A few of the outlying residential areas are being superseded by wholesale commercial activities, while the stables and shops are giving way in the interior of blocks to stores and residences.

With the enactment of more rigid health laws and regulations, and the untiring efforts of city officials and philanthropic workers, the crowding in rooms and the lack of sanitation and of ventilation have been greatly relieved, but the small lot facing on an inadequate open space still remains, while the demand for habitations in the district seems to be greater than ever. Some improvement is being made in the spacing of buildings on the land, especially where small, unsatisfactory holdings are brought together under a single ownership, while land values are increasing in a large part of the district.

With the loss of the private yard the need for open spaces has become intense. Through the opening of school yards and playgrounds some relief has been afforded, and in the past many improvements have been made in street areas, but conditions are still inadequate and the present activities for betterment by the city are far too small.

Two opposing forces are active in the North End today. The vigorous community interests of the people, together with the nearness of the region to the center of the city, render the locality especially inviting; while the suburban districts made more available through improved transportation facilities, together with an abundance of light and air, and the possibilities of employment in the increasing suburban industries, prove an attraction to many. Upon the balancing of these influences, together with the possible increased need of the area for commercial uses, the future of the North End will depend.

IV.—THE NORTH END AS A POSSIBLE IDEAL TENEMENT DISTRICT.

Since people are permitted to live in concentrated city communities, whether in tenements, apartments, hotels or institutions, the injuries resulting therefrom should be reduced to a minimum, and all possible improvements made for the welfare of the occupants.

If tenement houses can be designed, constructed and maintained so that disease and crime can be kept down, privacy and family integrity preserved, children given a fair start, and life made reasonably agreeable, then their existence may be justified, but such tenements must be much better than the average now found in the North End. Since under present economic conditions, tenements must be maintained, either as temporary abiding places or permanent houses, those factors necessary to healthful living, that cannot be had in the building, must be provided outside and chiefly at public expense. With the growing appreciation of the need for such expenditures, the question of the value of the tenements to the city as a whole becomes more important, and the time may come when it will prove practicable to provide homes elsewhere with greater individual advantages. Until such homes are provided the tenements will exist, and public provision, at whatever expense, must be made as a supplement to them, and to work toward the development of an ideal district. At the present time the city provides most of the accessories to such dwellings, including public streets, schools, park lands, and service and protection agencies; and further, it regulates the remaining area to insure a certain amount of light and space to the tenant, but if satisfactory tenement conditions are to be established more stringent laws must be enacted.

FIG. 6.—VIEW OF CHARTER STREET LOOKING NORTH FROM HANOVER STREET.

Buildings mostly four and five stories high, on very deep lots; not conducive to healthful conditions on a narrow street.

Through public and private enterprise the residential property has increased in value until today it is assessed at about twenty million dollars, a valuation from which the return to the city through taxes is a considerable sum, which should be sufficient to warrant the investments of the past, the annual costs for local public service, and a fair share of the general expenses of the city.

To determine how near the city may approach an ideal condition for that greater portion of the North End now devoted to housing is a question of vital importance. Under present laws and customs the condition most to be desired is the public care and control of all necessary open spaces, with sufficient building and property regulations to insure wholesome conditions. Some protection should also be afforded to private courts and back and side yards, now often fenced off from one another, and neglected or subjected to all sorts of undesirable uses. Such a plan can be carried out, and should be, even though the cost be great, and the immediate returns be more largely in human life and character than in taxable values.

V.—REHOUSING AND DECENTRALIZATION.

It would be possible for the city to cause the abandonment of the North End as a residential district since the enforcement of rigid restrictions and regulations on land of high valuation leads to more expensive building and increased rentals, and further public improvements lead to still higher land values. As higher rentals are demanded the population becomes more concentrated, and is forced to depend still more on public advantages or seek homes in other sections of the city.

This process may continue gradually under present methods of improvement until the provision for housing accommodations in the North End will actually begin to decrease. Such a climax has not yet been reached, and is not likely to be soon under present conditions, judging from the demand for lands and homes and the continued increase in population.

The maximum capacity of the North End for living purposes under existing laws and regulations can be approximately determined. It is well beyond the present number of residents, but is being approached gradually. By the adoption of a plan or plans for raising the minimum requirements for accommodations to a higher standard, the city would evidently reduce the maximum capacity, but would also force owners to improve their property and thereby increase its value.

The city of the future certainly will not permit congestion to go beyond a certain limit. If that limit can be established at once, great economic waste can be prevented. Up to a certain point reasonably satisfactory conditions may exist, and to that extent rehousing in the North End should be encouraged. When that limit has been reached, growth should cease, or, to that limit, the population should be reduced. Such reduction means decentralization. By the development of other sections of the city, and the improvement of rapid transit lines, and other facilities, decentralization is now being encouraged and will be fostered to a still greater extent. Any extensive changes in the plan or the regulations of the North End will necessarily disturb a number of the residents and may work temporary hardship, but it is quite possible that, with the assistance of public and private agencies, many of those displaced will move to better quarters.

In the case of the destruction of tenement houses to make way for the South Terminal Station, a careful record was kept by the Associated Charities, who reported as follows:

NINETEENTH ANNUAL REPORT, NOVEMBER, 1898, PAGE 40 ET SEQ.

The houses vacated were on the side of the New Union Station. They were occupied for the most part by very poor families, families which were occasionally, if not permanently, dependent upon charity for a part of their scanty living. It was thought that the erection of a station in a district of this kind would change the nature of the entire district. Hence the original investigation was extended to twelve families in the adjoining streets, but thus far the change has had no effect there.

Thirteen families were visited who were living upon the immediate site of the station, and were all obliged to move at about the same time. They furnish an illustration of the effect upon very poor families of a forced migration caused by the demolition of their tenements. This has always been a factor in the problem of better housing. It is said that the poor must live somewhere, and, if their tenements are destroyed, they will have no place in which to live. Are not poor tenements better than none? Or, if we destroy a certain number of poor tenements, will it not result in overcrowding in the neighboring tenements, and hence make the real condition of the tenement classes worse than before? Is it true that families occupy poor tenements because they can get no better at the same price? These are vital questions in the tenement-house problem, and it is primarily with them that this investigation is concerned.

The families were visited before and after they moved. The tenements were examined, also the buildings, with special reference to the light and air admitted and the rent paid in each case. Each tenement was then marked on a scale of ten according to its relative desirability, ten representing the highest grade.

In addition, the general condition of the family was noted, particularly the size of the family, the occupations of those who were at work and their earnings.

A few of the families had lived in their tenements a long time. One family had occupied their tenement for thirty-seven years, a second for twenty-one years, a third for sixteen years, and a fourth for twelve years. The remaining families moved more frequently, but they had averaged about four years each in their tenements. In fact, nearly all of them were old inhabitants of the district.

The general result of the investigation, therefore, shows that the greatest advantage was realized in case of those families which moved from the lowest grade tenements. From these tenements the families moved to others which afforded better accommodations, and which noticeably improved the tone of the family life without any increased cost of rent. The change from the medium grade and higher grade tenements, however, although it resulted, like the others, in improved conditions, was more apt to be accompanied by an increased cost of rent. And, if the change was made to a tenement very much superior to the previous tenement, the improvement in condition was apt not to be accompanied by corresponding advance in the tone of the family life.

If plans for the improvement of the North End are carried out in a way to leave usable building lots of fair proportions, and if these are consistently built upon, the results should prove beneficial even to those who might seek homes elsewhere, as in the case of the South Terminal Station clearing, while better living conditions would be established for those who remain in the district with an appreciable area for parks, playgrounds and open spaces.

VI.—JUSTIFICATION FOR A CITY PLAN.

Many changes and progressive improvements have been made by the city and by private owners in the North End, but no definite plan has been considered for the completion of these activities, and until the city takes a large share in the development of the district, no plan can be successfully carried out. If a business concern will tear down, redesign and rebuild its plant as a good investment, a city can well afford to do the same. A number of cities have already begun this work of demolition and rebuilding, which will doubtless continue on a large scale.

Upon the character of the skeleton formed by the street system and the private lot lines, about which the development of private property takes place, depends very largely the welfare of the occupants. In the North End this is probably more evident than in any other section of the city and can be remedied only at considerable expense. Unless a general plan is adopted changes made in a small way and by sporadic efforts will result in great waste of materials and funds. While it is not necessary that such a general plan be immediately carried out in its entirety, provision should be made so that those portions not executed should be made binding for later developments.

VII.—BASIS FOR A PLAN.

In order to determine what plan will best serve the district from every point of view, a survey has been made and diagrams have been prepared to show land values, building values, building heights, street widths, lot depths, and block depths, use of buildings, density of population, directions of travel, grade conditions, schools and parks and many other factors that serve to indicate present conditions, show the trend of development, point out what changes would most benefit the community, and compare relative importance and cost of the various improvements. Such facts, gathered from many sources, have been used as a basis for the maps and diagrams herewith presented.

Such facts as the loss to the city through low vitality, sickness and death, and the burden upon public institutions that may be in part at least due to unwholesome conditions that have been studied at length by the city authorities and various charitable and philanthropic organizations, have been accepted as already established.

From the evident needs of the district, together with the conditions shown on the diagrams, a general plan for comprehensive development has been prepared, as well as a number of special plans for local improvements.

VIII.—LAND SUBDIVISIONS.

The private lot as a housing unit is primarily of greatest interest to the owner, but its ultimate character is a matter of public concern inasmuch as it is largely dependent upon local public streets.

In the development of new districts there is a general tendency on the part of most cities toward standardizing the depths of lots, widths of local streets and units of lot frontage. The standards adopted are usually based on a general average of the various needs of all localities of each district. Local streets when made 40 or 50 feet in width serve all ordinary requirements, but if much wider or narrower become a matter for specific consideration.

The depth of lot is more serious than the unit of frontage, for frontage can easily be varied while depth is fixed in single or double units, thus constituting an important feature in the development of the community.

The great blocks in Washington, in the heart of the city, designed for amplitude and splendor, have led in places to the worst of slum conditions because the excessive depth was not needed, and by subdivision, rear lots on alleys and courts have developed. In New York the standard depth of 100 feet has been almost everywhere adopted, and has been found fairly satisfactory, though too deep for ideal tenements and too shallow for large industries and institutions.

Other cities have adopted standards of 100 or 125 feet and in some cases deeper. In a few instances 80 feet and even less is now the prevailing depth, especially in Philadelphia, where small single houses are built on lots as small as 14-foot frontage by 45 feet in depth.

In the North End, on the filled lands west of North Margin street, reasonable uniform lots were planned, 80 and 100 feet in depth. In most cases these have proved satisfactory, though a few have been subdivided so that buildings in the rear face on narrow streets, courts or alleys. In the greater part of the North End, however, successive dividing of irregular lots has resulted in a great lack of uniformity in size and shape. In almost every case those fronting on wide streets afford good housing conditions and need little further public planning. The very deep lots, that have remained unchanged for a number of years, or have resulted from more recent combinations, present bad features at the rear, particularly if they have a narrow frontage. In blocks of excessive depth, where a rear lot is blanketed by a shallow one, land values are depressed, as for example, Hanover street (Fig. 7), where there is a great variety of sizes and depths of lots. Assuming that this particular street can well serve lots to a depth of 70 feet, it is apparent from the accompanying map and diagram that a large proportion of the frontages are not so well developed as they should be.

For instance, a certain lot has a frontage of 70 feet on Hanover street, and a depth of 30 feet, assessed at $22 per square foot. There is another lot in the rear, 40 feet in depth, assessed at $3.25 per square foot. From these two the city receives less taxes than would be the case if the properties were joined, i. e., the value of a strip of land 1 foot wide on the front lot, 30 feet deep, is $660, while on the rear lot, 40 feet deep, it is $130, or a total of $790 per front foot, including both lots. There is little evidence to show that the assessment on the front lot would be materially reduced had the properties been joined, since an adjacent property which is almost 70 feet deep is assessed at $22 a square foot, but even if lowered to $20 per square foot, the value per foot frontage would be $1,400, or over 75 per cent ($610) more than under existing conditions. Where the front lot is deeper than 30 feet, the increase in value would probably be less than 75 per cent, but for those under 30 feet it would probably be more.

From the map it appears that practically one half of the entire street frontage is made up of lots of less than 60 feet in depth, with an average assessment somewhat lower than in the case cited. This represents a considerable annual loss in value, through no fault of the owners or of the city, but because of local property lines that have never been revised.

While there are comparatively few cases of great loss in value or of serious menace to the community from excessive depth of lots on Hanover street, there are a certain number that would have greater value if the rear portions were made a part of adjacent properties, facing on other streets, or that could be improved by the making of new public streets or other open spaces.

A standard lot depth of 100 feet may serve ordinary requirements for lots of fair frontage on reasonably wide streets, but for the narrow average width of streets in the North End, and the class of buildings now erected or likely to be erected in the near future, 100 feet in depth is in most places too great.

A 60-foot lot, fronting on a street of reasonable width, with a small rear yard, can be built over in such a way as to provide wholesome living accommodations. In the rear of lots in excess of 60 feet in depth there are large areas of land in which now most of the seriously menacing conditions in the North End are to be found.

On the map (Fig. 8) are shown all the streets 25 feet or more in width, together with public open spaces, and all back lands more than 60 feet distant. These back lands cover nearly 13 acres, or 13 per cent of the total area of the district, and lie almost wholly within that portion devoted to housing. In the blocks between Hanover and Salem streets, a distance of 300 feet, and between Charter and North Bennet streets, a distance of 450 feet, there are many small lots for which no satisfactory public open space is provided. Irrespective of restrictions imposed by present building laws, with street and property lines as they now are, practically all that land more than 50 feet from existing reasonable street lines is now occupied, or is destined to be developed in a way to become a more serious problem in the future.

Whether private owners can be led by new laws to develop the interior of the great blocks in a way to become a creditable or even a tolerably wholesome section of the city, seems doubtful because of the peculiar shape and sizes of the many land holdings, both small and large. Much has been done already to legislate against unwholesome conditions and more can doubtless be accomplished, but as long as the ground plan of the properties is radically wrong, undesirable conditions will continue to exist and will probably increase.

The rear lands that are too remote to be served by existing streets of reasonable width can be improved only by providing more ample public open spaces. In the construction of new streets it is possible for the city under present laws to take the remnants of lots that would otherwise prevent satisfactory development, and resell those remnants under suitable agreements or restrictions. It is also possible to take additional lands under the law of excess condemnation in case such a recourse seems necessary. In London and other cities entire blocks have been wiped out, and replaced by new and better buildings on improved lines, new streets have been opened where they will best serve, and lots have been made of such depths and sizes as will prove best suited to local requirements.

Any great improvement necessitates a large investment of public funds, and the question may reasonably be asked whether they are really warranted. Studies have been made for a number of changes in the North End, and are shown on the general plan hereinafter described. This general plan, if carried out as opportunity offers, will be justified by the improvement in living conditions over which the city is the official guardian.

IX.—TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES.

Atlantic avenue and the adjacent piers are now used for railroad and water transportation and form an important factor in the city activities. Although they may be affected somewhat by the development of waterfront activities in South Boston and East Boston, these areas can never supplant the Atlantic avenue frontage entirely, as they are farther from the heart of the city.

The passenger traffic lines (Fig. 9) that affect the North End as they now exist are the Elevated through Atlantic avenue and Commercial street, the subway under Hay-market square, and the surface cars through Washington and Hanover streets, Atlantic avenue and the northern portion of Commercial street, with the ferries at Battery street and Eastern avenue.

Through the center of the North End, running almost north and south, is Hanover street, a busy, important thoroughfare, which adequately serves the needs of the district between Washington and Commercial streets.

FIG. 10.—CONTOUR MAP OF THE NORTH END.

Contour interval — one foot.

An additional thoroughfare is no doubt needed, intersecting the area in the other direction, and connecting the Charlestown Bridge by a direct route with the market district. From the corner of Atlantic avenue and Clinton street to the entrance to the Charlestown Bridge the direct distance is a little less than 3,000 feet, while around Blackstone street through the crowded district it is over 3,600 feet, and around Atlantic avenue it is over 4,300 feet. Thus a new street between these two points would materially lessen the distance for general travel.

The cross-town travel from Clinton street to Haymarket square now crowds through Blackstone street and will probably continue to do so. East of this, vehicles going from Atlantic avenue to Haymarket square and from Atlantic avenue to Causeway street and the bridges to Charlestown generally follow Richmond, Parmenter and Cooper streets, or Richmond, North and Prince streets. For them the way is far from satisfactory and can be remedied only by the widening, straightening and extending of existing streets or by the opening of a new thoroughfare.

To widen Cross street, as has been many times suggested, would mean cutting through costly property, as shown on the diagram of total high valuations (Fig. 27), and would mean extensions through valuable buildings both to the southeast and the northwest. To improve the Parmenter or the Prince street route will mean the opening of a new street part of the way, but this improvement would pass through property of a much lower average valuation and would serve to open up several narrow streets, such as Salem street, whose great length now tends to make the lack of width still more serious.

The contour map (Fig. 10) shows that farther north no practical line for an important street on easy grades can be found. This indicates in a fairly definite manner the logical route for a thoroughfare to intersect Hanover street through the center of the North End District.

X.—DISTRICTS OR ZONES AND AREAS OF OCCUPANCY.

The downtown section of the city, including the North End and other nearby areas, is practically divided into zones or districts by the uses prevailing in each section. (Fig. 11.) The outlines of the various zones are somewhat irregular, but the separation is remarkably distinct and appears to be changing but little. The location and boundaries of each zone have resulted from gradual development, with no definite plan and with little controlling regulation.

The general office and financial zone centers around the Old State House and does not reach as far as the North End. The retail shopping zone extends north on Washington street to Haymarket square and down Hanover street. The market zone extends into the North End along and near Commercial, Fulton and Blackstone streets. The transportation and the storage and industrial zones follow the waterfront and Atlantic avenue and extend in a narrow strip between the market district and the housing zone and along Washington Street North. The North End District is devoted most exclusively to housing and accessory uses.

The importance of definite lines of separation is pointed out in a recent report of the New York Board of Estimate and Apportionment, Committee on Building Districts and Restrictions, in which they say that in general the maximum rentals are obtained where this segregation and uniformity is most complete. They show that legislative control of the zones is needed because "the natural trend toward segregation and uniformity is not strong enough to prevent the sporadic invasion of a district by harmful buildings or uses," and that the danger of such invasion is great because "there are certain kinds of industry that seem to be free from any segregating force, that can locate indiscriminately throughout the city, in business or residential districts, especially in the sections from which their labor supply is recruited. Such factories tend to reduce values and rents in the districts they invade and to form the most serious menace to the attractiveness and value of the sections invaded."

The need for district protection in the North End has not been very great, but with the large investments being made for housing, and the public expenditures involved, the need for protection is becoming more acute, and while there is today a great need for new buildings to supersede many of the old houses, the work of rebuilding is likely to be further postponed as long as the land has a speculative value for other uses, even though that value is not likely to be realized. And so long as there is danger of depreciation of present values through undesirable invasion, lack of restrictions probably tends to discourage the much needed investment of private funds.

The "Housing District," the principal section of the North End, is in turn subdivided into several less definite sections by the character of occupancy. In some places the buildings are almost entirely boarding or lodging houses. Other sections near the Old North Church, on Hull and Salem streets especially, still contain single houses, section of which contains about one third of the population and about one third of the housing area.

The actual areas of the districts and zones in acres may serve to show their relative importance and the character of the North End.

To the recreational area might be added also that portion of the school yards now opened for recreation a part of the time.

XI.—RECREATION GROUNDS AND OPEN SPACES.

Nearly 8 per cent of the area within the district surrounded by the wide streets, together with the North End Beach, is now devoted to park, playground and beach purposes.

The areas are approximately as follows:

Recreation Pier.

Land for playground 3.7 acres.

Flats (available only for bathing) 3.0 acres.

Copp's Hill Terraces 0.6 acres.

Prince Street Playground, acquired in 1897, 1899 and 1901 0.4 acres.

Total 7.7 acres.

In addition to these acres there is some open space around the school buildings, especially at the Hancock

School, amounting to about 0.8 acre, and there will be more about the new building on Charter street.

One large open space, at present not available for purposes of recreation, but possessing distinct historical value, is the Copp's Hill Burial Ground, still occasionally used for interments. It comprises a little over two acres and is situated on the highest point of land in the North End, overlooking the Copp's Hill terraces and the North End Beach, to the harbor beyond. The grounds are now walled up to a level considerably above that of the surrounding streets, with approaches from Hull and Charter streets. The area is fenced in, and is open to the sight-seeing public, subject to certain regulations and restrictions.

A small but favored open space is North square, which provides a fair sized outdoor meeting place, in which the residents of the district congregate. There is thus in the North End a total of nearly eleven acres, including three acres of beach and flats, of publicly owned property not devoted to building purposes. The question has been justly raised as to how much area is required in the congested portions of a city to offset the lack of public yards and the distance from the open country. Five per cent of the area in each city has been suggested as a minimum to be set aside for play spaces and small parks, with additional space of possibly another 5 per cent in a few large parks. Although over 5 per cent of play space is already available in the North End, it is, owing to the character and locations, inadequate, and the tremendous crowds living in the district turn at every opportunity to the public parks and streets for rest and recreation. A few can go to the more remote parks, to Boston Common or the banks of the Charles River; a few can get out on to the harbor, especially by the ferries; nearly all can get away occasionally, but the majority must turn to the streets or the local open spaces for their daily outing. The population of over 30,000 living on less than 100 acres should be able to turn out into public open spaces on Sundays and holidays, and especially on hot summer evenings. For them most of the local streets are too narrow and too high walled to afford much relief. Of the total population in the North End it seems fair to assume that at times nearly one half would turn to nearby playgrounds and open spaces if such were available. Whether more than half must be provided for is questionable, as some will be detained at home, some will go to the more remote places, and many will remain in the doorways and adjacent streets.

Under the prevailing method of directing the use of the playgrounds it has been found that persons can be kept healthfully busy or amused at the rate of 1,000 to the acre. Under favorable conditions, with segregation of those who prefer quiet rest, those who wish to exercise vigorously, and those who wish to play quietly in small groups, and by providing for them pleasant surroundings, with plenty of light and air, it is possible that this proportion may be justified. On the basis of 1,000 persons to the acre, one half of the present population of the North End would require 15 acres or nearly double the present area available. However costly the additional space may prove it will still be necessary for the city to do more for the district if health and comfort, and even a fair chance for producing strong and useful citizens, is to be made possible.

XII.—DISTRIBUTION OF POPULATION.

The population of the North End, according to the 1915 census, is 35,210, or an increase of practically 30 per cent over the census figures of 1905 — 27,165. These figures include the persons residing on nearby waterfront properties, 248 in 1915, and 324 in 1905, or a decrease of 76 persons in this particular locality. Of the total number, slightly over 6,000 were registered as regular pupils in the schools of the district. It has also been estimated that there were fully 4,000 children under the school age, or a total of over 10,000 children under approximately fifteen years of age. A marked decrease is apparent in the upper grades of the elementary schools which, in the opinion of the School Committee, is probably due to business conditions, as revealed by the great increase in the number of working certificates issued during the school year.

The fifteen years previous to 1905, according to figures taken from a report of the Bureau of Statistics of Labor, show an increase of about $7\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, or a population of approximately 25,000 persons in 1890.

FIG. 16.—MAP SHOWING DISTRIBUTION OF POPULATION 1905.
Each dot represents 20 persons.

The population of the North End will doubtless continue to increase as long as there is space available, and this space may be greatly enlarged since the present average amounting to about 1,500,000 square feet, were rebuilt, and if one third thereof was required for new streets, courts and yards, there would still be available for building 1,000,000 square feet of space. If the lower floors were entirely used for stores and the four floors above for apartments, this would mean 4,000,000 square feet of floor space in apartments, 25 per cent of which might serve for halls, baths and wall spaces, leaving 3,000,000 square feet available for living rooms. The building law requires that rooms shall be not less than $8\frac{1}{2}$ feet high in the clear, and if all rooms were of this height there would be over 25,000,000 cubic feet of air space in the tenements. Under present health regulations requiring 400 cubic feet of space for adults and 200 for children, it is estimated that 12,000,000 cubic feet in all would serve, or less than one half the space estimated to be possible in building not over five stories in height on the area now used for housing.

From these facts it would seem evident that concentration may yet become more serious and that the population may eventually double in five-story buildings, or may become greater in higher buildings. It is not likely that all space will be used to its utmost capacity, especially as the present property lines are not favorable for the most intensive use of the lands, and under private ownership complete rebuilding is not likely to occur, but it is possible that many buildings, hotels and even apartments may go higher than five stories, and that the present buildings may be remodeled and made higher to increase their capacity and thus a much greater population may come to live in the North End than is now there.

A comparison of the distribution of population of 1905 as against that of 1915 is indicated on the map (Figs. 16 and 17), each dot representing twenty persons. These facts are plotted from census records for each block. For purposes of convenience, four arbitrary districts have been established as indicated in the following table:

XIII.—HOUSING.

The great problem of the North End residential district today is housing. The conditions under which the people are living are of vital importance to them and to the city as a whole, and although still far from ideal, they are better than they were twenty-five years ago.

Mr. Lawrence Veiller, in his book "A Model Housing Law" (1914, page 4), defines what is generally understood as the housing problem as follows:

The housing problem is the problem of enabling the great mass of the people who want to live in decent surroundings, and bring up their children under proper conditions, to have such opportunities. It is also to a very large extent the problem of preventing other people who either do not care for decent conditions or are unable to achieve them from maintaining conditions which are a menace to their neighbors, to the community, and to civilization. . . . Housing reform is to be sought in many ways, but chiefly through the enforcement of wise laws; laws which will regulate the kind of houses that may be built, will compel the improvement of the older buildings as they fall into disuse, and will require all buildings in which human beings live to be kept in a sanitary and safe condition.

But legislation is not the only way. Much must be done through education, education of both tenant and landlord, and even of the community itself. The force of example some think will do much, but thus far that expectation has not been realized.

Considerable also can be accomplished by wise management, by the building of houses of a more attractive type; by encouraging the development of garden cities; by stimulating those who like country life to live in the country or in the suburbs; by improved transit, thus making it easier for men to live out of town and journey to their work, and especially by the intelligent planning of towns and cities.

Housing evils as we know them today are to be found in dangerous and disease-breeding privy vaults, in lack of water supply, in dark rooms, in filthy and foul alleys, in damp cellars, in basement living rooms, in conditions of filth, in inadequate methods of disposal of waste, in fly-borne disease, in cramped and crowded quarters, in promiscuity, in lack of privacy, in buildings of undue height, in inadequate fire protection, in the crowding of buildings too close to each other, in the too intensive use of land.

Much can be accomplished towards overcoming such conditions by the city requiring:

First.— That all private lands have ample public street frontage.

Second.— That all new dwellings and tenements be designed to afford suitable living accommodations.

Third.— That all old houses not properly adapted to present uses be suitably remodeled or demolished.

Fourth.— That all habitations be maintained in good repair and in sanitary condition.

Fifth.— That ample means be provided for the enforcement of laws.

Housing conditions in the North End and in the city as a whole have been made the subject of numerous investigations and reports. In 1888 Prof. Dwight Porter of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology prepared at the request of the Eighth Ward Conference of the Associated Charities a "Report Upon a Sanitary Inspection of Certain Tenement House Districts of Boston." The result of his investigation led Professor Porter to disclose that if the same density of population existed throughout the city as prevailed in the six acres near Haymarket square, bounded by the outer lines of Charlestown, Cooper, Salem and Cross streets, it would mean a total population of 8,000,000 people.

A most exhaustive survey of the housing conditions of the rent payers in Boston in 1891 was published by the State Bureau of Statistics of Labor, together with a report on the sanitary condition of the tenements and the nationality and employment of the occupants.

The total number of persons living in the North End at that time, according to this survey, was 25,259, of which over 90 per cent were living in rented apartments,—a percentage which there is little reason to think has been materially changed in the meantime.

In June, 1895, a special committee of the Common Council

appointed to consider what improvement could be made in the tenement districts of Boston, and what legislation was needed to carry out such improvements, submitted a partial report. In the opinion of this committee, "In the North End today the tenement houses are a serious menace to public health." Their recommendations were largely confined to the enforcement of sanitary measures, while asking for further time to continue their investigation. Their final report was submitted in January, 1896, emphasizing the fact that the more densely populated a particular place is, the greater the death rate, and suggesting the division "of the city into sanitary districts and the keeping of a tabulated statement of the deaths in each of these districts, believing that such tables would be of great value in bringing about the desired reforms, with reference to the tenement question."

In the report of the agent of the Tenement House Committee of the Twentieth Century Club, in 1898, attention is called to a preceding pamphlet, "Some Slums in Boston," describing 64 houses which were typical of numerous insanitary homes in different parts of the city,— dozens of them in the North End District,— and declaring that "if Boston is to improve the condition of its tenement house districts radical action must be taken."

In 1899 the Bureau of Statistics of Labor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts discussed in a labor bulletin certain tenement house conditions in Boston. The North and South Ends were canvassed with a view to ascertaining actual conditions and securing data for comparison with the results obtained six years previously. The returns indicated an improvement in general conditions in the North End, due to the creation of the North End Park and the renovation in whole or in part of some of the houses under the inspection of the Board of Health. Some of the worst houses had in the meantime been closed to habitation, materially improved or demolished, while the gradual advance of business upon residential buildings had caused the removal of other houses with the result that the average number of persons to a room was slightly higher in 1898, when the second canvass was made, than in 1891.

The commission appointed by Mayor Collins in 1903 drew up "An Act Relative to the Construction and Maintenance of Tenement Houses in the City of Boston," endeavoring to codify in the act all existing provisions of law which appeared to the commission to be of permanent value, and to make such changes or additions as seemed to be in the interest of the future. The commission urged the closest possible coöperation between the Health and Building Departments, and suggested that the time might arise when a separate Tenement House Department might be necessary for the proper administration of tenement house laws.

The Housing Committee of the Boston-1915 organization discussed in its report to the Board of Directors in 1910, transportation, fire hazard, schemes for improved housing and the congestion of population in certain parts of the city and its bearing on the health and growth of the city as a whole. A minute investigation was made of ten blocks, two of which were in the North End, as being typical of the districts in which they were located. In the opinion of the agent who supervised these investigations, "In the North End there are no real indications of decreasing congestion, and there is much evidence of decidedly greater congestion."

In London, where slum conditions long ago became intolerably bad, the County Council has taken heroic measures to provide better homes and to prevent the spread of bad conditions over new areas. Local authorities there may control the future growth of the towns by establishing limits for business, manufacturing and residential districts, by providing in advance for street locations, widenings and other public services; and prevent overcrowding by limiting the number of houses to the acre.

In the city of London, under private ownership, no ordinary process of law could re-establish healthful conditions. The city has taken large areas and up to 1915 had displaced 19,336 persons and provided for 15,904 on about 52 acres divided in 10 areas, at a net cost of about five million dollars. One of the largest tracts, that known as the Boundary Street Area, rebuilt in 1890, displaced 5,719 persons, provided for 4,700 persons, 18 shops and 77 workshops, on about 15 acres of land. In this plan the living rooms averaged 152 square feet and bed rooms 103 square feet of floor area, and every habitable room received direct light at an angle of not less than 45 degrees.

This development is shown on the accompanying illustrations (Figs. 20, 21 and 22). The estimated cost was practically one and a quarter millions of dollars. This provided for approximately 300 persons to the acre at a net cost of about $83,000 an acre, $2 per square foot of land, or $266 per person provided for.

The condemnation of insanitary dwellings has taken two forms in American cities: First, the clearing of whole areas either for purposes of some specific public improvement, such as street widening, bridge approaches, etc.; or, second, because they were slums and it was for the good of the community to get rid of them. In such cases the slums have been replaced with small parks and playgrounds. In New York a number of clearings have been made, notably in the case of Mulberry Bend, which was one of the worst slums New York had. It was located not far from the City Hall, and was a center of disease and crime. It was demolished under authority of a special act of the New York Legislature in 1887 and replaced by a park. Under authority of the same act several years later another slum was similarly destroyed, and Thomas Jefferson Park created on the site. About 1895 the notorious "Bone Alley," which was characterized as a "ragpickers' paradise," was also destroyed and in its place Hamilton Fish Park was created.

The city of Washington has a special board for the condemnation of insanitary tenements. A special branch of the Government under the Engineering Department of the District of Columbia was established and has for a number of years proceeded with the demolition of insanitary dwellings.

Other cities in recent years have done considerable in tearing down individual insanitary tenements. The city of Cleveland, Ohio, has done a vast work in this respect, having destroyed 405 buildings of this kind in four years and held vacant 566 others in that period.

In the meantime Boston has not been idle along similar lines. During the year 1917, 521 dilapidated and unsafe buildings were ordered taken down, 172 repaired and 57 houses ordered vacated as being in a generally insanitary condition. A great deal of work has also been done by the Health Department in regard to basement rooms. It is their intention to continue this work until the entire ground is covered and the illegal occupancy of such rooms for living and sleeping purposes entirely abolished. Up to December 1, 1916, 855 basements were examined, 280 approved, 340 vacated and notices served on 235 others.

Up to the present time no American city has followed the example of certain European municipalities in erecting new homes upon the sites thus cleared which had previously been occupied with slum dwellings. There are certain economic factors entering into the method of replacing slum districts with park areas which has prevailed in this country up to the present time, such as the loss of taxable values in the demolition of houses, the dispossessing of tenants, and the initial cost as well as the annual maintenance of park properties. Where legislative provisions do not exist, or prohibit such improvements being handled as distinctly housing problems, laws should be enacted which would permit development in a manner similar to what has been successfully carried out in foreign countries.

An amendment to the Constitution, empowering the General Court to authorize the taking of land to relieve congestion of population and to provide homes for citizens, was approved and ratified at the state election of 1915 by a vote of 284,568 to 95,148.

This amendment provided that:

The General Court shall have power to authorize the Commonwealth to take land and to hold, improve, subdivide, build upon, and sell the same, for the purpose of relieving congestion of population and providing homes for citizens; provided, however, that this amendment shall not be deemed to authorize the sale of such land or buildings at less than the cost thereof.

The Homestead Commission thereupon introduced a bill into the Legislature embodying a plan and the method of carrying it out whereby, with the assistance of the Commonwealth, homesteads or small houses and plots of ground may be acquired by mechanics, factory employees, laborers and others in the suburbs of cities and towns. An appropriation of $50,000 was accordingly made for this purpose and the experiment is already well under way in a suburb of Lowell.

The extent to which the aid of cities and towns may be invoked along similar lines is indicated by the following amendment to the Constitution, which was submitted by the delegates to the Constitutional Convention and ratified and adopted by a majority of the qualified voters of the Commonwealth on the sixth day of November, 1917:

ARTICLE XLVII.—The maintenance and distribution at reasonable rates during time of war, public exigency, emergency or distress, of a sufficient supply of food and other common necessities of life, and the providing of shelter, are public functions, and the Commonwealth and the cities and towns therein may take and may provide the same for their inhabitants in such manner as the General Court shall determine.

The general requirement in Boston that buildings shall not be higher than two and one half times the width of the street is far from satisfactory for crowded tenements where special and much more exacting legislation is needed. In most European cities the laws regulating the height of buildings are based on street widths, and the maximum height permitted is in almost every case under 80 feet. In London the maximum is 80 feet, except by special consent of the London County Council, while on streets less than 50 feet wide no building is permitted higher than the width of the street itself. This would mean that on a 40-foot street a 4-story residence could be built, thus conforming to the requirement that no habitable room shall receive direct light at an angle of less than 45 degrees. This requirement, however, is probably too drastic to be hoped for in the North End.

The present heights of buildings in the North End are shown on the map (Fig. 23). There are many buildings of over five stories, especially along and near the outside streets. Some are commercial buildings, six or more stories high, on large lots, along or near Washington, Blackstone, Fulton and Commercial streets, near to the market or the central business districts. Others are of five stories, more generally distributed, but chiefly on fairly wide streets or other public open spaces. A few are on the interior of ill-adapted lots. Three and four story buildings are distributed generally except near the market, around the Hancock School, and near Haymarket square, where a greater height prevails. Less than three-story buildings are few, most of them on narrow or interior lots in various parts of the district.

Inside the residential district the proportionate areas of lots devoted to buildings of each number of stories as shown on Fig. 23 have been estimated to be as follows:

4-Story	56.0 per cent
3-Story	26.7 per cent
5-Story	14.8 per cent
6-Story	1.4 per cent
2-Story or less	0.9 per cent
7-Story or more	0.2 per cent
Average height, 3.90 stories.

To raise the average height to five stories would mean an increase of about 30 per cent in total floor area, and would mean a considerably larger increase above the first floor, since only 15 per cent of the total area of the district is devoted exclusively to residential purposes. This indicates the increased residential capacity that may reasonably be expected in the North End in the future under existing conditions and regulations.

The question of fire escapes in the North End, where buildings are so closely crowded, is a serious one. The present law permits the use of balconies in certain cases, which provide egress through the adjacent buildings. Such balconies are not considered safe in New York, and seem open to criticism here, as they would prove useless in a fire that spread to the adjacent building, or if passage through the adjacent building were barred.

The location of exterior fire escapes is bad in many cases also, as they are too near to windows and to inflammable materials that may render them useless, though in existing buildings better locations may not be available.

Fireproof halls are much needed in the old buildings, especially where buildings are so crowded that outside fire escapes are likely to be rendered useless.

In the enforcement of the housing laws and regulations the city is today handicapped by the fact that the owner alone is held responsible for making changes or improvements, and it is often difficult to reach him.

A law is operative in New York which gives the city authority to proceed in making improvements, if the owner fails to do so, and to place a lien upon the property in case he fails to pay the proper costs, thereby saving the city officials many delays and difficulties.

The housing problem in Boston today is largely a question of improving tenement house conditions or encouraging the decentralization of population by proper suburban development. In some other cities the housing problem has taken a different turn. In Philadelphia, called the city of "A Million People in Small Houses," the small two-story houses in blocks are very popular, and they have spread as a matter of business. In Washington the single house prevails, though better homes for low rentals have been provided by the Sanitary Improvement Company and the Sanitary Housing Company, who have built large numbers of two-flat houses in blocks with two, three or four rooms each to rent from $7.50 to $13.50 per month.*

Improved housing can be brought about through the investment of private capital, especially as a public spirited enterprise with limited dividends. Private capital is ordinarily invested to earn as large a profit as possible, and to take advantage also of all increases in property values, and the profits so gained are not ordinarily returned to the benefit of the tenants. The public spirited housing enterprises, on the other hand, are organized to pay only a limited income on the capital invested, merely large enough to attract sufficient funds, and in such an organization the surplus, if any, is retained to extend the housing operations.

The Sage Foundation Homes Company of New York is established on a 4 per cent basis with large funds available for housing enterprises. The Octavia Hill Association of Philadelphia is organized on a 4 per cent basis with a capital of $200,000. The Sanitary Improvement Company of Washington pays a 5 per cent dividend, has $500,000 capital, and now controls nearly a million dollars worth of property. The Boston Coöperative Building Company is limited by statute to 7 per cent, but pays 5 per cent. It is now capitalized at $300,000, and has a surplus of $100,000 more. It has property in the North End and other parts of the city, maintained with a view to "provide suitable homes for working people, and to benefit the people living in them."

Several new and extensive housing ventures have recently been started under coöperative private enterprise in manufacturing towns, such as those in Kenosha, Wisconsin, and Bridgeport, Connecticut, in which millions of dollars are now being spent to provide houses for the laboring man at a cost within his reach.

Present activities along this line in Boston serve little more than to indicate what might be done, but if more or much larger enterprises of a similar nature were to be established here they would go far toward solving the housing problem.

XIV.—VITAL CONDITIONS.

Many evils to both mind and body result from congestion and bad housing, reflecting directly not only on the business and social progress, but on the general welfare of the community and of the city at large. These evils are manifest not only in injury to the people themselves, but in the increased need for public expenditures to mitigate the evils or to afford necessary relief. Any attempt to prove these facts, or to estimate the expense in definite terms, is made extremely difficult because of the many factors that must be reckoned with.

As comparative statistics, such records as have been found available for the North End do not show alarming conditions of sickness or death, crime, disease, or delinquency that might be attributed to the environment. In fact, comparison with the city at large, or with other parts of the city where records of lower vitality are found, is not justified, since the vital effects of living in any district for a long or a short period can be measured only by a comparison of the conditions of the people on arriving, and at intervals thereafter, with one another or with those of their former associates.

Many of the people in the North End are recent arrivals that have come from the sturdy races of Europe, some from peasant life,—others from the southern European cities where, through many generations, they have persisted, in spite of crowded and insanitary conditions. The daily life of a large portion of the residents is spent in the open, in hard but invigorating work, outside the district, which tends to fortify them against the deleterious influences of the tenement and serves to maintain the average of health; but with the large number that are confined to the district, and the increase in the number that work in nearby factories, this advantage is likely to be less marked in the future.

The average annual death rate in the North End, about 16 per 1,000, is not so high as the average for the city. The average age of the residents of the North End is also lower than that for the city as a whole, due in part to the large number of immigrants in the prime of life who settle there and in part to the large number of children to be found in the district.

The birth rate is phenomenal, amounting to nearly 50 per 1,000 inhabitants in the last few years, while the average for the city is but little over 25. At the end of the first year the record for infants is still favorable, as the infantile death rate in the last few years is near 100 per 10,000 births, while that for the city as a whole is slightly higher. This fact again may be credited rather to the sturdy nature of parents and to the method of feeding than to the character of the surroundings.

Even though the children of the North End may have escaped epidemics and pestilence, and may have gained much from the advantages provided by the city and by private institutions, it is not to be expected that, having been subjected to the many disadvantages of a crowded tenement district during the formative and impressionable stages of growth, they will reach maturity so well fortified to resist the evils of congestion as were their parents or as were those more fortunate who have had the advantage of growth in the open country.

XV.—VALUATION AND FINANCE.

The valuation of real estate within the area surrounded by wide streets, as shown on Fig. 24, amounted in 1914 to about $32,000,000 (on the basis of $17.50 per thousand).

Of this amount one third is confined to a small section near the city center, as shown on the diagrams of high values. (Figs. 25 and 27.)

The 1914 valuation of personal property for Ward 6 ($35,018,100) is small compared with the city as a whole, and while the ward covers much more than the area of the real North End, the population is for the most part confined within the boundaries as defined by the wide streets.

Of the $32,000,000 land and building valuation in the North End nearly $3,500,000 worth is withdrawn from taxation as city owned property, including schools, library, fire and police stations, together with religious and charitable institutions. This means a corresponding reduction in the tax return and also that the city properties, valued at nearly $2,000,000, although free from tax levy themselves, must be cared for from municipal income.

The highest valuation of property is near the center of the city, following along the south side of the district, radiating northward along the main streets. Where adequate frontage facilities are lacking, land values are depressed. In spite of this, the valuation of property for residential purposes in the North End is high throughout. The most apparent opportunity for benefiting the district, and thereby justifying the investment of public funds, lies in the possibility of providing low priced lots with the public services which they now lack.

In order to show the variations in values, two base maps have been prepared, one showing the assessed value of lands per square foot; the other showing the assessed value of lands and buildings combined. From each of these maps two others have been made, showing the distribution of high values (Figs. 25 and 27), and of low values (Figs. 26 and 28).

The assessed value of land per square foot in the North End varies from about $60 in the most favorable business location to about $1 in the most remote and ill adapted sites. The value of the strictly residential properties varies less, but is still out of all proportion to the advantages for residential purposes. The properties of high valuation are used in part at least for store purposes, while nearly all properties that are used solely for residences are assessed at less than $5 per square foot. Property valued in excess of this must be paid for in part at least through other than residential uses. In New York tenement houses can be made to pay on land costing about $10 per square foot.

The financial loss to the city through improper subdivision of the land, with shallow front lots and deep rear lots, has been already pointed out. This loss in the North End may amount to a very considerable percentage of the gross value of the area. It should and may be remedied by encouraging combinations as a result of careful adjustment of taxes and by the establishment of new streets and open spaces in the blocks of excessive depths.

FIG. 28.—MAP SHOWING AREAS OF LOW COMBINED LAND AND BUILDING VALUATIONS, ASSESSED AT $10 OR LESS PER SQUARE FOOT.

To open new streets through the built-up areas will prove very costly, but it is possible if the housing laws are made more stringent and the method of local distribution of the cost more exacting, that improvements can become more largely self-supporting. Some, however, are needed chiefly for the good of the tenants, in which the cost to the city will be greater than can be assessed against the adjacent property. In such cases the city would be justified in paying a share of the costs, through the actual saving of life and health, the increased efficiency of the tenants, the reduction in costs for relief and protective agencies, and finally in the general rise in taxable values of the district.

Many improvements should be and doubtless will be made, but the costs should be paid for so far as possible from the local increase in values so produced, and further costs, which may increase the efficiency of the community as a whole, can justly be paid for by the city at large as a matter of business financing.

The question then as to what can or should be done at once, or from time to time as demands warrant it, is first, what can the locality logically be expected to pay; and second, what can the city as a business matter afford to invest in such improvements, either to keep up present values and conditions, or better, to improve conditions, increase values and lead to greater business possibilities.

XVI.—LEGAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE REQUIREMENTS.

While it may not be difficult to determine what is needed to make a section of the city more satisfactory, and even to show what can be done within the bounds of reason, the result of such determination is rendered comparatively valueless under the present methods of making piece-meal improvements, in the absence of a comprehensive plan, and of permitting developments today that preclude the desirable improvements of tomorrow.

Mr. Frank B. Williams (in "City Planning," Nolen) says:

A most essential step in the planning of a city is the establishment of the plan on such a basis of law that it cannot with impunity be violated or departed from. This step would be taken as soon as the plan has been formulated without waiting for any of it to be carried out. Wise planning anticipates present needs by many years in order that present construction may conform to and aid proper future development. Wise planning covers the whole city in order that it may be planned as a unit.

Present construction executes only such parts of the plan as immediate need demands and financial ability permits. Even the acquisition to any extent of the land needed in the future seems difficult and often impossible. Thus the plan is a pattern, to be filled in from time to time, and unless at the outset the city has some method of making a general adherence to the entire plan binding upon the landowners, it is sure to fail of realization.

Owing to the isolation of the district known as the North End it is not essential that the plan extend over all Boston, as the problems are practically all local in character.

A plan for district restrictions as to height of buildings, percentage of lot covered, use of the buildings and classes of construction more exacting than the present restrictions is needed, and if proved reasonable can be made effective with comparatively little new legislation. The great problem, however, is to establish a plan that will prevent changes involving costly, if not prohibitive, obstructions on all areas that may be needed for public purposes in the future.

It would be possible for the city to adopt a complete plan, take all the properties in question and pay for them, and lease or rent the buildings or portions of buildings until the time seems right for reconstruction. Such action was taken in Denver in a number of areas acquired for park and parkway extensions, where buildings were allowed to remain only a few years. Any such action on the part of the city would mean a large initial expenditure, and a necessity for concerted action over a period of years, and would require a definite assurance that the improvements will be made eventually, possibly at the rate of 5 per cent a year for a twenty-year period. To commit the city to such future action might raise a question of policy, and yet such action differs but little from that now followed of doing costly work and postponing the payment through bond issues.

As any general plan for the North End must necessarily involve relatively large expenditures, and since changes in the plans can be made in the future if warranted, it seems certain that a very considerable saving can be made to the city if the method of taking lands is revised to require that plans be filed, options obtained and all costs and proposed betterments determined before any taking is ordered. If takings be ordered only after such examinations have proved them reasonable, exorbitant demands or excessive jury awards can be avoided.

In the case of the new Fairmount Parkway in Philadelphia, which extends from the City Hall to a point on the banks of the Schuylkill river, the owners of the property involved testified in court at the beginning that its value was far greater than assessed, thus forcing the city to postpone the taking. Later the same owners again appeared to prove the real values of the property in order to secure an abatement from the increased taxes that followed their first action, and so made it possible for the city to acquire the property at a just valuation, and a cost far below that which would have followed less deliberate action.

The area devoted to housing in the North End will doubtless remain so for many years to come, and should be provided with an adequate amount of light and air. The restrictions as to air space per capita should and doubtless will be made more stringent, and should be still further conditioned on the size and position of windows both for light and for ventilation.

Most of the lot areas are already largely built over, but with rebuilding, except for corner lots, 20 per cent of the lot should be kept vacant.

XVII.—SPECIFIC IMPROVEMENTS
RECOMMENDED.

In the North End, as has been shown above, there are many blocks containing rear lots and inadequate streets and alleys that can never become satisfactory until some radical changes are made. In a few cases, as in the triangular blocks between Hanover, Battery and Commercial streets, small lots have been so effectually combined under single ownership as to permit of better developments. In other cases, as that of the blocks between Fulton and North streets, and between North and Hanover streets, south of Cross street, the present use of interior lands by industries makes the need for change less urgent, and not of such vital importance to the residential district. There are, however, eleven blocks, or groups of blocks, in the residential district, which are seriously in need of development in such a way, with public open spaces, as to provide adequate light and air.

There are thirteen other blocks in the district where conditions, although not so serious, are still in need of improvement.

There is also the block now owned and occupied by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company. Should this property be ever diverted from its present use to residential purposes, careful plans should be made for its subdivision and development.

To improve each of these several blocks various plans have been considered, and the most suitable for each that will at the same time serve best for the district as a whole has been worked out as shown on the general plan (Fig. 29). The proposed improvements have been numbered and described in detail in the following sections.

PROPOSED MAIN THOROUGHFARE. (Numbers 1 to 12, Inclusive.)

Between the Charlestown Bridge and the wholesale market and cold storage warehouses there is no wide main thoroughfare, so that produce teams coming, and going to the northern part of the city, Charlestown, and the districts beyond, become congested and delayed on the narrow streets through which they now have to pass. If a main thoroughfare were constructed to relieve these conditions, it would pass through the North End section of the city.

The most direct route at easiest grade, and passing through properties that are not so excessively high in value as to make the cost of constructing such a thoroughfare prohibitive, is indicated on the general plan by Numbers 1 to 12, inclusive.

Other possible routes lying to the northeast and to the southwest have been considered and rejected for various reasons. To the northeast steeper grades would be encountered between Hanover and Commercial streets; while between Hanover and Salem streets such a change would interfere with the present grouping of playground, schools and gymnasium. In the block beyond Salem and Thacher streets any change to the northeast would be obstructed by a modern mercantile building of higher assessed value than the properties to the southwest where the line is indicated; while between Thacher and Commercial streets traffic would be so complicated as to make a difficult approach to the Charlestown Bridge. If the line were moved still further south, it would complicate traffic arriving at and departing from Washington Street North.

If, on the other hand, an attempt were made to relocate this proposed street farther to the southwest, the property valuations would be much higher. The cost of construction in this location would be increased because the distance between Atlantic avenue and the Charlestown Bridge over such a route is longer. Also, the present proposed street lines include streets that already exist, such as Parmenter, Richmond and part of Endicott street, so that for a greater part of the way it means no more than widening streets already determined. On the general plan this proposed main thoroughfare is shown 80 feet between buildings.

FIG. 30.—BIRD'S-EYE VIEW OF NORTH END SHOWING PROPOSED MAIN THOROUGHFARE.

Block 87, bounded by Atlantic avenue, Richmond, Mercantile and Clinton streets, is divided by the proposed street as shown on the general plan (Number 1). This block is used as a wholesale market, divided by streets and alleys for convenience in loading and unloading produce. By a rearrangement of the buildings, and a relocating of streets and alleys, there will still remain an equal amount of floor space, and at the same time an outlet will be afforded for the proposed new thoroughfare to Atlantic avenue at a convenient angle.

From Mercantile to Commercial streets (Number 2) there is shown a widening of Richmond street on the south side, cutting through a five and one-half story building and leaving a slight remnant. Any widening on the north side would be prohibitive on account of the existing seven-story cold storage warehouse at that point.

Between Commercial and Fulton streets (Number 3) Richmond street should be widened the entire distance on the northeast side, through five and six-story buildings; and for about half the distance, between Commercial street and Chair alley on the southwest, through a four and one-half story building. In each case the property taken is under the same ownership or control as large adjacent holdings, so no excess taking need be made.

Between Fulton and North streets (Number 4) the buildings on the southwest side are well developed on relatively shallow lots, and should be left intact. Those on the northeast side, Block 72, can be cut back and still leave satisfactory lots consisting of two large buildings.

Between North street and Hanover street (Number 5) fairly high buildings line both sides of the street, but there again the widening can best be made on the north side by taking away a row of buildings and leaving fairly large lots on the new line. There will remain a small remnant which should be acquired to be sold to the abutters or retained as a part of the street.

From Hanover street to Salem street (Number 6), Parmenter street should be widened on both sides, and the lot lines on the southwest side of the bank relocated, com-binning remnant properties with excess takings, in order to provide building lots of advantageous proportions. The remnant properties remaining on the north side are under the same ownership as adjacent holdings.

West of Salem street and south of Cooper street the present arrangement of lots and streets is very bad. The new street should be extended by a diagonal cut across the corner of the block (Number 7). With the exception of properties at the northeast corner of Salem and Wiget streets (Nos. 92 and 96 Salem and No. 3 Wiget), the remaining portions of the block, as far as the alley, together with Bartlett place, should be combined and lot lines relocated providing advantageous frontage on the proposed new street. This change has been considered in connection with the improvement of Wiget street as discussed in Section Number 15.

Northeast of Cooper street (Number 8) the proposed new street line intersects the block, leaving a triangular area at the corner of Cooper and North Margin streets, of which the corner lot should be taken by excess condemnation and combined with the several remnant properties. By a short extension of Baldwin place, and an extension of the present alley from Prince street, and its widening from Noyes place to Baldwin place, an outlet is provided for all three on the new thoroughfare, at the same time doing away with the present excessive depth of the lot. On the northeast side of the proposed new street line, between Salem and Thacher streets, practically all of the present lot lines should be relocated in order to make proper provision for further development. The treatment of this block is further discussed under Section Number 14.

From North Margin street to Thacher street (Number 9)

FIG. 33.—PARMENTER STREET, LOOKING WEST, SHOWING CUSHMAN SCHOOLHOUSE AND CORNER OF SALEM STREET ON WHICH NEW BUILDING IS BEING ERECTED.

The construction of the proposed main thoroughfare would necessitate the removal of this building. The number of similar cases to be dealt with would depend largely upon the delay in establishing definite street lines.

a diagonal cut is made across the corner of the block, leaving several remnants which should be combined with adjacent lots to be taken by excess condemnation.

North of Thacher street (Number 10) the proposed street will pass through the center of a small block now largely owned by the Boston Coöperative Building Company. This will leave a triangle at the corner of Thacher and Endicott streets, which can be made to lend itself readily to the erection of a well located business structure. North Margin street should be discontinued between Thacher and Endicott streets and combined with the thin strip or remnants remaining on the northeast side of the new street line in order to provide building lots of adequate depth and frontage.

On Endicott street, between North Margin street and Lafayette avenue (Number 11), a small narrow block, now solidly built up to four or five stories in height, lies within the proposed street. A small strip along the northerly side of North Margin street will not be needed for street purposes and should be combined with adjoining lots to be taken by excess condemnation. Lafayette avenue, a narrow street leading to Prince street, should be widened as referred to in Section Number 40.

From Lafayette avenue to the approach to the Charles-town Bridge (Number 12) the property on the east side of Endicott street has for the most part no costly buildings. A few shallow remnant lots will remain, and might be combined under one ownership, or possibly disposed of to owners of adjacent property. At the corner an additional taking should be made to widen Commercial street as far as Prince street.

An appropriate name which suggests itself for this proposed new thoroughfare is "Lafayette Street." Little need be said in justification of this recommendation, particularly at this time when the nation is more keenly alive to the events of history, past and present, than ever before. The North End is already particularly rich in historical associations, and this proposed street, which would link up many of its attractive features, might well bear the name of one who rendered substantial service to this country in the War for Independence, and who did much to cement the amicable relations which have always existed between America and France.

ENDICOTT COURT WIDENING AND EXTENSION.

(Number 13.)

Endicott court is a narrow dead-end street, leading west from Endicott street. On the north side there is a row of small buildings that should be removed and the lots thrown into the street. The end of the court is blocked by a four-story building, No. 131 Washington Street North, that should also be removed and the court continued, thus providing a through street about 30 feet wide from Endicott to Washington street.

THACHER COURT EXTENSION AND WIDENING.

(Number 14.)

Thacher court should, by means of a short extension, be connected through to Endicott court. There will remain a small remnant which should be combined with adjoining property.

WIGET STREET WIDENING. (Number 15.)

Wiget street is entirely too narrow for satisfactory housing. It can be widened uniformly only by reducing the depth of already shallow and small lots and by cutting through valuable lots on Salem street. This would involve a very large expenditure of money and would not produce entirely satisfactory results. It would be possible to remove the central lots on the north side of the street, thus providing ample light and air for the remaining buildings, and a small neighborhood open space in the center.

The remnants, together with Bartlett place, which should be closed, and the lots fronting thereon should be combined and the lot lines relocated to provide advantageous frontage on the proposed main thoroughfare.

(Numbers 16, 17, 18.)

The improvement of Morton and Stillman streets was made the subject of a special report and recommendation as outlined in the third annual report of the City Planning Board. This investigation was undertaken at the request of representatives of civic organizations who were desirous of bringing about an improvement in existing conditions in the immediate vicinity of Morton street and the adoption of some plan for a wholesome development of the blocks in question.

The menace to life and health which has existed in the two blocks separated only by Morton street, a dark and narrow alley, is difficult to describe. Little light and air penetrated the lower floors of buildings on this street, which was only eleven feet wide, and between walls forty or fifty feet in height. The blocks covered about one and one half acres, which would make six or eight suburban house-

FIG. 36.—VIEW OF MORTON STREET, LOOKING WEST FROM SALEM STREET; 11 TO 14 FEET BETWEEN lots for half a hundred people, but here it was cut into over fifty lots and housed over a thousand people, and this with three of the outside corners occupied by large factory buildings that monopolized the best exposures. Between the two blocks, Morton street, eleven to fourteen feet in width, and three alleys, four to eight feet in width, afforded access to the buildings and served as the dooryards and playgrounds for many of the parents and children who had no better place to go. The alleys could not be kept clean and were often wet and foul. Sunlight seldom entered them and never reached many of the dismal homes in the crowded buildings.

These conditions were the result of gradual growth without design, foresight or even a fair appreciation of the seriousness of the situation. Nearly fifty years ago attention was called to the growing menace of overcrowding in buildings unfit for residence. Twenty-five years ago, before the rebuilding of a large section of the block, the city was urged to take the interior for a local playground. The tenants of the block were powerless to improve conditions; the owners could not without sacrifice of much of their invested savings, and relief could only come through philanthropic or municipal investment of relatively large sums of money.

The City Planning Board, therefore, made a careful study of this block, which was but one of a dozen similar large congested blocks in the North End, though it appeared to be one of the worst, taking into consideration every phase of the past, present and probable future conditions, and as a result of this study certain recommendations were made.

These recommendations provided for the removal of the apartment house opposite the end of North Margin street, through which space a street should be opened to Morton street. This thoroughfare might be curved to avoid cutting the rectangular lots on Morton street and to take advantage of the open space south of the Creamery. From the angle in this street a public passageway or alley could be made along the rear of the houses on Morton street through the existing passageway then privately owned. This would insure the maintenance of an opening much needed for light and air and fire protection. This passageway divided the Salem street frontage of the property, and could be relocated when buildings were replaced to follow the property line and thereby leave the lot in better shape for a larger building. While only about four feet in width near Salem street, the passageway could be wider the rest of the way. The street extension should be not less than twenty-five feet wide.

Between Cross and Stillman streets were practically six rows of buildings with only two reasonable frontage spaces, and both of these very narrow. With the removal of one row on Stillman street and one row on Morton street along the south side, there would remain only four rows, one between Morton and Cross streets that is very deep and needs a double frontage, one north of Morton street, and two on one lot near Stillman street that would doubtless be rebuilt as they were unfit and vacant. As a short street of local interest, Morton street was left narrow at each end where it passed between properties of high valuation. Between these points, after the removal of the row of buildings, would be a space fifty or sixty feet in width. If a narrow walk and a nine-foot roadway were carried along each side, the central area could be reserved as a small outing place for the neighborhood.

A few remnants of lots on the south side would remain.

FIG. 39.—PLAN FOR IMPROVEMENT OF MORTON AND STILLMAN STREETS, AND EXTENSION OF NORTH MARGIN STREET, IN A WAY TO LEAVE EVERY LOT WITH SUITABLE FRONTAGE, AND NO LOTS OF EXCESSIVE DEPTH OR EXTREME SHALLOWNESS.

These could be taken by the city as an added walk space, or those remnants owned by the owners of adjacent property could be left for space in which to reface the adjacent buildings, the others to be sold to adjacent owners also if desired.

The existing passageway to Cross street should be opened through as a public way, while Morton street and North Margin Street extension should be closed to general traffic to serve as a local recreation space.

Between North Margin and Salem streets, Stillman street was only about eighteen feet wide, but could have been made forty feet wide if the row of buildings along the south side were removed. This would involve some costly property, but would be offset in part at least by the increase in value of the large interior property which would then be located on the corner. Some remnants would also be left at the corner of the proposed North Margin Street extension that should be acquired by the city to be combined and resold.

The plan was for many months under consideration by the Mayor, the City Council, the Street Commissioners, the Finance Commission, the Chamber of Commerce, and the various interested charitable and improvement organizations. It received almost unanimous approval, though the Finance Commission advised delay until a complete plan for the city could be prepared. The Street Commissioners reported doubt as to the need for wider streets, and as to the legality of taking land for widening a portion only of a street, and proposed that more of the interior of the block be taken to be converted into a local playground of half an acre. On this basis the improvement is being made as shown on the general plan. As a playground problem the change is for the better; as a housing problem it drives out some additional tenants who might have remained under improved conditions, and it leaves less space and less inducement for the construction of better buildings with better surroundings. As a financial problem it represents more land acquired by the city at about the same first cost of $200,000, but it does not provide for the collection of betterments, and it probably will not lead to an increase in taxable values of adjacent property. It is estimated that the first plan would cost at the end of twenty-five years about $225,000 or less, as against $375,000 or more under the revised plan.

While the advantage of the larger area of playground to the neighborhood will be very great, and the need for it is evident, the question may well be asked whether ultimately it would not have been better to extend the improvement over a larger number of blocks, and to provide for housing a much larger number of persons under improved conditions than to provide a single playground at a cost that is not likely soon to be repeated in many of the other blocks that sorely need public attention.

NORTH HANOVER COURT WIDENING AND EXTENSION. (Number 19.)

North Hanover court, leading westerly from Hanover street, should be widened on the northerly side by the removal of four and five story brick buildings at the corner, leaving one small remnant under the same ownership as adjoining properties, and old wooden buildings in the rear, including at the back the narrow alley now known as Anthony place, thus eliminating two narrow and unsatisfactory passageways. It should also be extended to Salem street, through several lots now occupied by wooden houses under a single ownership.

BOARD ALLEY WIDENING. (Number 20.)

Board alley is a narrow foot-passage leading from Hanover street to North street, with an average width of a little more than four feet, lined on both sides by high brick buildings. The widening should be made on the northerly side, providing for a uniform width of forty feet. In this improvement remnants will be left that should be taken, together with all the small, unsatisfactory rear properties on the south side of Keith's alley, with which they should be combined to form better lots fronting on this new widening.

MECHANIC STREET RELOCATION AND EXTENSION.
(Number 21.)

Mechanic street should be widened in the central portion by acquiring the adjoining vacant land, and should be extended through to North street to meet the end of Ferry street. This improvement comprehends the taking of a five-story brick building fronting on North street and the passageway now running under a portion of this and the adjoining building.

MECHANIC COURT. (Number 22.)

Mechanic court, a small open space under the same ownership as the four-story brick houses by which it is surrounded on three sides, should be acquired by the city and preserved as a public open space.

LANGDON PLACE EXTENSION. (Number 23.)

Langdon place is now a dead-end street leading southerly from North street. It is at the present time connected with Fulton street by means of a passageway under existing buildings. These buildings should be taken, and Langdon place extended through to Fulton street. This improvement leaves two remnant corner properties, fronting on Fulton street, which should be readily disposed of.

NORTH SQUARE IMPROVEMENT. (Number 24.)

The center of North square is now much used as a public gathering place and could well be protected by a curbstone and made a simple graveled area with a few seats, and a tree or two to make it more attractive.

PAUL REVERE PARK (PROPOSED). (Number 25.)

In the block which contains the Paul Revere House there are several lots of excessive depth, and a number of dwellings on interior lots without proper street frontage or adequate light and air. Certain of these lots should be taken to form a small public park, which will answer the requirements of the immediate locality as a small recreation space, a feature which is now lacking. The buildings adjacent to this proposed park will thereby be afforded an attractive outlook, together with a sufficient amount of light and air. At the same time it will constitute an appropriate setting for the Paul Revere House itself which has been, and should continue to be, carefully preserved by a historical society. It will also materially lessen the fire risk in connection with this ancient wooden building.

LOTHROP PLACE. (Number 26.)

Lothrop place, a private passageway running southeast from Hanover street, should be taken over by the city, thus affording a direct connection from Hanover street to the proposed Paul Revere Park.

THE CUSHMAN AND HANCOCK SCHOOL GROUNDS.

(Numbers 27 and 28.)

Most of the schools, both public and private, in the North End have very little playground space adjoining. The Hancock and Cushman schools, however, have together about eight tenths of an acre. Owing to the location of the buildings, the playground area is divided in such a manner as to lose many of its advantages as an open space. If the properties Nos. 4 and 5 Wesley place were acquired (Number 27) the school yard would be not only enlarged but made much more available, and with direct connection through Wesley place to Hanover street.

By the acquisition of properties Nos. 40 and 42, 46 and 52 Prince street (Number 28) the Hancock School would be provided with additional yard space and a desirable frontage on Prince street.

PRINCE STREET PLAYGROUND. (Number 29.)

Prince Street Playground, comprising about 0.4 acre, was acquired by the city in 1897, 1899 and 1901, at a cost of $180,000 for the land and approximately $10,000 for construction. It is a very important center, but it is far too small for the district, and can be advantageously enlarged by combining it with the Paul Revere school yard, and acquiring the four remaining properties in the rear of Nos. 34 to 40 North Bennet street. This would result in practically doubling the playground area, and with this space available for recreation throughout the entire year, the needs of the district would be much better served than at the present time. Unity terrace will then provide direct access from the widened Webster avenue to the Freeman School property.

WEBSTER AVENUE AND UNITY STREET WIDENINGS.

Webster avenue, a narrow public passageway from 10 to 12 feet wide, extending westerly from No. 374 Hanover street to No. 20 Unity street, should be widened. This can best be done by removing the four-story brick building at the southwest corner of Hanover street and Webster avenue, together with a part of the three-story wooden building in the rear, and buildings Nos. 10 to 26 Webster avenue.

From this point the widening should be made on the opposite side of the street, taking all of the properties on Oliver court, Washington place and Canney place, together with Nos. 27, 29, 35 and 37 Webster avenue and Nos. 16, 18 and 20 Unity street, in order to complete the Webster avenue widening which at this point merges with the Unity street widening (Number 33).

To complete the Unity street widening, properties Nos. 22, 24 and 26 Unity street and No. 39 Tileston street must be taken in addition. This widened portion of Unity street, together with the adjoining widened portion of Webster avenue, should be developed as a neighborhood park space as shown on the general plan, thereby opening up one of the worst examples of interior-lot conditions to be found in the district.

Leading northeasterly from Webster avenue are two private ways, Revere place (Number 31) and Unity terrace (Number 32), both of which should be acquired by the city and kept open as public ways.

MARGARET STREET EXTENSION. (Number 34.)

Margaret street, which now extends northerly between Prince and Sheafe streets, should be extended in the same general direction from Sheafe street to Hull street by passing through Nos. 11 and 13 Sheafe street and 10 and 12 Hull street. This removes several brick buildings of excessive depth, and provides proper frontage for two interior brick buildings now facing on Hull street court.

It affords also direct connection, by means of Snelling place (which is further discussed in Section 53), with the Pormort School property.

CLEVELAND PLACE WIDENING. (Number 35.)

Cleveland place, running westerly from Margaret street to Snow Hill street, is a narrow passageway lined on either side by high brick buildings. Except for local delivery purposes it is a foot passageway only. This particular locality has been made the subject of special investigations and reports by other bodies on several occasions. The street should be widened on the southerly side by the removal of No. 16 Margaret street, No. 4 Cleveland place, and No. 17 Snow Hill street, and the cutting back of properties Nos. 14, 16, 18 and 20 Cleveland place. The rear remnant properties on Cleveland place should be combined and resold. The property No. 10 Cleveland place is a large holding running through to Prince street, and therefore would not necessitate any rearrangement of property lines.

NOYES PLACE WIDENING AND BALDWIN PLACE EXTENSION. (Numbers 36 and 37.)

At the present time there is a narrow private alley leading southerly from Prince street to the Vermont Building property. This alley should be extended through to the proposed main thoroughfare, and widened from its point of intersection with Noyes place to a width of forty feet. This will leave remnants at No. 15 Noyes place and No. 9 Baldwin place which should be combined with adjacent properties, making a valuable location with a frontage on three sides, and in close proximity to the proposed new street.

Noyes place, leading westerly from Salem street, should be widened to a uniform width throughout. This can be done by cutting back the properties on the northerly side, Nos. 4 to 12 inclusive, leaving remnants which should be combined and lot lines relocated (Number 36).

Baldwin place should be extended until it meets the proposed main thoroughfare at approximately the same point as the alley extended from Prince street (Number 37).

Noyes place, Baldwin place and the alley leading from Prince street should all be taken over by the city and maintained as public ways. These three improvements will serve to open up the heart of a block which is now almost entirely given over to interior lot development. They also provide opportunity for the easy circulation of traffic, and afford street frontages for every remaining lot, at the same time giving to all three streets a desirable opening into the proposed main thoroughfare.

PROPOSED ALLEY RUNNING NORTHWEST FROM THACHER STREET TO THE PROPOSED MAIN THOROUGHFARE.

The construction of the proposed main thoroughfare through this part of the district as shown on the general plan makes advisable the closing of that portion of North Margin street lying between Thacher and Endicott streets, to be combined with the remnant properties remaining from the improvement as described in Section 10. Through the center of the block thus created there should be an alley at least fifteen feet wide to provide for rear access to the properties fronting on Prince street and the new street.

This alley should be constructed by taking properties now numbered 63 to 87, inclusive, on North Margin street. This will leave remnants on the south side which should be combined with the closed portion of North Margin street and the triangular remnant property remaining from the construction of the proposed main thoroughfare, which will permit of the location of lot lines affording excellent street frontages. On the north side there will remain one row of houses fronting on Prince street. It may be advisable to acquire the properties Nos. 3 and 5 Thacher street and 102 to 108, inclusive, Prince street, at present under one ownership, in order to arrange for a satisfactory relocation of property lines.

LAFAYETTE AVENUE WIDENING. (Number 39.)

Lafayette avenue is a short thoroughfare running north-easterly from Endicott street to Prince street. At present it is but a little over twenty feet wide, with high brick buildings on either side, and since many of the lots in the adjoining block are being relocated, this avenue should be widened to not less than forty feet. In the event of the ultimate subdivision of the gasometer property, this street will then afford direct access to the proposed main thoroughfare.

CAUSEWAY AND COMMERCIAL STREET WIDENINGS.

Causeway street from Washington Street North to Prince street, and Commercial street from Prince street to just east of Charter street, should be widened throughout to a uniform width of one hundred feet.

From Washington Street North to Prince street (Number 40) the widening should be made on the south side by cutting back properties Nos. 283 to 293, inclusive, Causeway street and 166 Prince street. The small remnants remaining in the rear should be combined with adjacent properties to be taken by excess condemnation and the lot lines relocated in order to provide conveniently arranged building lots of adequate proportions.

From Prince street on (Numbers 41, 42 and 43), the widening should be made on the north side by cutting back properties owned by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and the Boston Elevated Railway Company, for the most part unbuilt upon at the present time.

NORTH HUDSON STREET WIDENING. (Number 44.)

North Hudson street is too narrow to be satisfactory and should be widened on the northerly side by cutting back a portion of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company property, Nos. 4, 5 and 6 North Hudson street and Nos. 55 and 46 Snow Hill street. The remnant properties remaining from these small lots might well be combined to form two or three lots of reasonable proportions.

SUBDIVISION OF GASOMETER PROPERTY. (Numbers 45 and 46.)

If it should ultimately be found advisable to subdivide the large area known as Block 1, bounded by Prince, Commercial, Hull and Snow Hill streets, now under the ownership of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, and on which the large gasometer is at present located, it would be necessary to open up the interior of the property by the construction of new streets. This might be done by extending North Hudson street to Lafayette avenue (Number 45) and continuing Sheafe street to meet this proposed extension (Number 46). These streets would never become available for more than local use owing to the steep grades encountered.

COPP'S HILL TERRACES AND NORTH END BEACH AND PLAYGROUND. (Numbers 47, 48, 49 and 50.)

The land for the Terraces, or Copp's Hill, was acquired in 1893 at a cost of about $91,000. It has been improved at a cost of about $43,000, making a total of $134,000 for about 0.6 acre of park space.

The Terraces were made useful and attractive at the start; the first work was of a dignified and monumental character, designed to last and to command admiration and respect, but the more recent additions are of a somewhat less imposing nature. The Elevated structure, with its noisy trains, also greatly reduced the value and utility of the property, pocketing the lower portion of the Terraces and rendering them practically useless as a recreation space.

The early plans contemplated a connection between the Terraces and the North End Playground by means of a bridge, but with the advent of the Elevated structure this plan was apparently abandoned. It is still quite possible, however, to construct a passageway immediately beneath the upper Elevated structure and well above the busy street (Number 48). Such a bridge, while connecting directly with the North End Playground by means of a flight of steps at the northwest corner, can also be continued by means of an elevated walk, at practically the same grade, to the recreation pier, passing over the men's bath house. From the recreation pier to the playground an easy incline already exists. This improvement would do away with the present danger to children in crossing Commercial street, with its numerous car tracks and heavy teaming, in order to reach the playground from the congested area surrounding their homes. It provides also satisfactory access to the playground and recreation pier for mothers with baby carriages since the grade is at no point severe.

Since the Elevated structure has greatly reduced the value of the frontage on Commercial street at the lower level and the lower terraced portions, greater value from the Terraces could doubtless be obtained by filling the lower area up to a higher elevation. This would permit the planting of several shade trees under favorable conditions. They would add much to the attractiveness of the spot and also serve as a protection from the sun's rays during the excessive heat of the summer.

The area now comprised in the North End beach, playground and recreation pier, consisting of about 6.7 acres, was acquired by the city in 1893 at a cost of about $330,000. It has been improved at a cost of nearly $200,000, or a total of over half a million dollars. Considerable money has recently been expended on this area in accordance with plans prepared in 1916. A retaining wall has been constructed between the playground and beach, and a strong wire netting placed around the playground as a protection from baseballs and other projectiles. Along the Commercial street side of the playground a low, permanent grandstand has been erected. The area could be made still more attractive by planting trees around the edges. This should be done in such a way as not to obstruct the view from the grandstand.

The bathing beach, used from June 15 to September 15, about 75 days, is very popular for at least a part of that time. Salt water bathing is a valuable asset for the people.

FIG. 45.—BIRDSEYE VIEW OF NORTH END PLAYGROUND AND BEACH AND BRIDGE CONNECTING WITH COPP'S HILL TERRACES.

It is estimated that nearly 200,000 persons patronize the bathing facilities during the season. The bath houses provide for 600 or 800 men and as many women, and some of the bathers dress at home.

The slope of the beach is such that for six hours out of every twelve there is very little water owing to low tide, and it is always far from clean. This could be overcome by the construction of a dam near the end of the recreation pier as shown on the general plan. This would keep the water on the beach at a high mark at all times, and could be maintained and kept clean by a flow of tide water through controlling inlet and outlet devices.

The city has an investment at this point that represents a cost in interest and tax values of over $30,000 a year, so that any further improvement which would increase the benefits derived from the large investment already made would seem worthy of serious consideration.

UNITY COURT WIDENING AND EXTENSION. (Numbers 51 and 52.)

Unity court, leading northwesterly from Unity street, is too narrow for healthful housing. If properties Nos.

3 and 7 Unity street and Nos. 7, 9 and 21 Unity court were taken and the buildings removed, a small square would be formed which would provide good frontage to a number of existing buildings on both Unity court and Unity street (Number 51).

From the end of Unity court to Salem street a passageway or small street should be opened by taking properties No. 201 Salem street and Nos. 20 and 22 Unity court. Such opening will benefit also the rear ends of the excessively deep lots on Charter street (Number 52). The small remnant remaining from No. 20 Unity court might well be thrown into the street unless sold to the adjacent property owner.

PHIPPS PLACE EXTENSION. (Numbers 53 and 54.)

Phipps place, leading southerly from Charter street, should be extended through Snelling place to Hull street, there connecting with Margaret street extended as described in Section 34. This would necessitate the regrading of the property in front of the Pormort School, where a small square would be formed opposite the school building. The extension would necessitate also the acquiring of property No. 9 Hull street and the taking over by the city of the narrow passageway known as Snelling place (Number 53).

Between the square thus formed in front of the Pormort School and Salem street there is now some vacant yard space and a small brick building, through which a passageway might be constructed to provide additional access for light, air and service to the interior of the block (Number 54). This would also provide practically direct connection with Unity court extended as proposed in Section 52, and thereby afford much easier access to the school buildings for the children in that immediate locality.

FOSTER STREET NEIGHBORHOOD COURTS. (Numbers 55, 56 and 57.)

Between Henchman street and the Copp's Hill Terraces are two deep blocks separated by Foster street, which averages about twenty feet in width, and forms a steep connection between Charter street and Commercial street.

FIG. 47.—SALEM STREET, NEAR THE OLD NORTH CHURCH, SHOWING SIDE YARD THROUGH WHICH CONNECTION CAN BE MADE WITH PHIPPS PLACE EXTENDED.

These two blocks now contain interior lots that can be satisfactorily developed only by removing the buildings which at the present time lack adequate street frontages. For the most part these are wooden buildings, and their removal will not only insure light and air to the houses, but it will also materially lessen the fire risk and at the same time afford opportunity for the construction of two small neighborhood outing places.

Beginning at the rear of properties facing on Copp's Hill Terraces, half way between Charter and Commercial streets, as shown on the general plan, by acquiring part of the yard space in the rear of buildings fronting on either street, together with the $2\frac{1}{2}$ and 3 story buildings, and the brick building No. 12 Foster street, a court can be formed with entrance on Foster street (Number 55). This court should be reserved for local use only.

From Foster street to Henchman street this court should be continued by acquiring the 4-story brick building, No. 11 Foster street, and the wooden buildings, Nos. 3, 4 and 8 Foster place (Number 56).

From this point an outlet may be had to Henchman street by means of a passageway through lots at present unbuilt upon, lying between Nos. 10 and 14 Henchman street (Number 57).

GREENOUGH LANE WIDENING. (Number 58.)

This improvement was made the subject of a special investigation and report in February, 1915, accompanied by diagrams showing the historical growth of the blocks during a period of 100 years, together with recommendations for their satisfactory development substantially as shown on the general plan.

Block 8 is separated from Block 9 by a narrow alley known as Greenough lane, which connects Charter street with Commercial street, the two in effect comprising one large block with a large number of interior lots. The blocks are bounded on the west by Henchman street, known in the years 1708-1850 as Henchman's lane, and before that as Declination Passage and Day's alley; on the north by Commercial street; on the east by Hanover street; and on the south by Charter street.

All the boundary streets afford fair frontage space for buildings, but between these streets, a distance of about 250 feet each way, there is no sufficient public open space, and no guarantee that the present private open spaces will remain such. In this block some opening is needed, and from careful examination it would appear that the best results at the least cost can be obtained by widening Greenough lane as indicated.

Southeast of Greenough lane there are in effect four rows of buildings, of which only those on Hanover street have an adequate outlook. If two of the other three rows of buildings are removed, as proposed in the plan, the third will be provided with good frontage space.

If the property of the Bennett heirs, which covers 9,916 square feet of land, should be built upon to maximum capacity with permanent structures, the light and air would be shut off from the surrounding houses and the nearby property would doubtless depreciate in value. In order to increase the value of the surrounding properties, and insure a sufficient amount of light and air, the Bennett properties, together with Nos. 13, 15, 17 and 19 Greenough lane, and Nos. 430 to 438, inclusive, Commercial street, and the vacant yard space at the rear of Nos. 428 and 452 Hanover street, should be taken by the city, and Greenough lane widened. This will provide for a small open square in the center of the block, which should be developed as a neighborhood outing space. This widening will serve also as continuation of Unity street.

The cost of widening Greenough lane would not be very great if made in advance of rebuilding, while the increase in adjacent values should be nearly equal the cost of the improvement. Whether this increase can all be collected as betterments may be questioned, but if the increase can be made, and a very bad slum condition prevented, the change would be amply justified.

The small remnants remaining from Nos. 17 and 19

FIG. 50.—VERNON PLACE, LOOKING NORTH FROM A POINT 60 FEET IN FROM CHARTER STREET. HIGH BUILDINGS ON GREENOUGH LANE ON THE LEFT. WOODEN BUILDINGS AND BRICK IN DISTANCE SHOULD BE REMOVED TO WIDEN THE LANE.

Greenough lane and No. 434 Commercial street could be advantageously combined to form one corner lot of good building proportions.

The report of 1915 provided for the widening of Greenough lane on the northwest side, at the corner of Commercial street. Since that time the properties at this location have been combined under one large holding, and a fireproof building erected, thereby requiring for economic reasons, a change in the original plan to provide for the widening on the opposite corner.

Although the results in this instance are not particularly disastrous, the incident might serve as an illustration of the possible disadvantages to be encountered in the development of any section without reference to a definite plan.

Between Hanover, Harris, North and Battery streets is a large area of poorly divided and inadequately approached interior property shown as assessors' blocks 64, 65 and 66. These blocks are separated by the narrow ways of Hanover avenue and Salutation street, the latter only an alley. Any widening of these narrow ways would still leave much of the interior property without proper street frontage.

The blocks can best be opened up by the construction of a new street from Battery to Harris street, half way between Hanover and North streets. This will intersect the several narrow cross streets which separate the block, and afford excellent street frontages to many interior properties whose only outlook at the present time is on dark and narrow streets, courts or private alleys.

At the northeast corner of Battery street and the proposed street there will remain a small remnant, No. 23 Battery street (Number 59). This adjoins property already owned by the City of Boston (occupied in part by Police Station 8) and might well be combined with it.

Between Salutation street and Hanover avenue (Number 60) and between Hanover avenue and Harris street (Number 61) there will remain several remnant properties on either side of the proposed street. Several of these remnants already constitute reasonable sized building lots. Others might be sold to adjacent owners; or, by taking the adjoining property by excess condemnation, and relocating existing lot lines, satisfactory building sites with frontages on the proposed street can be obtained.

HARRIS STREET WIDENING. (Number 62.)

In order to provide an adequate approach to the southerly end of the proposed street (discussed in Sections 59, 60 and 61) Harris street, now narrow and crooked, should be widened.

Between North street and the new street this widening should be on the northerly side, by cutting back properties numbered 20 to 32, inclusive, Harris street and 350 Hanover street. These properties, which are wooden houses with the exception of one brick building at the corner of Harris and North streets, are all under the same ownership.

Between the new street and Hanover street the widening should for the most part take place on the southerly side. This can be done by acquiring the vacant space north of St. Stephen's Church in order to insure the maintenance of the present width between buildings. A slight cutting back of properties numbered 16 and 18 Harris street is shown in order to facilitate traffic passing in and out of the new street.

BARBER'S ALLEY, EVERETT COURT AND WEBSTER PLACE IMPROVEMENT. (Numbers 63 and 64.)

Block 62, bounded by Hanover, Clark, North and Fleet streets, contains a number of rear houses fronting on Barber's alley, Everett court and Webster place.

The space between and including Barber's alley and Everett court (Number 63) is about fifty feet in width, all of which should be taken and treated as a small public open space. From there to North street one three-story wooden building should be removed. Toward Hanover street a width of about twenty feet can be obtained by taking the existing vacant yards and a small portion of the stable No. 24 Fleet street.

Between this point and Webster place (Number 64) are several wooden buildings which should be removed, and the area maintained as a small neighborhood outing space. Access should be had to this area from Clark street, by acquiring properties Nos. 17 and 19 Clark street, together with wooden buildings in the rear. The adjacent property, under this plan, would be left in fairly reasonable shape so that, with the possible exception of the stable, no remnants need be considered.

FINANCIAL ASPECTS.

ESTIMATE OF COSTS FOR, AND OF POSSIBLE RETURNS FROM, THE PROPOSED IMPROVEMENTS.

The following items of cost must be taken into consideration in connection with the different improvements recommended:

- (a.) Assessed value of properties taken.
- (b.) Additional costs for taking.
- (c.) Construction costs.
- (d.) Loss in taxes during period of reconstruction, figured on basis of three years.

These items together represent the probable gross cost of the undertaking. To determine the net cost to the city, the following sources of revenue must be considered:

- (e.) Possible revenue from assessment of betterments.
- (f.) Possible revenue from sale of lands after improvement.
- (g.) Possible revenue from sale of buildings.
- (h.) Increase in tax returns, due to betterments, covering a period of ten years.

These questions have been determined as hereinafter described in their application to each improvement, and the results are given in the concluding summary.

(a.) The assessed value of properties taken, land and buildings, including eminent domain, remnant and excess takings, has been ascertained in each case.

(b.) The rate for additional costs is based upon the usual estimate for similar work, or at about 25 per cent of the assessed valuation of the properties.

(c.) Construction costs have been figured upon prevailing prices for similar work. This estimate is above the average, due to the excessive cost of labor and materials at the present time.

(d.) The loss in taxes for three years, during period of reconstruction, is figured on the assessed value of the properties affected in each case.

The gross cost, therefore, of improvements in which all available property is returned to commercial purposes, and in which the cost is in part or largely to be repaid from property benefited, has been assumed to be approximately $137\frac{1}{2}$ per cent of the present assessed valuation of the properties to be taken.

(e.) In estimating the possible revenue from the assessment of betterments, the fact that benefits should accrue to adjacent properties is in most cases evident; and that it should extend over a reasonably large area is also probable. For each improvement, or group of improvements, proposed, the area in which it appears that properties should be benefited has been determined, the assessed values of the properties have been ascertained, and an average rate of increase over the assessed valuation has been assumed. This rate of increase has been figured as low as 5 per cent in the case of a general distribution over a large area, to 15 per cent where the benefits would be wholly or largely local.

This estimate is purposely conservative in order that the burden upon occupants of rented dwellings, who, in the last analysis will in all probability be called upon to meet the additional cost in the carrying of the property, shall not be excessive.

(f.) To determine the possible revenue from sale of lands after the improvements have taken place, the area of each parcel has been determined, and a minimum selling value, based upon the assessed value per square foot plus the usual 25 per cent additional, has been imposed. This makes no allowance for increased valuation due to improvements, or to advantages in location, which may well be considerable.

(g.) The average return from the sale of old buildings in the case of similar improvements has been used as the basis for computing the amount to be derived from this source.

FIG. 52.—THE NORTH END. GENERAL PLAN FOR IMPROVEMENTS.

Hatched — Excess takings.

(h.) The increase in tax returns, covering a period of ten years, has been figured on the basis of the estimated betterments. The building development which will naturally follow the improvements recommended will be of a more valuable type than now exists, and will further add to the revenue annually received by the city in taxes.

SUMMARY.

The gross cost of all the proposed North End improvement, therefore, is estimated as follows:

	Area.	Assessed Valuation.
Property Taken:
Street	220,682 square feet	$2,418,100
Other Improvements . .	179,351 square feet	1,213,500
			$3,631,600
Excess Takings:
Street	15,342 square feet	$137,000
Other Improvements . .	24,767 square feet	186,400
			323,400

Street		$657,428
Other Improvements . .		393,296
			1,050,724

Other Improvements . .		94,391

Gross Cost			$5,778,542
Street	$3,631,590
Other Improvements . .	2,146,952
			$5,778,542

	Area.	Estimated Valuation.
Salable Lands:

Other Improvements . .	56,365 square feet	272,741

Tax Increase (Ten Years):
Street	$153,194
Other Improvements	188,007
		341,201
Sale of Buildings and Materials:
From all Improvements	$200,000
		200,000
Net Cost			$2,324,502

The largest item, that of the proposed main thoroughfare, involves over one half the total amount, and the greater part of this improvement should be made as one undertaking, so that the estimated cost could not well be uniformly distributed over a long term of years. Items Nos. 13, 14, 15, 36, 37, 38, 39 and 40 are intimately related to this major improvement, and should be undertaken at the same time.

No attempt has been made to present the recommendations in the order of their exigency. That is a matter which may well be determined by circumstances, necessity, public convenience, or general demand.

As a further credit against the net cost of $2,324,502 there are a number of factors which, although impossible to estimate in dollars and cents, nevertheless have a very appreciable value in their relation to any community. If the improvements herein recommended are carried out, every place of abode in the district will be provided with a reasonable amount of light and air, thereby yielding a return in health and morals which is incalculable; street traffic through, in and about the district will be greatly facilitated, and a number of small neighborhood play spaces will have been established which will go far toward furnishing the youth of the district with convenient opportunity for healthful recreation.

ADDRESSES AT RECEPTION TO PRESIDENT
WOODROW WILSON IN MECHANICS
BUILDING, BOSTON, MASS., FEBRUARY
24, 1919, AT 2.30 O'CLOCK P. M.

ADDRESS OF HIS HONOR MAYOR ANDREW J.
PETERS.

Mr. President, Gentlemen and Ladies.—Mr. President, men and women of your country meet you here today with a greeting sincere and deep. (Applause.) We present to you the welcome, not of ourselves alone, but the welcome of a hundred million people. (Applause.)

From the moment you set foot on the shores of your native land you received a greeting the most hearty and sincere ever extended to the head of this great republic by the people of New England. (Applause.) On such an occasion words cannot convey the feeling. You have seen with your own eyes the tribute that the American people pay you. It comes from the very soul of every citizen—man, woman and child—in our community. (Applause.)

Boston today rejoices. Her citizens at last have the opportunity long awaited to demonstrate their loyalty to you and to their country. We are proud to receive the message you bring to your fellow citizens from across the seas—to receive it from one who has been the leader in the great deliberations of the nations of the world. (Applause.) In those fateful days of war, when the destinies of nations hung in the deliberations, you welded together the people of this country as they have never before been united. (Applause.) You expressed the feeling of freedom of the American people and the feeling of freedom for which the Allies were struggling.

When you left our country you took with you the confidence and trust of our people, and the hope that there might be expressed in a world understanding those principles of democracy and fair dealing which you yourself had voiced.

You return to this country to a people united in support of the principles of democracy and justice which you have so ably pronounced at the peace table of the nations. The document you bring to us for ratification certainly ranks with Magna Charta and our own Declaration of Independence (applause); not because it supersedes them, but because it completes them and seeks to apply their democratic principles on a broader scale so as to unite a civilized world. (Applause.)

You have achieved this result, Mr. President, because you have yourself interpreted faithfully the spirit of our country and have adopted it as a rule to govern your policy. What you asked was simply an opportunity to restore the shattered structure of international justice. This was the pedestal from which you spoke with an authority no other member of the Peace Conference could command. And when the delegates laid down the terms of their agreement it was your voice that prevailed, because you, almost alone, as the spokesman of this disinterested republic, could plead serenely and consistently for a lasting peace and for a punishment that did not preclude the hope of ultimate reconciliation. (Applause.) Across the seas at the Peace Conference you have spoken as an American, you have voiced the principles of America and of her people. You have written in the document now to be laid before the American people the true purpose and inspiration of America, that liberty shall not perish from the earth. (Applause.) To bid you welcome here you have numbers necessarily limited, but you have the heart and soul of the people of our country. (Applause.)

Massachusetts, Boston and her people have ever been responsive to the call of patriotism. Today, in behalf of our state, we have to present to you the welcome of her people, the Governor of the state, and I will introduce to you, Mr. President, and to our people gathered here together, our Governor, who will give the greetings of the Commonwealth, the Hon. Calvin Coolidge. (Applause.)

ADDRESS OF HIS EXCELLENCY CALVIN
COOLIDGE, GOVERNOR.

Mr. Chairman, Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen.—The action of my fellow citizens has outrun any words of mine in extending a welcome and a greeting to the guest of this afternoon, the President and the Commander-in-Chief of the forces of the United States of America. (Applause.) But Massachusetts has a right to extend a welcome, a right that it has earned, a right that is represented by 200,000 of its men that have gone into the service of the nation (applause), a right that is represented by the support of untold millions of treasure that it has given to support the cause, and in behalf of that right we extend to you, Mr. President, the greetings of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. (Applause.)

We have observed with the utmost interest the reception that has been given to the President in Great Britain, in France, in Italy,— wherever his travels have taken him,— a reception the like of which was never before accorded to an American citizen (applause); and we feel it a mark of especial honor that, returning from all those triumphs, he first sets foot upon the historic soil of Massachusetts. (Applause.) We welcome him here to the great inspiration of her history, to Plymouth Rock, to Bunker Hill, to liberty under the law, and all that he has been trying to accomplish during the past two years of war and through the past months in which he has been sitting at the council table of the nations. (Applause.)

We welcome him here to the headquarters of the Twenty-sixth Division (great applause and cheering); we welcome him here in the presence of the gallant commander of that division, Major-General Edwards. (Great applause and cheering.) And may I assist you, Mr. Mayor, in welcoming him to the home city of Colonel Logan. (Great applause and cheering.)

We have welcomed him with a reception more marked than even that which was accorded to General George Washington, more united than could have been given at any time during his life to President Abraham Lincoln.

We welcome him as the representative of a great people, as a great statesman, as one to whom we have intrusted our destinies, and one whom we are sure we will support in the future in the working out of those destinies, as Massachusetts has supported him in the past. (Applause.)

THE MAYOR.—America salutes her President!

ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT WILSON.

Governor Coolidge, Mr. Mayor, Fellow Citizens.—I wonder if you are half as glad to see me as I am to see you. (Applause.) It warms my heart to see a great body of my fellow citizens again, because in some respects during the recent months I have been very lonely indeed without your comradeship and counsel, and I tried at every step of the work which fell to me to recall what I was sure would be your counsel with regard to the great matters which were under consideration.

I do not want you to think that I have not been appreciative of the extraordinarily generous reception which was given to me on the other side, in saying that it makes me very happy to get home again. I do not mean to say that I was not very deeply touched by the cries that came from the great crowds on the other side, but I want to say to you in all honesty that I felt them to be a call of greeting to you rather than to me. I did not feel that the greeting was personal. I had in my heart the over-crowning pride of being your representative and of receiving the plaudits of men everywhere who felt that your hearts beat with theirs in the cause of liberty. There was no mistaking the tone in the voices of those great crowds. It was not a tone of mere greeting; it was not a tone of mere generous welcome; it was the calling of comrade to comrade, the cry that comes from men who say, "We have waited for this day when the friends of liberty should come across the sea and shake hands with us, to see that a new world was constructed upon a new basis and foundation of justice and right." (Applause.)

I can't tell you the inspiration that came from the sentiments that came out of those simple voices of the crowd. And the proudest thing I have to report to you is that this great country of ours is trusted throughout the world. (Applause.)

I have not come to report the proceedings or the results of the proceedings of the Peace Conference. That would be premature. I can say that I have received very happy impressions from this conference; the impression that while there are many differences of judgment, while there are some divergencies of object, there is nevertheless, a common spirit and a common realization of the necessity of setting up new standards of right in the world. (Applause.) Because the men who are in conference in Paris realize as keenly as any American can realize that they are not the masters of their people; that they are the servants of their people and that the spirit of their people has awakened to a new purpose and a new conception of their power to realize that purpose, and that no man dare go home from that conference and report anything less noble than was expected of it. (Applause.)

The conference seems to you to go slowly. From day to day in Paris it seems to go slowly; but I wonder if you realize the complexity of the task which it has undertaken. It seems as if the settlements of this war affect, and affect directly, every great and I sometimes think every small nation in the world (applause), and no one decision can prudently be made which is not properly linked in with the great series of other decisions which must accompany it, and it must be reckoned in with the final result if the real quality and character of that result is to be properly judged.

What we are doing is to hear the whole case; hear it from the mouths of the men most interested; hear it from those who are officially commissioned to state it; hear the rival claims; hear the claims that affect new nationalities, that affect new areas of the world, that affect new commercial and economic connections that have been established by the great world war through which we have gone. And I have been struck by the moderateness of those who have represented national claims. I can testify that I have nowhere seen the gleam of passion. I have seen earnestness; I have seen tears come to the eyes of men who plead for down-trodden people whom they were privileged to speak for; but they were not the tears of anger; they were the tears of ardent hope. (Applause.) And I don't see how any man can fail to have been subdued by these pleas, subdued to this feeling, that he was not there to assert an individual judgment of his own but to try to assist the cause of humanity. (Applause.)

And in the midst of it all every interest seeks out first of all, when it reaches Paris, the representatives of the United States. (Applause.) Why? Because—and I think I am stating the most wonderful fact in history—because there is no nation in Europe that suspects the motives of the United States. (Great applause.) Was there ever so wonderful a thing seen before? Was there ever so moving a thing? Was there ever any fact that so bound the nation that had won that esteem forever to deserve it? (Applause.)

I would not have you understand that the great men who represent the other nations there in conference are disesteemed by those who know them. Quite the contrary. But you understand that the nations of Europe have again and again clashed with one another in competitive interest. It is impossible for men to forget those sharp issues that were drawn between them in times past. It is impossible for men to believe that all ambitions have all of a sudden been foregone. They remember territory that was coveted; they remember rights that it was attempted to extort; they remember political ambitions which it was attempted to realize,—and, while they believe that men have come into a different temper, they cannot forget these things, and so they do not resort to one another for a dispassionate view of the matters in controversy. They resort to that nation which has won the enviable distinction of being regarded as the friend of mankind. (Applause.) Whenever it is desired to send a small force of soldiers to occupy a piece of territory where it is thought nobody else will be welcome, they ask for American soldiers. (Applause.) And where other soldiers would be looked upon with suspicion and perhaps met with resistance, the American soldier is welcomed with acclaim. (Applause.)

I have had so many grounds for pride on the other side of the water that I am very thankful that they are not grounds for personal pride, but for national pride. (Applause.) If they were grounds for personal pride I would be the most stuck-up man in the world. (Laughter.) And it has been an infinite pleasure to me to see those gallant soldiers of ours, of whom the Constitution of the United States made me the proud commander. You may be proud of the Twenty-sixth Division, but I commanded the Twenty-sixth Division (laughter and applause), and see what they did under my direction. (Renewed applause.) And everybody praises the American soldier with the feeling that in praising him he is subtracting from the credit of no one else. (Applause.)

I have been searching for the fundamental fact that converted Europe to believe in us. Before this war Europe did not believe in us as she does now. She did not believe in us throughout the first three years of the war. She seemed really to have believed that we were holding off because we thought we could make more by staying out than by going in. And all of a sudden, in a short eighteen months, the whole verdict is reversed. There can be but one explanation for it. They saw what we did—that without making a single claim we put all our men and all our means at the disposal of those who were fighting for their homes, in the first instance, but for a cause, the cause of human right and justice, and that we went in, not to support their national claims, but to support the great cause which they held in common. (Applause.) And when they saw that America not only held ideals but acted ideals, they were converted to America and became firm partisans of those ideals. (Applause.)

I met a group of scholars when I was in Paris, some gentlemen from one of the Greek universities who had come to see me, and in whose presence, or rather in the presence of whose traditions of learning, I felt very young indeed. And I told them that I had had one of the delightful revenges that sometimes come to a man. All my life I had heard men speak with a sort of condescension of ideals and of idealists, and particularly of those separated, incloistered persons whom they choose to term academic, who are in the habit of uttering ideals in the free atmosphere when they clash with nobody in particular. (Applause.) And I said I have had this sweet revenge. Speaking with perfect frankness in the name of the people of the United States, I have uttered as the objects of this great war ideals, and nothing but ideals, and the war has been won by that inspiration. (Applause.) Men were fighting with tense muscle and lowered head until they came to realize these things, feeling they were fighting for their lives and their country, and when these accents of what it was all about reached them from America they lifted their heads, they raised their eyes to Heaven—then they saw men in khaki coming across the sea in the spirit of Crusaders, and they found that these were strange men, reckless of danger not only, but reckless because they seemed to see something that made that danger worth while. Men have testified to me in Europe that our men were possessed by something that they could only call a religious fervor. They were not like any of the other soldiers. They had a vision, they had a dream, and they were fighting in the dream, and fighting in the dream they turned the whole tide of battle and it never came back. (Great applause.)

One of our American humorists, meeting the criticism that American soldiers were not trained long enough, said: "It takes only half as long to train an American soldier as any other, because you only have to train him one way (laughter and applause), and he did only go one way (applause), and he never came back until he could do it when he pleased." (Applause.)

And now do you realize that this confidence we have established throughout the world imposes a burden upon us — if you choose to call it a burden? It is one of those burdens which any nation ought to be proud to carry. Any man who resists the present tides that run in the world will find himself thrown upon a shore so high and barren that it will seem as if he had been separated from his human kind forever. (Applause.)

The Europe that I left the other day was full of something that it had never felt fill its heart so full before. It was full of hope. The Europe of the second year of the war, the Europe of the third year of the war, was sinking to a sort of stubborn desperation. They did not see any great thing to be achieved even when the war should be won. They hoped there would be some salvage; they hoped that they could clear their territories of invading armies; they hoped they could set up their homes and start their industries afresh. But they thought it would simply be the resumption of the old life that Europe had led — led in fear, led in anxiety, led in constant suspicious watchfulness. They never dreamed that it would be a Europe of settled peace and of justified hope. And now these ideals have wrought this new magic, that all the peoples of Europe are buoyed up and confident in the spirit of hope, because they believe that we are at the eve of a new age in the world when nations will understand one another, when nations will support one another in every just cause, when nations will unite every moral and every physical strength to see that the right shall prevail. (Applause.)

If America were at this juncture to fail the world, what would come of it? I do not mean any disrespect to any other great people when I say that America is the hope of the world (applause); and if she does not justify that hope the results are unthinkable. Men will be thrown back upon the bitterness of disappointment not only, but the bitterness of despair. All nations will be set up as hostile camps again; the men at the Peace Conference will go home with their heads upon their breasts, knowing that they have failed,—for they were bidden not to come home from there until they did something more than sign a treaty of peace. (Applause.)

Suppose we simply sign the treaty of peace and that it is the most satisfactory treaty of peace that the confusing elements of the modern world will afford, and go home and think about our labors; we will know that we have left written upon the historic table at Versailles, upon which Vergennes and Benjamin Franklin wrote their names, nothing but a modern scrap of paper; no nations united to defend it, no great forces combined to make it good, no assurance given to the downtrodden and fearful people of the world that they shall be safe. Any man who thinks that America will take part in giving the world any such rebuff and disappointment as that does not know America. (Great applause.) I invite him to test the sentiments of the nation. (Applause.)

We set this nation up to make men free and we did not confine our conception and purpose to America, and now we will make men free. (Applause.) If we did not do that all the fame of America would be gone and all her power would be dissipated. She would then have to keep her power for those narrow, selfish, provincial purposes which seem so dear to some minds that have no sweep beyond the nearest horizon. (Applause.) I should welcome no sweeter challenge than that. (Applause.) I have fighting blood in me and it is sometimes a delight to let it have scope, but if it is challenged on this occasion it will be an indulgence.

Think of the picture, think of the utter blackness that would fall on the world. America has failed! America made a little essay at generosity and then withdrew. America said, "We are your friends," but it was only for today, not for tomorrow. America said, "Here is our power to vindicate right"; and then the next day said, "Let right take care of itself and we will take care of ourselves." America said, "We set up a light to lead men along the paths of liberty, but we have lowered it; it is intended only to light our own path." We set up a great ideal of liberty and then we said, "Liberty is a thing that you must win for yourself; do not call upon us."

And think of the world that we would leave. Do you realize how many new nations are going to be set up in the presence of old and powerful nations in Europe and left there, if left by us, without a disinterested friend? Do you believe in the Polish cause, as I do? (Applause.) Are you going to set up Poland, immature, inexperienced, as yet unorganized, and leave her with a circle of armies around her? Do you believe in the aspiration of the Czecho-Slovaks (applause) and the Jugo-Slavs, as I do? (Applause.) Do you know how many powers would be quick to pounce upon them if there were not the guaranties of the world behind their liberty? Have you thought of the sufferings of Armenia? (Applause.) You poured out your money to help succor the Armenians after they suffered; now set up your strength so that they shall never suffer again. (Applause.)

The arrangements of the present peace cannot stand a generation unless they are guaranteed by the united forces of the civilized world. (Applause.) And if we do not guarantee them, can you not see the picture? Your hearts have instructed you where the burden of this war fell. It did not fall upon the national treasuries, it did not fall upon the instruments of administration, it did not fall upon the resources of the nations. It fell upon the voiceless homes everywhere, where women were toiling in hope that their men would come back.

When I think of the homes upon which dull despair would settle if this great hope is disappointed, I should wish for my part never to have had America play any part whatever in this attempt to emancipate the world. But I talk as if there were any question. I have no more doubt of the verdict of America in this matter than I have doubt of the blood that is in me. (Great applause and cheers.)

And so, my fellow citizens, I have come back to report progress, and I do not believe that the progress is going to stop short of the goal. The nations of the world have set their heads now to do a great thing, and they are not going to slacken their purpose. (Applause.)

And when I speak of the nations of the world I do not speak of the governments of the world. (Applause.) I speak of the peoples who constitute the nations of the world. (Applause.) They are in the saddle and they are going to see to it that if their present governments do not do their will some other governments shall (great applause), and the secret is out and the present governments know it. (Laughter and applause.)

There is a great deal of harmony to be got out of common knowledge. (Laughter and applause.) There is a great deal of sympathy to be got out of living in the same atmosphere, and except for the difference of language, which puzzled my American ear very sadly (laughter), I could have believed I was at home in France or in Italy or in England when I was on the streets, when I was in the presence of the crowds, when I was in great halls where men were gathered together irrespective of class. I did not feel quite as much at home there as I do here (applause), but I felt that now, at any rate, after this storm of the war had cleared the air, men were seeing eye to eye everywhere and that these were the kind of folks who would understand what the kind of folks at home would understand, that they were thinking the same things.

I feel about you as I am reminded of a story of that excellent wit and good artist, Oliver Herford, who one day sitting at luncheon at his club was slapped vigorously on the back by a man whom he did not know very well. He said, "Oliver, old boy, how are you?" He looked at him rather coldly, and he said, "I don't know your name, I don't know your face, but your manners are very familiar." (Laughter.) And I must say that your manners are very familiar (laughter),—and, let me add, very delightful.

It is a great comfort, for one thing, to realize that you all understand the language I am speaking. (Laughter and applause.) A friend of mine said that to talk through an interpreter was like witnessing the compound fracture of an idea. (Laughter.) But the beauty of it is that, whatever the impediments of the channel of communication, the idea is the same, that it gets registered, and it gets registered in responsive hearts and receptive purposes.

I have come back for a strenuous attempt to transact business for a little while in America (applause), but I have really come back to say to you, in all soberness and honesty, that I have been trying my best to speak your thoughts. (Great applause.)

When I sample myself I think I find that I am a typical American (applause), and if I sample deep enough and get down to what probably is the true stuff of a man, then I have hope that it is part of the stuff that is like the other fellows at home. (Applause.)

And, therefore, probing deep in my heart and trying to see the things that are right without regard to the things that may be debated as expedient, I feel that I am interpreting the purpose and the thought of America (applause); and in loving America I find I have joined the great majority of my fellow-men throughout the world. (Tremendous applause and cheering.)

MESSAGE OF THE MAYOR

RECOMMENDING

APPROPRIATIONS AND TAX ORDERS FOR 1919-1920.

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR, May 12, 1919.

To the City Council:

GENTLEMEN,— In accordance with section 3 of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909, I submit herewith the estimates of the several departments for the fiscal year 1919-20, with my recommendations thereon.

I submit also the basis of estimates, showing the amount that can be raised within the present tax limit for general purposes and the amount of estimated income for the current fiscal year.

This year, the tax limit of $6.52 on the thousand, for general municipal purposes, has again been raised by legislation to $9.52 on the thousand, which includes 66 cents on the thousand that may be specifically appropriated for the reconstruction and repair of streets. The amount that can be raised by taxes within the $9.52 limit is $14,460,298.73, to which should be added the estimated income of $5,391,000, making a total available for general municipal purposes of $19,851,298.73, and I recommend the appropriation of the total amount.

I have received requests from many groups of city employees for increased remuneration, and in providing the increases in this budget every consideration which the resources of the city permit has been given these employees.

I regret the delay I have necessarily been put to in submitting the budget, but the bill increasing the tax limit of the City of Boston did not become law until May 9, and without definite knowledge of what income would be available I was unable to transmit the budget estimates to you. It will now require extraordinary effort on the part of the City Council in order to pass the budget in order that funds may be provided necessary for the execution of departmental work, as we are now close to the time when the expenditures permitted by law prior to the adoption of the appropriation bill, will be exhausted.

This budget is submitted in substitution for the one filed with you on February 26, 1919.

Respectfully,

ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor.

REAL AND IDEAL AMERICAN DEMOCRACY.

AN ORATION DELIVERED AT

FANEUIL HALL, BOSTON, JULY 4, 1919,

BY

JUDGE CHARLES A. DECOURCY.

Mr. Mayor, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Under the sobering influence of the great war now ended, and confronted with grave problems which it has called into being or enlarged and intensified, we meet in this historic hall to commemorate the one hundred and forty-third anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. Never was it more important to reflect upon the political principles enunciated by that epoch-making instrument, to determine with what success those principles have worked in practice, and to consider their adaptability to the requirements of our political future. It is not an indication of wisdom to value change as the equivalent of progress, or to substitute mere experiment for the lessons of experience. The really progressive men are those who are willing to learn from the wisdom and experience of past generations, and who approach the consideration of the changes necessary to meet new conditions in a spirit of constructive criticism.

It is said that Michael Angelo once entered a palace at Rome where Raphael was ornamenting the ceiling and saw that the figures were too small for the room. With a few bold strokes Angelo sketched on one side a head of heroic size, proportioned to the chamber. When his friends asked for an explanation, he made the suggestive reply, "I criticize by creation, not by finding fault."

The American Revolution was a revolt against the laws of the British Parliament, in the making of which the colonists possessed no rights. It is true the framers of the Declaration adopted some phrases of the French philosophers. But when they proclaimed that "all men are created equal," manifestly they did not mean that all are born equal in physical and mental capacity, in circumstance and condition, but rather with equality of right, and equality of opportunity in proportion to their capacity. The basic idea of the Declaration of Independence is that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. What the fathers contemplated was the establishment of a democracy, which, like its Greek original δημοκρατια, means popular government, or a system of government in which the sovereign power of the state is vested in the people as a whole, and is exercised directly by them or their elected agents. The right of liberty was necessarily included; for, as Aristotle long ago pointed out, "the basis of the democratic state is liberty."

It is difficult for us at this day to appreciate the courage and faith of the fathers in founding a republic on the principle that man, as God created him, may be trusted with self-government. History afforded them no precedent. In Athens both political and personal freedom were unknown to the mass of the people. The Roman Republic was a patrician class. The republics of Italy were limited and aristocratic; those of Switzerland were groups of cousins, and that of Holland a republic of guilds and landholders. For the first time in human history the fathers announced the sublime declaration of the political equality and right of self-government of all men. When later they had won their independence, and framed a constitution of government, "they stood before the world as the first completely free and democratic nation-state which had ever existed."

Let us review how successfully America has worked out the experiment. To begin with, in 1776 the colonists were peculiarly fitted to govern themselves. They were homogeneous, coming mainly from Great Britain and Ireland, with some Germans, Dutch and French. They were largely an agricultural people, and their political problems were comparatively few and simple. They spoke a common language, and had been habituated to self-government under colonial rule, especially in the town meetings of New England. With the steady progress of democratic principles came the gradual disappearance of religious requirements and property qualifications for office-holding and voting, and the complete separation of church and state. In later years the call of liberty and opportunity attracted people in large numbers from the nations of Northwestern Europe. The Republic grew in numbers from a few scattered settlements on the Atlantic seaboard to a mighty nation, extending westward to the Pacific, and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico. In time came the transition from an agricultural to a largely industrial people. The great economic expansion in the latter part of the nineteenth century occasioned the immigration, partly stimulated, of hundreds of thousands from southern and eastern Europe, who did not possess the traditions or training of self-government, and were ignorant of our language. There arose new and complex problems, not only political but economic and social. Yet, notwithstanding the many mistakes and shortcomings which have seemed incidental to self-government, we solved the problem of slavery, fought three wars successfully, and increased to a nation of a hundred million, where the average man enjoyed unparalleled freedom and prosperity. We were working out our problems for human betterment, and at peace with all nations, when the world war of 1914 startled mankind. A great nation, efficient in the arts of war after long and thorough preparation, violated the accepted rules of international law and trod under foot the common obligations of humanity. We were slow to appreciate its full significance to America. But when our citizens were murdered on the "Lusitania"; when Germany, while professing friendship for us, abused our hospitality by using her embassy as a center for plotting against our people and our property; when she filled our land with spies, and sought to induce Mexico to attack our Border States, our people realized that unless we entered the war in France it was only a question of time when we should be defending ourselves in our own land. Then came President Wilson's great war message of April 2, 1917, in which he said: "It is a fearful thing to lead this great peaceful people into war, into the most terrible and disastrous of all wars, civilization itself seeming to be in the balance. But the right is more precious than peace, and we shall fight for the things which we have always carried nearest our hearts — for democracy, for the right of those who submit to authority to have a voice in their own governments, for the rights and liberties of small nations, for a universal dominion of right by such a concert of free peoples as shall bring peace and safety to all nations and make the world itself at last free." It was an inevitable conflict to the death between an autocratic military nation, with a philosophy that war is the supreme function of the state, and possessing absolute control over the resources of the country and the liberties of its subjects, on the one side, and the principles of our democracy, and its ideals of freedom and justice, on the other. Autocracy could not create a more formidable foe, nor one better calculated to test the power of democracy to meet the demands of war.

The mere recital of some typical facts of our achievement in meeting the test is inspiring. In August, 1918, a million and a half soldiers had been taken across the sea, and an equal number was in training in the great cantonments, speedily constructed. When the armistice was signed in November, 1918, we had two million soldiers on European soil, and were preparing to have five million if the war continued until now. During the first seven months of 1918, we increased our shipping 1,719,526 tons. By September, 1,300 vessels of all classes had been added to the navy, and its personnel went up from 82,000 to 540,000, including marines and reserves. The business organizations of the country changed their activities from peace to war. Munitions, food, clothing and the manifold requirements of war had to be provided, and at the end of the summer the government was doing business with 3,300 separate firms. Great terminals, storage, port and railway facilities were built in France. Loans aggregating more than twenty-one billions were readily subscribed. People universally contributed to or engaged in the work of the Red Cross and other war activities. Our soldiers and sailors stood the test of battle with splendid courage and achievement; the manhood and womanhood of the nation stood behind them with united purpose and untiring zeal; and our aid at the critical moment turned the tide of battle, and saved the world from the threatened domination of military autocracy. In short, the self-discipline, endurance, sacrifice and courage which our people, civil and military, exhibited, demonstrated that our self-governing institutions can cultivate qualities that win in war as well as in peace.

The present open foe of our democracy is Bolshivism. In Russia a small class, by a military coup d'etat, suppressed the constituent assembly, substituted a tyrannical dictatorship controlled by two men for the autocracy of the Czar against which the Russian people had rebelled, and set up a reign of terror. Their "Soviet rule" is at war with every principle of our democracy. The Socialist Revolutionaries of the Left, who at first assisted the Bolsheviki when they seized the government authority in Russia in November, 1917, have issued a manifesto which has just reached this country, and in which they say among other things:

"The Petrograd Soviet does not express the will of the workingmen, the sailors and the soldiers of the Red Army. This Soviet was never really elected. The elections were either dishonestly manipulated or else conducted under the threat of execution and starvation. By means of the same kind of terror the Bolsheviks have crushed all liberty of speech, the press and the assembly for the working class.

"In the whole of the Soviet Russia there is nowhere today any authoritative governmental power.

"The workingmen are not permitted to hold meetings. They are not allowed to publish their own newspapers. They do not dare—under the penalty of imprisonment or execution—to say a word against the Bolsheviki.

"The party of the Bolsheviki in its struggle against the workingmen and the peasants is supported by the bayonets of the mercenary Chinese and Lettish troops, commanded by traitor officers who find themselves in a better situation under the rule of Lenine and Trotsky than they had ever found under the régime of the Tsars."

The American Bolsheviks hope to extend here this class war and dictatorship of the proletariat. Their purpose is not to reform but to overthrow our system of society. They have been carrying on a false and misleading propaganda in this country. But now we have the report of the Judiciary Committee of the United States Senate, which fully heard both sides, and examined the official documents of the Bolshevik government and the official diplomatic reports to this government. I quote from their report:

"The salient features which constitute the program of Bolshevism, as it exists today in Russia and is presented to the rest of the world as a panacea for all ills, may be summarized as follows:

"1. The repudiation of democracy and the establishment of a dictatorship.

"2. The confiscation of all land and the improvements thereon.

"3. The confiscation of all forests and natural resources.

"4. The confiscation of all live stock and all agricultural implements.

"5. The confiscation of all banks and banking institutions and the establishment of a State monopoly of the banking business.

"6. The confiscation of all factories, mills, mines, and industrial institutions and the delivery of the control and operation thereof to the employees therein.

"7. The confiscation of all churches and all church property, real and personal.

"8. The confiscation of all newspapers and periodicals and all mechanical facilities and machinery used in the publication thereof.

"9. The seizure and confiscation of all public meeting places and assembly halls.

"10. The confiscation of all transportation and communication systems.

"11. The confiscation of the entire estate of all decedents.

"12. The monopolizing by the State of all advertisements of every nature, whether in newspapers, periodicals, handbills, or programs.

"13. The repudiation of all debts against the government and all obligations due the non-Bolshevik elements of the population.

"14. The establishment of universal compulsory military service regardless of religious scruples and conscientious objections.

"15. The establishment of universal compulsory labor.

"16. The abolition of the Sunday school and all other schools and institutions that teach religion.

"17. The absolute separation of churches and schools.

"18. The establishment, through marriage and divorce laws, of a method for the legalization of prostitution, when the same is engaged in by consent of the parties.

"19. The refusal to recognize the existence of God in its governmental and judicial proceedings.

"20. The conferring of the rights of citizenship on aliens without regard to length of residence or intelligence.

"21. The arming of all so-called 'toilers,' and the disarming of all persons that had succeeded in acquiring property.

"22. The discrimination in favor of residents of cities and against residents of the rural districts through giving residents of cities five times as much voting power as is accorded to residents of rural districts in such elections as are permitted.

"23. The disfranchisement of all persons employing any other person in connection with their business.

"24. The disfranchisement of all persons receiving rent, interest or dividends.

"25. The disfranchisement of all merchants, traders and commercial agents.

"26. The disfranchisement of all priests, clergymen or employees of churches and religious bodies.

"27. The denial of the existence of any inalienable rights in the individual citizen.

"28. The establishment of a judicial system exercising autocratic power, convicting persons and imposing penalties in their absence, and without opportunity to be heard, and even adopting the death penalty for numerous crimes and misdemeanors.

"29. The inauguration of a reign of fear, terrorism and violence.

"The mere recital of the program is a sufficient denunciation of it and of the individuals and groups which advocate and defend it."

It seems inconceivable that such a revolutionary radicalism, which declares war against the basic legal institutions, not only of democracy but of all civilized states, should find any substantial support here. Knowledge of its principles and practices must deprive it of the sympathy of all loyal Americans, and prompt and effective measures should be taken against the anarchists who abuse the freedom of our institutions by plotting to overthrow them by criminal violence. It is significant that the American Federation of Labor, at its convention in Atlantic City June 17, voted down a proposition offered by some radical members in favor of the so-called "Soviet Republic" in Russia — and the resolutions committee refused to indorse recognition of the "Soviet or any other form of government in Russia until the people of that country by constituent or other form of national assembly should have established a truly democratic form of government."

In the light of this review, notwithstanding the prevailing atmosphere of unrest and questioning, we surely are justified in the conviction that the underlying principles of the Declaration of Independence, self-government and equality of right, afford a trustworthy and still enduring guide for the present and immediate future. We have been and are a progressive people, never controlled by revolutionary or reactionary extremists. As new conditions have attended our marvellous growth, we have met and nobly stood the test of time without abandoning the essential political principles which inspired the origin and development of our institutions. In the days to come our democracy will be confronted with other political problems that may test its efficiency, and perhaps its very existence. The form which some of them will assume cannot yet be known. Time, and the restrictions of judicial propriety, will not permit me to discuss those on which the community is at present divided. But the manner in which we must face all of them can and should be realized now. Patrick Henry said in 1775: "I have but one lamp by which my feet are guided, and that is the lamp of experience. I know no way of judging the future but by the past." If we would successfully solve the problems of the future, as we have those of the past, we must fully and individually realize the paramount truth, that the task will demand the best energies of an enlightened, united and self-sacrificing citizenry. This may sound like a mere truism. But we have too often proclaimed our democracy without practising it. "Don't say things," says Emerson, "what you are stands over you the while, and thunders so that I cannot hear what you say to the contrary." Now we must absorb this vital truth into our blood, and manifest it in our daily lives, as we did during the great war, if democracy is to remain safe for America.

1. As to Enlightened Citizenship.—The duties of self-government have become comprehensive and complex. The functions of government have greatly broadened with our transition from a period of individualism to one of increasing collectivism. Public opinion has influenced the scope of legislation to a great and growing extent, not only in matters affecting the public health, safety and morals, but also in those dealing with the economic and social welfare of our people. Political questions have become more intricate, and our future activities in world policies, as members of a League of Nations or otherwise, promise to enlarge to proportions hitherto unknown the political problems of American citizens. Whether we deal with these problems by direct legislation or through public officials chosen by us, it is apparent that the American citizens of today and tomorrow must be educated to judge wisely on many subjects which need not have concerned the citizen of earlier days. Unless they are to be misled by demagogues, they must study public questions, and see facts as they are, not through eyes of racial, religious or class prejudice; they must apply their knowledge with a predisposition not to demolish existing institutions before they have carefully provided for others that are practical and better; must be willing to select experts to do their expert work, and leaders worthy of leadership; and realize that the most essential element of education for citizenship is the development of individual character.

Ideal democracy, this. What is the reality? The war is largely responsible for revealing a startling condition of illiteracy. Secretary Lane, in a recent letter to President Wilson, sets forth the situation substantially as follows:

“There are in the United States 5,516,163 persons ten years of age and over who are unable to read and write in any language. Of this number 4,697,613 are twenty years of age and over; 57.7 per cent are white people; 1,534,272 are native-born whites. There are 700,000 men of draft age who cannot read and write in English or any other language. There were between 30,000 and 40,000 illiterates in the first draft. These men cannot be good soldiers. They cannot sign their names. They cannot read their orders posted daily on bulletin boards in camp. They cannot read their manual of arms. They cannot read their letters or write home. They cannot understand the signals or follow the Signal Corps in time of battle.”

Further, it is quite generally stated that there are 8,000,000 people in America who cannot understand the language of the country. Undoubtedly these figures furnished by the War Department are open to criticism as being incomplete and less accurate than the data of the 1910 census; and exaggerated inferences have been drawn from them which are not justified. But after making all proper allowance, it is manifest that the present public awakening to the need of "Americanization" must be followed by active and organized movements which will put an end to this humiliating result of past neglect. With 346,364 people, ten years of age and over, in our own Commonwealth who are unable to read and write English, and presumably ignorant of what it really means to be an American, it surely needs no urging to induce every citizen to coöperate in supplying the needed instruction, if for no higher motive than that of self-interest.

2. A self-sacrificing citizenship is essential. Imperfections will ever exist in our self-governing institutions. As conditions rapidly change in our comprehensive and complex civilization, reforms and improvements will always be needed. The great war itself, and the process of reconstruction, have created conditions in industry producing much of the present unrest. That unrest, under the influence of shallow or revolutionary leaders, is a serious threat to our well-being as a people, especially among those ignorant of our language and of the meaning of our democracy. Even among others it is liable to be exploited by the ever present demagogue, and functions and burdens be imposed on the state and national governments which would transform our democracy into a mechanical bureaucracy. The remedy here also is suggested by our experience during the war. We were not content to preach democracy, but as a people we practised it. Realizing that the life which was threatened was that of our self-governed institutions, all loyal American men and women recognized the duty to devote all they were and had for its safety. We must realize in time of peace, also, that the Republic is the aggregate of all its citizens; that the so-called "public" duties are in fact the concern of each individual; and that no partner can be a slacker without jeopardizing the success of our political partnership. Even on the practical ground of intelligent self-interest, every man should do his share to make our institutions function efficiently. And under the broadening view of popular government, which places the public welfare above the public wealth, we should bring to the performance of our duties as citizens the higher inspiration of the Golden Rule. This may be idealism. But as Lowell said, "The true ideal is not opposed to the real, nor is it an artificial heightening thereof, but lies in it; and blessed are the eyes that find it."

3. Finally in order to realize the dreams of the founders, we must have a united citizenry. Successful self-government is possible only in communities unified by national feeling. In America the building of a composite, purposeful nation has been a serious problem from the beginning, and is not yet wholly solved. The colonies were so scattered, and intercommunication so difficult, that only the sense of a common danger secured sufficient unity to win the War of Independence. After the adoption of the Constitution of the United States, the conflicting economic interests of the different states, and a jealous regard for their independent constitutional rights, retarded the inevitable efforts to deal on a national scale with problems that were essentially national. The Civil War gave a great impetus to the integration of the nation. Since that time have arisen two disuniting factors: One, the vast recent immigration, which brought to us new racial affinities, old-world prejudices, and people unacquainted with our language and institutions; the other, largely due to the first, an effort to emphasize and rigidify class distinctions, at variance with our traditions, with a view to ultimately establish the ascendancy of one embittered class. The German socialist preached internationalism here while practising nationalism in his own land. The beginning of the world war so emphasized these dividing tendencies that many seriously doubted our ability to enter the vital contest as a united people. It brought home to all a realization that our democracy could not prevail if the sovereignty of its free and equal people was to be subordinated to any hyphenated nationality or to selfish class interests. One of the great results of this war, largely compensating for its sacrifices, is that it has done more to unite this country than fifty years of peace. Our soldiers of every race and creed and class became as one in following the Stars and Stripes through common hardships and dangers, even unto death.

Let us carry with us into the coming days of peace this heartening lesson of the war. Government for the people, by the people, in Lincoln's phrase, demands equal rights for all our people, not for special races or creeds or classes. Of course the demand for political liberty in other lands will command our active sympathy, more so now than ever before; but if we are to fully realize the possibilities of nationhood at home and abroad, we must solve distinctively American problems by thinking and acting as Americans. We shall not implant the spirit of nationality in the newcomer by treating him with neglect, or with a patronizing spirit of superiority. We have welcomed the honest and capable of all lands; and each stock brings its own desirable contribution toward the new American race. On the other hand, the obligation rests on the immigrant to come not as an alien but as an American. The fact that our cities have their foreign colonies, and that today the call of the old land attracts many of their dwellers away from the new land, is indicative of the mistakes of the past which must not prevail in the future. There should be an atmosphere of mutual confidence and good feeling between Americans by inheritance and Americans by choice. Not only the dictates of civic duty and humanity, but those of enlightened self-interest call upon every citizen to actively coöperate in the education and welfare of the immigrant who is destined to be his fellow ruler, and whose future attitude towards good government will depend largely upon the treatment accorded to him now.

Even more important is an increased confidence between the men concerned in the success of American industry, now entering upon an era of world development. The causes of the present unrest and discontent should be examined, thoroughly and sympathetically, and solutions adequate to the requirements of justice between employer and employee should be speedily applied. Encouragement should be given to every earnest effort to put the industrial organization of the country on a higher plane in accord with the needs and spirit of the times. The essential rights of the community must not be disregarded by either party. When the appeal to class consciousness and class government shall fall on deaf ears, and the basic principle of undivided allegiance be recognized everywhere, the most serious hindrance to our unifying progress as a nation will have been removed.

Today then, fellow citizens, encouraged by the past and hopeful of the future, let us renew our faith in the principles of the Declaration of Independence. Let us keep in mind the lesson taught by the intervening years—that in order to have our American democracy realize its great ideals, and solve the complex problems that will confront us in the near future, we must develop and maintain throughout the land a citizenry of enlightened, united, self-sacrificing Americans. And finally, let us strive for that result with unison of spirit and concert of action, dedicating to the task, if need be, as did the men of 1776, “our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.”

REPORT OF THE FINANCE COMMISSION ON FANEUIL HALL MARKET LEASES.

BOSTON, June 24, 1919.

HON. ANDREW J. PETERS,
Mayor of Boston:

SIR,— The Finance Commission submits herewith a report on Faneuil Hall Market leases:

In 1908 an investigation of these leases was conducted by the former Finance Commission and recommendations made which increased the rentals of the stalls and cellars by $12\frac{1}{2}$ per cent and the rent of the Ames Plow Company (the tenant of a portion of the second and of the third floors of the Quincy Market) from \$3,300 to \$5,000 a year. These increases raised the rental rate \$15,776 a year. As the tenure of the leases was lengthened* at the same time from five to ten years the total estimated gain by the city was approximately \$157,776.

These leases expired on December 31, 1918, and since that time the tenants have been holding over at the same rental. The tenants have expressed a desire to renew their leases, but requested that the rentals be not increased.

The Finance Commission, recognizing that the leases were about to expire, called to your Honor's attention, on October 29, 1918, the need for studying anew the market lease situation, so as to determine whether or not the city should raise its rents. Your Honor requested the

* See Revised Ordinances of 1914, chapter 22, section 2, and opinion of Corporation Counsel, City Council Minutes of 1908, page 725.

Finance Commission to make such a study. In order to arrive at a correct solution of the matter the commission sought the advice of three real estate experts, thoroughly familiar with rental as well as real estate values in the market district.

They were Francis R. Bangs, Richards M. Bradley and F. Murray Forbes. All served without compensation and have submitted to the commission a report which will be discussed later. They are entitled to the thanks of the community for their services.

In order that the public might be given an opportunity to express its ideas, as well as to afford the marketmen a chance to be heard, this committee of real estate experts held a public hearing in Room 320, Tremont Building, on January 21, 1919. Representatives of the market tenants, civic bodies and the general public were present and offered to the committee various suggestions and recommendations.

The Superintendent of Markets submitted a report in which he advocated leases to the present tenants for ten years without any increase, except that in cases of sub-sidewalk occupancy a charge of 50 cents a square foot should be added.

One of the speakers made a recommendation (often advanced in past years, but always rejected) that the leases be put up to public bidding and be knocked down to the highest bidder.

The market tenants argued for the continuation of the ten-year period, but against any increase in the amount of the rentals.

Faneuil Hall Market, so called, comprises the first floor and basement of the old Faneuil Hall building (called New Faneuil Hall Market to distinguish it from the Quincy Market) and the lower floor and basement of the Quincy Market building. Faneuil Hall Market limits, so called, include Faneuil Hall Market, Merchants row between the two buildings, the south sidewalk on North Market street, adjoining the Quincy Market building, and the territory on South Market street, from Merchants row to Commercial street. (See Revised Ordinances of 1914, chapter 1, section 4, paragraphs 10 and 11.) These distinctions are important in discussing the subject of rentals for sidewalk space about these buildings, because the Street Laying-Out Department has jurisdiction of the streets and sidewalks on Faneuil Hall square, while the Superintendent of Markets has authority over the sidewalks around Quincy Market building and the street area on South Market street within the limits above described. This division of authority is due to an old law (chapter 148, Acts of 1823) which authorized the City Council to extend the limits of Faneuil Hall Market. The limits thus authorized were established as they exist today, with the result that the sidewalks and streets on Faneuil Hall square are outside the Faneuil Hall Market limits and consequently come under the jurisdiction of the Street Laying-Out Department as public thoroughfares.

The Market Department has charge of the first floor and basement of Faneuil Hall building, the first floor and basement of the Quincy Market, the south sidewalk on North Market street and the South Market street territory. Its jurisdiction does not extend to the second and third floors of the Quincy Market, nor to the upper floor of the Faneuil Hall building. These portions are under the jurisdiction of the Public Buildings Department, although as a matter of courtesy the Market Department does police duty in the second and third stories of the Quincy Market building. (See Revised Ordinances, chapter 1, section 4, paragraphs 10 and 11; chapter 22, section 1; chapter 27, section 1.)

Even within the Faneuil Hall Market limits the authority of the Market Department is merely supervisory and regulatory, for all the repairs and improvements to the buildings are made by the Public Buildings Department. Thus there are three city departments which exercise independent jurisdiction in the market district.

NEW FANEUIL HALL MARKET.

This building is about 81 feet long by 103 feet wide, containing 8,460 square feet.

Basement.

There are thirteen (13) basement spaces of different depths (17 feet to 41½ feet) and varying in rental from 80 cents to $1.78 a square foot

The total annual rental from the basement spaces is $8,096; the total square foot cellar area is 6,449. Most of the cellar lessees occupy sidewalk and street curbing space (there are at present four vacant spaces), for which a fee is charged them by the Street Laying-Out Department. This department has jurisdiction of the streets and sidewalks on Faneuil Hall square and by chapter 584, section 6, Acts of 1907, is required to collect fees ranging from $5 to $100, according to the value of the privilege granted. These fees are paid in addition to the rental of the cellars. If a person other than a lessee of the building, or if the lessee carries on a business on the sidewalk and at street stands different from his main business, the Street Laying-Out Department is permitted to levy a charge in excess of the above limits. There are three stands located on the corners of the building, but at a distance from the entrances to the basement stalls. These stands pay a special rental fee in accordance with the statutory requirement. The amount of this sidewalk and street space is 1,534 square feet, for which the city at present receives at the rate of $1,720 a year.

When the leases were made out in 1908 a charge for street and sidewalk space was included by the Market Department in the rent for the basement stalls in New Faneuil Hall Market. The Street Commissioners also, in accordance with the 1907 act, had assessed a fee upon these same tenants for the outside-the-building stands, with the result that the tenants were being charged twice for the same privilege. The marketmen petitioned for an abatement and on April 4, 1912, were granted by the Mayor a reduction in their market rentals which approximated the amount paid to the Street Laying-Out Department for these outside privileges.

The reduction in the rents was so figured that the payments for rent and for sidewalk privilege under license from the Street Laying-Out Department for the entire period would equal the rents originally fixed in 1908. When new leases are drawn up, therefore, the per square foot charges should be based on the 1908 rental, less the fee paid to the Street Commissioners.

Two of the basement tenants occupy sub-sidewalk space, amounting to 1,098 square feet, for which no rent is charged. These spaces have been excavated and improved at the tenants' own expense.

Main Floor.

There are thirty-one (31) stalls on the main floor, being from 14 to 15 feet deep, and varying in rental from $2.35 to $3.41 a square foot, the price being influenced by corner location and proximity to the main entrance. The total area of the floor space is 5,598 square feet and the rentals from the thirty-one stalls are $17,124 a year. Some of the tenants on the main floor occupy street and sidewalk spaces, but as a general rule the occupants of the main floor stalls do not occupy sidewalk or street space, as these privileges are taken by the basement tenants who depend upon the sidewalk "show" to conduct their business, the basement being used generally for storage or supply purposes.

The total rental for both cellar and main floor space is $25,220, exclusive of the $1,720 received for street and sidewalk spaces.

QUINCY MARKET.

This market (the long building) is about 50 to 55 feet wide and 534 feet long, occupying a lot area of 27,400 square feet.

Basement.

The basement is divided into forty-seven cellar spaces of varying widths (10 to 37½ feet) and depths (14 to 47 feet), for which rental from $1.26 to $2.03 a square foot is paid. The total area of the cellar is 22,375 square feet and the total rental paid is $35,324.

The basement tenants have also the privilege of occupying sidewalk and street stands, the value of which is figured in the rental of the basement space, but not separately, as follows:

1. For use of sidewalk only, 25 cents for each foot of cellar occupied.

2. Plank floor in the street, 5 feet deep on North Market street and 8 feet deep on South Market street and as wide as the cellar occupied by the tenant, 20 cents for each foot of cellar occupied by the tenant.

3. When the latter is covered by a temporary roof, 45 cents instead of 20 cents.

In addition to these street and sidewalk privileges, thirty-three (33) tenants occupy 8,567 feet of sub-sidewalk space for which no rental is paid to the city, the excavation and improvement having been done at the tenants' expense.

There are three (3) stands outside the Quincy Market building occupying 171 square feet of sidewalk area at a rental of $1,356 a year. One of these tenants (Edward B. Newton) also occupies 82 square feet of street and curb space. He pays $564 for this privilege, which includes in addition to the 82 feet mentioned above 75 feet of sidewalk space. Another tenant (American Oyster Company) occupies the same sidewalk space as above (75 feet) but no street area, and also pays $564. The third tenant (D. E. Tierney) occupies 21 square feet (approximately) and pays $228.

Main Floor.

There are 132 stalls on the main floor, one of which is divided into two sections and leased to separate tenants. The stalls are 18 feet deep, exclusive of the walls, and cover a floor area of 16,003 square feet. The rents received from them are $60,996 a year and vary from $2.79 to $4.87 a square foot, according to location on cross passageways and near entrances. The inner stalls average about $3.66 a square foot; the outer stalls on the corner of passageways average $4.04 a square foot.

The lessees of the main floor stalls have no sidewalk or street privileges, unless they are also lessees of cellar space.

Second and Third Floors.

The second floor of Quincy Market is under the jurisdiction of the Public Buildings Department, although the Superintendent of Markets does the actual work of policing and taking care of it. On this floor are located the following tenants:

1. Two offices of the Superintendent of Markets.
2. Law office of D. D. Corcoran.
3. Ames Plow Company.
4. Fruit and Produce Exchange and its sublessees.

The first two occupy a limited amount of the total floor space, the city offices being 491 square feet and that of Mr. Corcoran, leased direct from the city, being 255 square feet, for which he pays $224 a year. The larger part of the second story, as well as the whole attic floor, is divided between the Ames Plow Company and the Fruit and Produce Exchange, the former leasing 35,195 square feet on both floors (16,908 square feet on the second floor and 18,287 square feet on the third floor) at $5,000 a year rental; and the Fruit and Produce Exchange leasing direct from the city 5,695 square feet on the second floor, for which it pays $1,962. In addition to the area leased direct from the city, the Exchange subleases 3,294 square feet on the second floor and 2,892 square feet of attic space, and pays therefor $1,020 to the Ames Plow Company.

The Fruit and Produce Exchange has divided its subleased premises into twenty-two offices on the second floor, and into locker space in the attic, and has leased them to market men for private offices, etc., at rental of $6,206.83 for the year 1918, or approximately $3,224.83 more than its rental payments, besides receiving its own quarters without charge. The Exchange furnishes heat, janitor's services and water to its tenants, and also supplies heat to the City of Boston offices. The total expense for fuel, light and water was $946.67, and the City of Boston pays to the Exchange $40 a year for heating the two offices of the Superintendent of Markets. The cost of subdividing the offices amounted to $6,000, the work having been done in 1913. The Public Buildings Department enlarged the windows and installed metal ceilings in this subleased portion at a cost of approximately $2,000.

The rest of the second and third floors is occupied by the Ames Plow Company.

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

The findings of the three real estate experts of the Finance Commission resolve themselves into nine recommendations, which summarized are as follows:

1. Positive evidence as to the proper adjustment of rents between stall and stall and space and space should be established.

2. Plans of all rentable space, including sidewalk and curb, with areas carefully figured, should be made and furnished the Superintendent of Markets, so as to apportion rents for each class of occupancy.

3. Tenants of cellars with sidewalk privileges as a class are not paying enough rent.

4. Cellar leases should be increased 15 per cent.

5. On account of general unsettled conditions, leases should be given for five or ten years at present rentals, reserving right of city to call for general readjustment of rent after a year, with right to tenant to cancel if dissatisfied with readjusted rental; or

Tenant wishing a full five or ten years' lease should be granted same at 7 per cent increase over present rate for the former term (5 years) and 15 per cent for the latter (10 years).

6. Where tenants have improved the property at own expense and where improvements have not paid for themselves, special rates to those tenants.

7. The second floor should bring a rental of 75 cents a square foot for that portion which has not been divided into offices, and more than $1 a square foot for the office space.

8. The third floor should be rented at 15 cents a square foot.

9. Certain improvements should be made in the market district, such as sidewalks, hot water within the buildings and ratproofing.

FINANCE COMMISSION FINDINGS.

The Finance Commission has studied these recommendations and has investigated those matters where further inquiries were recommended. The commission has studied the rents charged and finds no great evidence of any improper apportionment of rentals. All the rentals are figured either on corner, passageway or interior location value, and generally bear a proper relation to one another.

There appear to be some slight discrepancies between a few stalls and cellars, as follows:

New Faneuil Hall Market, Stall No. 11, has a per foot rate of $2.99, as against all other stalls on the same side of $3.21 to $3.32. Cellar 3½ pays a rate of $1.78 a square foot, while Cellar 3, which is practically the same size and adjoins it, pays $1.23. The reason for the difference lies in the fact that Cellar 3½ did not use sidewalk privileges appurtenant to its basement, and therefore was not assessed a double tax by the Street Laying-Out Department for these sidewalk privileges. Consequently it did not participate in the reduction ordered by the Mayor on April 4, 1912, mentioned above. (See page 4 of this report.)

Quincy Market, Cellars No. 2 North and No. 4 North are almost the same size, yet No. 2 pays $1.34 a square foot and No. 4, $1.79.

Cellar No. 11½ North is not charged for approximately 311 square feet that lie between Cellars 11½ and 11, with the result that the occupant of 11½ North gets an average per foot rental of $1.26, while the occupant to the east of his location (No. 13) pays $1.63, and the occupant to the west of his location (No. 11) pays $1.35.

A valuable privilege, for which no fee is charged, is given to McLean's Roxbury Express in two spaces in front of the main entrance to the Quincy Market building. This firm maintains a call desk placed against the corner column, with a telephone connection, from which it carries on its business. It also keeps a box, approximately 6 feet by 3 feet, on the sidewalk for the storing of parcels between trips to the territory covered by the express. It is stated in justification for granting this free privilege that it is a convenience to the marketmen. As a matter of fact it is giving free office and storage rental to one firm at a location which constitutes a big advantage to this company over a number of competitors.

These discrepancies should be corrected before new leases are made.

Your Honor, at the request of the commission, had plans drawn by the engineers of the Street Laying-Out Department of all the rentable space in the two market buildings, floor area, sidewalk, sub-sidewalk and curb space, and the space occupied by each stall has been apportioned to each separate holding. Considerable variances between the square foot area figures of the Market Department and those in the survey were found. These discrepancies were found to be due largely to the tearing down of walls between different stalls when their owners combined in business, or the business of one stall was taken over by its adjoining neighbor. These figures have now been computed by the engineers of the Street Laying-Out Department, so that the city government can definitely fix the rental value for each square foot of rentable space.

From the present records in the Market Department it is impossible to learn exactly the basis for the sidewalk and street curb rental charge around the Quincy Market. It was first stated by the market authorities that this space about the Quincy Market was occupied rent free, the only charge being made for the cellar space, but the records of the former Finance Commission show that in arriving at the cellar rentals in 1908 a charge for curb and sidewalk was included on a fixed basis. This schedule appears on page 5 of this report. The sidewalk and curb space on New Faneuil Hall square is figured separately, according to chapter 584, Acts of 1907. Occupation of the space under sidewalks, however, is free. It should be charged for, as recommended by the former Finance Commission and by the present Superintendent of Markets, at 50 cents a square foot for all such sub-sidewalk area occupation.

Special consideration should be given, however, to those tenants who have recently extended and improved their sub-sidewalk areas by constructing permanent additions and extensions which are a part of the building and become the property of the city at the termination of the tenancy. In such cases the additional area should be charged for at the rate of one half the per foot charge for cellar area for a period of five years after the improvement has been made. The period seems to be a reasonable one in which to charge off the cost of the improvement, and a rental thereafter at 50 cents a square foot for sub-sidewalk area would seem fair and equitable to the city and the tenant.

With the exception of Horrigan & Doe at New Faneuil Hall Market, where the sub-sidewalk improvement was made in the fall of 1918, all of the other sub-sidewalk excavations had been made many years ago. Horrigan & Doe should be charged one half (25 cents) the per square foot charge for its sub-sidewalk area at New Faneuil Hall Market for the period 1919 to 1924, and the full rental (50 cents) from 1924 to 1930.

The commission feels that the 15 per cent increase recommended by the committee for cellar and stall occupancy is reasonable and fair, considering the present condition of real estate. The increases in the cellars of New Faneuil Hall Market should be based on the per square foot charges as established by the 1908 rentals, before the reduction in 1912 by order of the Mayor. Deductions to cover the fees of the Street Laying-Out Department should then be made from these cellar rentals.

The commission believes that it is for the best interests of the city that the question of market leases should be definitely decided this year, and that it would be against its financial interests to grant ten-year leases at present rentals with proviso for readjustment at the end of one year. To do so would only defer the settlement of the matter for another year.

The commission, therefore, concurs in the committee's recommendation that leases be granted for ten years at an increase of 15 per cent.

The second and third floors of the Quincy Market present a problem entirely different from that of the stalls on the main floor or the cellar space. These floors are largely undivided and are occupied by two principal tenants. The commission concurs in the recommendation of the committee that 75 cents a square foot be charged for the undivided second floor and 15 cents a square foot for the attic space.

The space occupied by the Fruit and Produce Exchange, however, may be treated differently. That portion which is occupied by the Exchange itself, and which consists of a large assembly hall for market quotations and several private offices of the executive secretary and for the directors, should be rented on the basis of $1 a square foot, as recommended by the committee.

The space which is sub-leased as offices should be charged for also on the basis of $1 a square foot. Both of these portions of the building should be leased to one tenant, as such an arrangement will free the city from heating and janitor's services incident to the leasing of the premises direct to small holders.

The recommendations regarding the street improvements have been investigated by the engineer of the commission, and he reports that tenants interviewed were strongly against such interruption to their business as the suggested improvement would entail. He finds that the street pavements about the market buildings compare favorably with those of other streets in the district, and that the sidewalks for the greater part are in excellent condition. In a few cases he found that the refrigerating pipes of cold storage companies have caused trouble by freezing the ground and causing the sidewalks to expand upward. This action, he reports, apparently cannot be prevented.

As regards hot water facilities, it is understood that the Public Buildings Department will shortly install this convenience in the women's apartment on the second floor of the Quincy Market, but no arrangement has been made for such service in the men's station. It is recommended that hot water faucets be installed in the men's station as necessary sanitary conveniences. The other improvement of rat proofing, suggested by the committee, should be considered when the renovation of Faneuil Hall and Quincy Market is undertaken.

The commission believes that the suggestion of public bidding should not receive the serious consideration of the city authorities, for no careful real estate owner would adopt such a method of renting his premises, or would dispossess a good tenant without assurance of positive gain. Instability of tenure would soon occur and thus result in great losses to the city, as the marketmen would not care to continue business on such uncertain conditions.

A bill (H. 150) was introduced this year by Representative Niland, providing for the mandatory public auction of the market leases once in every three years. The bill was given leave to withdraw by the Committee on Cities and the report was accepted in February, 1919, by the House and by the Senate.

SUBSIDIARY MATTERS.

The records of the Market Department should be kept in such manner as to show with exactitude the number and names of those who assign or sell their leases. The ordinance requires the superintendent to assent to an assignment, but so many assignments have been made for the purpose of obtaining a loan from a bank that the present superintendent could not distinguish which were bona fide and final sales of the leases or which were temporary assignments for loans of money. The department should have a card record system, so designed as to show the business record of each stall.

Another matter to be considered before leases are signed is the renovation and repair work which it is contemplated will be done in both buildings. The city government has appropriated $118,000 ($68,000 for Faneuil Hall and $50,000 for Quincy Market) and the improvements will undoubtedly call for changes in many of the stalls. The leases, therefore, should be drawn so as to protect the city from suits by lessees for interference with their leases should the improvements be made after the leases are granted.

The commission recommends that:

1. Leases of stalls and basement spaces be made on the basis of a ten-years' tenure.
2. Rentals of stalls and basements be increased 15 per cent.
3. Sub-sidewalk space be charged for at 50 cents a square foot, except where the area has been excavated within five years the charge should be 25 cents a square foot for five years; thereafter 50 cents a square foot.
4. The rent of the second floor of the Quincy Market be fixed at 75 cents a square foot for all unimproved space, i. e., the portion now occupied by the Ames Plow Company, excepting 228 square feet of improved office space.

5. The rent of the improved portion of the second floor be on the basis of $1 a square foot, i. e., the 228 square feet of improved office space of the Ames Plow Company, the office of D. D. Corcoran, and the part now occupied by the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange and its sublessees.

6. The rent of the third floor be fixed at 15 cents a square foot.

7. Hot water and improved toilet facilities in the men's compartment be installed at once.

8. Leases be drawn so that the rights of the city will be protected in case changes to the structure of either New Faneuil Hall Market or Quincy Market are undertaken after leases have been signed.

9. New card records be installed in the Market Department office and kept up to date, showing the history of each stall and spacing leased by the city.

If these recommendations are carried out the gain to the city will be approximately $39,724.75 a year, or $397,247 for the ten-year term, as follows:

	Present.	Proposed.
NEW FANEUIL HALL MARKET.
Stalls and cellars.....	$24,220 00	$29,709 80
Sidewalk and street stands.....	1,720 00	1,720 00
Sub-sidewalk spaces.....		379 00
QUINCY MARKET.
Stalls and cellars (including street and sidewalk charges),	96,320 00	110,768 00
Second and third floors.....	7,186 00	22,269 55
Sub-sidewalk space.....		4,121 00
Outside stands.....	1,356 00	1,559 40
	$130,802 00	$170,526 75

The net return to the city from these increased rentals, after deducting an amount equal to the taxes (\$58,936), the annual cost of the Market Department (\$13,501), and the annual average for repairs (\$4,000), will be about $3\frac{1}{3}$ per cent on the present valuation of \$2,780,000 for both buildings.

The report of the special committee, as well as a tabulation of the present tenants and their holdings, showing present and proposed rentals, and the plans of the market buildings are submitted herewith.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,

Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE APPOINTED IN DECEMBER, 1918, TO CONSIDER THE MARKET RENTS.

The committee begs to report as follows:

1. AS TO THE STALLS AND CELLARS IN THE QUINCY AND FANEUIL HALL MARKETS.

Your committee has not undertaken to adjust the relative values of the different stalls and of the different cellars. We understand that this was gone over with care by a previous committee, and we believe that these relative values can be established by some person more familiar with the special conditions in the market than we can hope to become in the time at our disposal. We have heard no complaint of any unjust discrepancy between one rent and another of the same class, and the fact that no dissatisfaction appears to exist, creates the assumption that the rents are properly adjusted in that respect. It seems, however, to be desirable, before the leases are renewed, that there should be positive evidence on this point from the Superintendent of Markets.

We recommend that the Superintendent of Markets be furnished with complete, up-to-date plans of all the rentable space in the buildings with the areas carefully figured, and that such plans should show also the sidewalk space available for mercantile use appurtenant to each cellar so that it can be more readily and definitely figured how the rental is apportioned between stalls and cellars with sidewalk privileges in cases where one tenant occupies more than one class of space.

Assuming that the relative scale of rentals of stalls and of cellars is correct, it appears to us that the tenants of cellars which have sidewalk privileges are not as a class paying enough rent in proportion to the space which they have the right to use, which includes portions of the large covered space in the passage around the market available for the display and sale of their goods and the transaction of business.

We therefore recommend as previously stated that the rents attributable to stalls and cellars be definitely apportioned, showing what is paid for stalls and what is paid for cellars, whenever both are included in one lease.

When this has been done, we believe that the city should readjust its rents by adding at least 15 per cent.

to its cellar with sidewalk leases, in order to more fully cover the value which we believe exists in the combined space used.

With the adjustments made, the general adjustment of rents is still to be considered. There are indications that the condition of business in the market is improving. It is commonplace knowledge, however, that conditions generally are unsettled, and it is a poor time for landlord or for tenant to make guesses for the distant future. We should advise, therefore, making the leases for as short a term as will be acceptable to the tenants. Present tenants who do not insist on having their rents settled for five or ten years' terms in the manner later suggested, should be confirmed in their tenure. We recommend that rents remain unchanged till general conditions have become more stable. Five or ten year leases should be given at present rents, but with the right of the city to call for general readjustment of rents after a year with the right of the tenants to cancel leases if dissatisfied with rents as readjusted. If, however, any tenants wish to take leases now for five or ten years at fixed rents, we recommend that they should be given but at an increase of 7 per cent. for a five-year lease and 15 per cent. for a ten-year lease.

There are certain cases where tenants have made substantial improvements to the property. It is a custom of a competent ownership to make proper allowance and to give special rates to tenants who do this, as they add to the security of the landlord and to the value of the property. Such cases can properly be given special treatment, where the improvements are sufficiently recent not to have paid for themselves.

2. AS TO THE UPPER PART OF THE QUINCY MARKET.

Your committee finds that except for some few offices the easterly part of the second floor and the attic above is leased to the Fruit and Produce Exchange, which has its board room and offices there but has subdivided a considerable portion of its space and sublet it to great advantage. The rotunda and the westerly part of the second floor and attic are leased to the Ames Plow Company. Both of these concerns furnish themselves with heat and with such other services as they need.

The whole second floor is good space, well lighted and available either for mercantile purposes or for subdivision into offices of the type into which the Fruit and Produce Exchange has cut its surplus space and for which there appears to be a demand. The attic, though low at the sides, contains much good storage room. We think that the city is not getting sufficient rent for the second floor and attic. In our opinion the fair rental value of the second floor undivided is seventy-five cents a square foot and the fair rental value of the attic is fifteen cents a square foot for the present floor space (including the low part at the sides). So much of the second floor as has been divided up into offices should let for more than one dollar per foot for net space rented.

3. IN GENERAL AS TO THE WHOLE MARKET PROPERTY.

Were the ownership of the property in private hands, ordinary business sagacity would recognize that the present character of occupancy is a distinct asset creating value in the property, the benefit of which goes both to owner and present tenants.

We see no reason why the ownership by the public imposes any obligation to destroy this value by creating any unusual instability of tenure, as we understand has been proposed by putting up stall leases at auction once in three years or so. No private owner who had any regard for his financial interests would deal with such a property in this manner. The value of the property to the public not only as a revenue producer but in affording a desirable market is undoubtedly increased by a policy that attracts and holds a class of tenants of known repute and reliability; and the policy should be maintained.

The usefulness of the property to the public could, however, in our judgment be increased by having it surrounded by a sanitary pavement, and by furnishing hot water washing apparatus for those who handle the food, and it might be increased as a result of a careful study of the possibility of ratproofing. Public ownership in our judgment does entail special responsibility in respect to insuring the safety of the public by providing better sanitary conditions than now exist. A portion of increased rents devoted to this purpose would be an advantage to both tenants and to the public.

Respectfully submitted,

RICHARDS M. BRADLEY,
F. MURRAY FORBES,
FRANCIS R. BANGS,
